Mr. Hoover Will Work.
Bad Crops, Lack of Work.
The South Offers Help.
Chicago's Air Races.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

PRESIDENT HOOVER gives up his western vacation trip, much needed, to remain in Washington for the rest of the hot season, directing the drought relief campaign.

The trip to the Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks is postponed for a year.

THERE ARE two bad features to the drought. First, the lack of rain prevents the growth of crops. Second, the lack of moisture encourages insect life, promoting diseases that destroy plants.

ALL COUNTRIES except Russia, Italy and France complain of unemployment. Canada is worried about 200,000 out of work. Their trouble is small compared with our idle 5,000,000. The worst is not the unemployment, but the fact that nobody, from the government down, knows what is the matter with the world.

In 1914 Europe went on a murderous debauch, killing millions, spending tens of billions. Then, thanks to the billions poured out, there was a great "prosperity boom." Now apparently the nations are paying for the debauch.

You can't kill millions and burn up billions, without regretting it soon or late.

However, this country has more money than it can use, its industries are more highly developed than ever, its people have learned to need things and buy them.

The right idea probably could put this country back into its stride. But nobody seems to have that idea.

REPORTS MADE for the President concerning the drought reveal wide devastation, gigantic loss.

The corn crop, it is said, will be reduced 600,000,000 bushels. And one pessimist says, "The farmer has nothing to sell but his wheat and he can't get any price for that."

Perhaps that will improve.

THE HOSPITABLE South offers relief to farmers whose cattle and sheep lack pasture. In some instances it is said Western sheep owners are selling "the whole critter for 75 cents."

Mr. Spencer, of Columbia, S. C., president of the First Carolinas Joint Stock Land Bank, wires to this column:

"Kindly tell stricken people in drought area that lower South Carolina has enjoyed abundant rain, and offers thousands of acres adaptable for pasturage. Pasturage not fenced now, can be fenced on short notice. Labor plentiful. The state has the largest and best corn crop in years."

It is pleasant to hear some good news.

AT THE CHICAGO air races beginning August 23 at least 2,000 planes will appear. Admiral Byrd, Capt. Hawks and many beautiful, daring lady fliers, Amy Johnson, Amelia Earhart, Elinor Smith, Louise Thaden, Ruth Elder Camp and others will be there.

If flying interests you, and it should interest all but hoptoads, attend that greatest of air meetings in Chicago.

LORD DAWSON of Penn, physician to King George, king of England and emperor of India, says prohibition is "illogical."

It is, said he, "illogical to prohibit all use of alcoholic beverages because some indulge to excess."

In America, where many connect our "noble experiment," prohibition, with our ignoble crime wave, some think that prohibition is worse than "illogical."

THE NOBLE lord adds: "Because some men love well, rather than wisely, are we to cease our worship of Venus? Because speech sometimes maddens us, are we to ordain silence?"

The answer for the United States is: "You may be right, but none the less, prohibition will be, nominally at least, the law in America for many a year."

IN PARIS a rich American wishing to try some ideas of his own NOT on himself, advertised for "a Russian couple without children, and of excellent family, to develop a new theory."

A Russian doctor applying was told that the rich theorist wished to try out vegetarian "back to nature" theories. The couple, to be hired for $200 a month, were expected to eat only bananas, drink nothing but tomato juice, walk always on their hands and feet, eat and sleep irregularly about a dozen times a day, no long meals or long sleep, no meat, no alcohol.

AFRIDIS, BESIEGING the British at Peshawar, a town that commands the Khyber Pass from Afghanistan into India, are gradually learning about the airplane. They hid in ditches and thought they were safe. British bombing planes shelled the ditches and the surviving Afridis left.

SHOULD PESHAWAR fall, and the Khyber Pass be taken, the road into India would be open to all the savages of Afghanistan. That would be bad for the 100,000,000 extra Hindus that British rule has added to Asia's population, making 300,000,000 in all.

The Afghans say, sincerely, "If the British would get out, we should kill one-half the Hindus, and make slaves of the other." They mean it, and with the aid of Mohammedans now in India, they might do it.

FILM STAR SWALLOWS POISON

L'ina Basquette, Denied Custody of Her Daughter, Tries Suicide, Will Live

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Lina Basquette, stage and film actress and widow of Sam Warner, motion picture executive, was treated for a slight case of poisoning at the Receiving Hospital here late last night, after, police said, she admitted a suicide attempt.

Miss Basquette, registered at the hospital as Eleanor Copeland, later admitted her identity, police said, after her maid, Irene Zastro, had broken down under questioning and given her employer's true name.

GRIEVES FOR CHILD

Police surgeons found the actress had not been seriously poisoned and later released her to her personal physician and allowed her to go home. They said she told them her act was prompted by her failure to obtain the custody of her 4-year-old daughter, Lita Warner. The child was adopted by a brother of Sam Warner, following the latter's death.

Miss Basquette, it was revealed yesterday, received the income from a $100,000 trust fund in the will of her husband disposing of an estate valued at $1,171,671. Her daughter receives a similar bequest, but gets the principal when she is 21. The residue of

MAN BEATEN IN STORE HOLDUP

Slugged With Gun After Surprising Bandits, Sent To Hospital; Robbers Flee

Two youthful robbers held up a chain store at Porterfield and Hemlock streets, North Side, today, beat a male customer unconscious, and fled with $57.

The bandits entered the store behind Martin Doherty, 24, of 923 Bidwell street, an employe of the Equitable Gas Company, engaged on a repair job nearby.

Flashing revolvers, they forced Doherty, James Gregg, store manager, and Joseph Miller, 15, of 1318 Esplanade street, a customer, into a rear room.

RETURN VISITOR'S PURSE

They took $32 from Gregg, but returned Doherty's purse to him when he said he had only enough to buy lunch. A $5 bill was concealed between papers in the purse.

Commanding the three to remain in the rear room, the robbers took $25 from the cash register and were about to leave when Louis Halansky, 45, of Woodruff street, also a gas company employe, entered to make a purchase.

SLUG GAS MAN

The robbers commanded:

"Hold up your hands."

Halansky demanded:

"What's going on here?" and started to leave.

One holdup man struck Halansky on the head with his revolver, felling him. The robbers then dashed to an automobile nearby, where a third accomplice was waiting, and all sped away.

Halansky was removed to Presbyterian Hospital, where physicians said he was suffering a probable skull fracture. His condition is serious.

ST. LOUIS FLIERS WHO TODAY PASSED HUNTER BOYS' RECORD OF 554 HOURS ALOFT

2 ST. LOUIS BOYS BEAT HUNTERS

Jackson, O'Brine Keep on Flying After Passing 555 Hours in Air; 1,000 Goal

LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD, Aug. 13.—Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine today regained the refueling endurance flight crown from the Hunter brothers, of Sparta, Ill.

At 11:52 a. m. (Pittsburgh time), the doughty pilots of the Greater St. Louis completed their five hundred fifty-fifth hour in the air here, passing by one hour the Hunter brothers' mark of 553 hours 41 minutes, as required by the National Aeronautic Association for the official acceptance of a new record.

TIE HUNTERS

At 10:52 a. m., Jackson and O'Brine had equalled the record which had won the endurance championship for the Hunters in Chicago when they passed the previous mark of 420 hours set by Jackson and O'Brine here last summer in the St. Louis Robin.

Jackson and O'Brine soared on serenely with the mark of 1,000 hours announced yesterday as their ultimate goal.

ENGINE SMOOTH

William Brewster and P. V. Chaffee, of the refueling crew, reported that the Greater St. Louis was clean, indicating that the engine was not throwing oil, ordinarily the first sign of weakness in the power plant of an endurance plane.

At 10:20 a. m. the fliers had sent down a note in a food container saying:

"Send up 70 gallons of gas and five of oil. This means everything is the same as when we started."

It was signed "Red" and "Obie."

A light, cold rain began falling a few minutes before the old record was equaled and the endurance plane hovered low over the field.

EL TOWER 'RIOT' QUELLED

The story of a riot in the El Tower apartment, Munhall road, Squirrel Hill, and how police were forced to disperse an angry mob, was told in Morals Court today.

The hearing resulted in the fining of Jack Bannister, 28, of 2320 Espy road, Mt. Lebanon; John Taylor, 28, 7658 Frankstown avenue, and Johanna Smith, 27, of 6332 Douglas avenue. George McCune, 43, of the El Tower, was discharged.

Police testified they received a riot call late last night from the apartments and found an angry mob outside clamoring to lynch Bannister.

McCune, a miniature golf links salesman, told how he had entertained Bannister, Taylor and the Smith girl in his apartment, and admitted that he was struck several times by Bannister, who accused him of annoying the Smith woman.

Bannister was fined $25. Taylor and the Smith woman were assessed $5 each.

FIGHT IN COURT OVER CLUB

Louis J. Mercur, one of the proprietors of the Plantations roadhouse, Babcock boulevard, accused his partner, Joe Reuben, today of conspiracy to gain control of the roadhouse, according to a petition filed to open judgment in Common Pleas Court.

The action was the latest development in the suit filed against the owners of the Plantations for back rent by Granville and Charlotte Googins, owners of the property. The rent amounts to $1,050.

Meanwhile, until the suit is aired in court, the Plantation will remain closed, Judge Harry H. Rowand ruled today. The judge remarked:

"It will be best if it stays closed."

Mercur charges in the petition that Reuben conspired with the owners to have a new lease drawn in default of back rent so that he could gain control of the roadhouse.

ORDER AIRPORT LAND VACATED

An official notice was entered in Common Pleas Court today giving Charles L. and Mary E. Lutz 60 days to vacate property in Mifflin Township occupied by the new City-County Airport.

Lutz, having refused the county's award for his property, refused to vacate, and his home stands high above the graded surroundings. The notice was signed by County Commissioner E. V. Babcock.

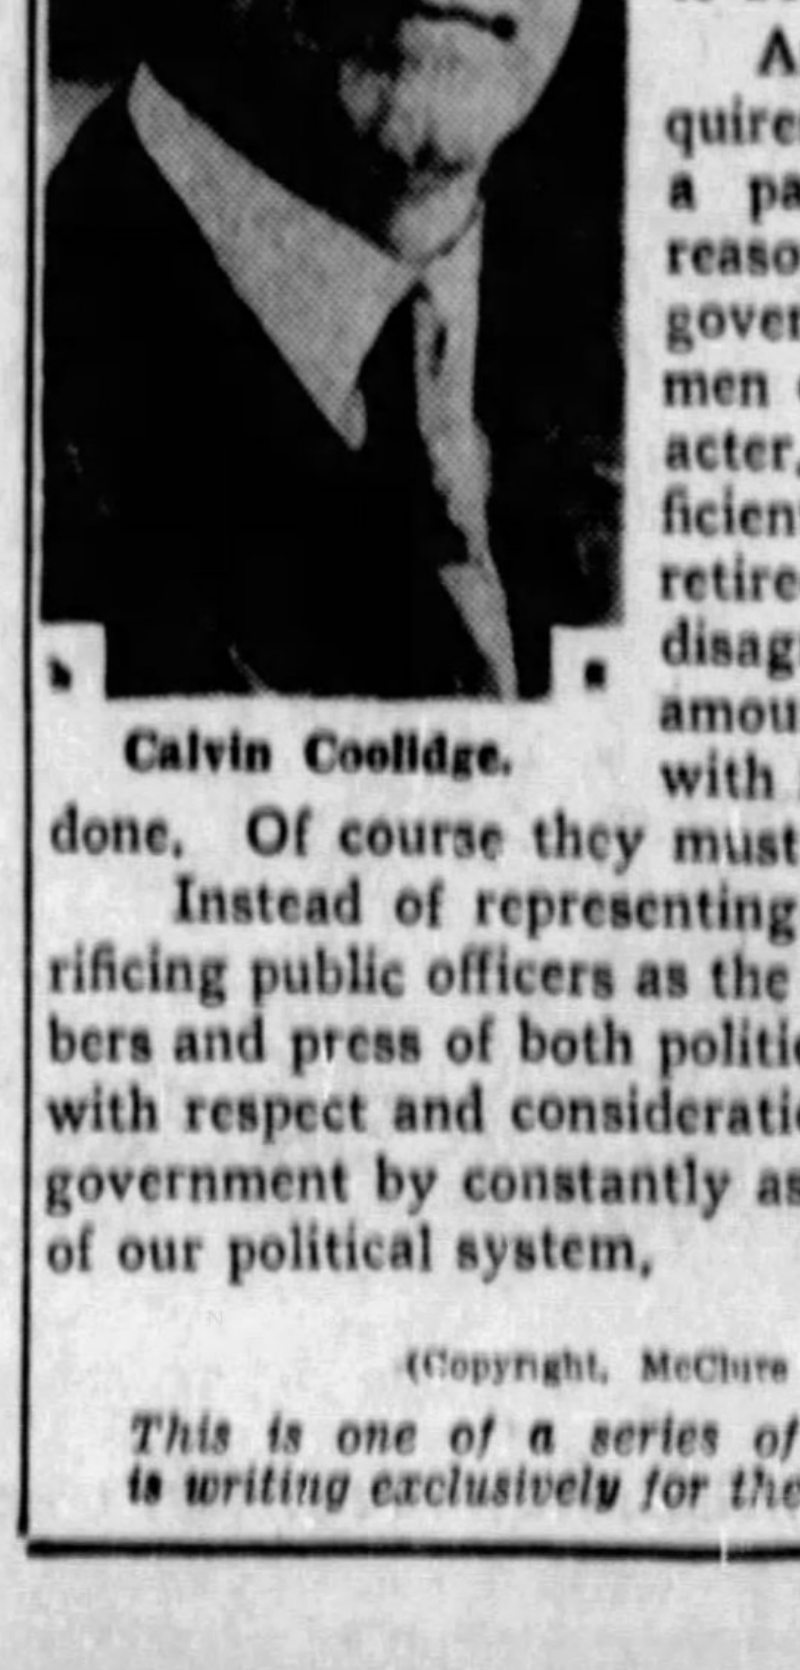
Commissioner Armstrong has set Monday as the date for a special hearing asked by Commissioner McGovern, who charges that the building of the county airport is being bungled.

Coolidge Urges Respect For Leaders of Parties

NORTHAMPTON Mass., Aug. 13.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

It is too much the fashion to abuse party committees and party chairmen. Our government is administered by means of the party system. No other method has been devised that gives the people so large a control over their own affairs. Even those who disregard party when in office, usually welcome party support when seeking election.



Calvin Coolidge.

Party organization is necessary to the orderly processes of self-government. It is truly representative. The only alternative is a personal and private organization that leads to boss rule.

Any efficient organization requires an executive head. We need a party chairman for the same reason that we need a president or governor. Generally they have been men of substance, ability and character. When they have been deficient or delinquent they have been retired. They do much hard and disagreeable work with a large amount of personal sacrifice and with no reward but a sense of duty done. Of course they must be partisan.

Instead of representing these necessary and self-sacrificing public officers as the sum of all villainies, the members and press of both political parties ought to treat them with respect and consideration. We cannot promote good government by constantly assaulting the chief instruments of our political system.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Suspension Urged For Firemen Who Beat Merchant

The fireman's trial board today recommended that Capt. "Paddy" Carroll be fined $25 and suspended for 30 days, and that Firemen Albert Zimmerman and George Geis, of No. 2 Engine Company, be fined $5 and suspended for seven days.

The firemen were accused of kicking over the fruit stand of Lawrence Goodman in Wylie avenue last week and, after they were arrested, returning and beating up Goodman. Zimmerman and Geis were exonerated on the second charge.

3 MEN INJURED BY EXPLOSION

Three workmen were in the Presbyterian Hospital today as a result of an explosion in an air compressor in the LaBelle plant of the Crucible Steel Company, Reedsdale street and Ridge avenue, North Side. Their condition is reported serious.

An alarm was sounded from Reedsdale street and Ridge avenue, although no fire followed the blast. Damage was unofficially estimated at $6,000 to the building.

Johnstown Ex-Mayor Fights for Parole

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 13.—Monday, August 25, was today set as the date for the hearing of a petition filed by former Mayor Joseph Cauffiel, seeking a parole from the two-year sentence imposed on him. Several affidavits accompany the petition, in which persons say that the former mayor was "framed" during his trial. Cauffiel has just completed the eighth month of his two-year term.

Car, Baby Stolen, Father Tells Police

TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Charles E. Stanton, of Nelson, Pa., told state police tonight that his automobile in which his 3-year-old son was sleeping was stolen tonight from a parking place in front of a hospital in Bath, N. Y. HAWKS BEATING LINDY'S TIME

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank Hawks, attempting to recapture the West-East transcontinental flight record wrested from him last Easter by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, started off on the last half of his journey today with success in sight.

The flier arrived here from Glendale, Cal., at 12:20:38 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) clipping 52 minutes from the time required by the Lindberghs to reach Wichita, the only stop they made on their dash to New York.

Hawks remained here 15 minutes while his plane was refueled and departed at 12:35:52 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) with Indianapolis as his next stop. His time to Wichita was 6 hours, 4 minutes and 11 seconds.

Tail winds favored the flier and he expressed confidence that he would lower the trans-continental mark of 14 hours and 45 minutes established by the Lindberghs.

Hawks made one landing en route to Wichita, pausing 15 minutes at Albuquerque, N. M., for fuel.

By recapturing the West-East record, Hawks would have a monopoly on trans-continental flight marks. He made a five-stop flight from New York to Los Angeles last week, setting a new record of 14 hours 50 minutes and 43 seconds.

Lottery Operators War Over Pay-Off Odds

Lack of harmony and uniformity in the pay-off odds got the major "numbers" pool operators in a turmoil today.

With the North Side paying winners at a rate of 500-to-1 and their downtown competition offering the customary 600-to-1, the operators are attempting to reach a general agreement.

At a meeting last Saturday night, downtown operators decided to let the odds remain at 600-to-1. This was a violation of the pact they are said to have made with the North Side racketmen to reduce the odds.

With Hazelwood, Lawrenceville and Bloomfield districts siding with their North Side brethren, and East End and Hill districts paying the large odds, operators today expressed the fear of a boycott because of the larger number of small independent pools in existence.

The numbers player throughout Pittsburgh are in much the same predicament as the operators, since they dare not trust the small pools for fear of not collecting when they "hit."

Herman Bazer, confectioner, of 2318 Center avenue, and John Caldwell, Negro store keeper, of 2122 Wylie avenue, charged with operating lotteries, were held for court under $2,500 bond today after hearings before Alderman Martin J. Griffin. They were arrested during the cleanup ordered by the alderman. Four alleged lottery operators were held for court Monday.

NORRIS NOMINATED IN NEBRASKA OVER HOOVER SUPPORTER

SMITH ALLY IN 1928 WINS

Robinson Assured Victory in Arkansas; Ohio Anti-Dry Selected for Senate

Associated Press

Nebraska Republicans gave Senator George W. Norris veteran insurgent and outstanding foe of Herbert Hoover, the senatorial nomination in Tuesday's primary.

Norris, who left his party to campaign two years ago for Alfred E. Smith Democratic presidential nominee, was gaining steadily over William M. Stebbins "regular" candidate in the stiffest contest he has had in his 18 years of Senate service.

LEAD OVER 20,000

Returns from 1,387 of the state's 2,030 precincts gave Norris a lead of more than 20,000. The vote was Norris, 74,370; Stebbins, 53,393.

Results of the four other state primaries yesterday showed a mixture of reactions on such national issues as prohibition and the Hoover administration.

In Ohio the Democrats chose an anti-dry for the Senate contest and a dry for governor. The Republican incumbents in these offices in Ohio are both drys and were without primary opposition.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate, who drew opposition after running as a vice presidential candidate with Smith two years ago, won by almost a three to one margin for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Arkansas. Robinson championed national prohibition.

BANKHEAD WINNING

Alabama Democrats apparently selected John H. Bankhead, Jasper attorney and son of a former senator, to run for the Senate against Senator Heflin, the incumbent, who has been forced to race as an independent because of his failure to support Smith in 1928. Bankhead was maintaining almost a two-to-one advantage over Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher.

In Ohio, Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, who advocated repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, had a lead of more than 40,000 votes over his closest competitor, W. W. Durbin, in the five-cornered contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination, with almost all of the returns tabulated.

DRY FOR GOVERNOR

But the Ohio Democrats chose George W. White, a dry, for the gubernatorial nomination over Stephen M. Young, an advocate of prohibition repeal. In 8,735 of the 8,956 precincts White had 128,021 and Young, 75,433.

Anti-dry sentiment in the Ohio cities was indicated at Toledo, where Representative W. W. Chalmers, a dry, who is serving his fourth term, was defeated for the Republican nomination by Wilbur M. White, editor of the Toledo Times, who advocated repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

In the Oklahoma Democratic run-off primary, two well-known political leaders emerged victorious. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray easily captured the gubernatorial nomination and Thomas P. Gore, blind former Senator, had an apparently safe margin for the senatorial nomination entitling him to run against Senator Pine (Rep.), who was unopposed in his party.

HITCHCOCK NOMINATED

Charles W. Bryan, former gov[illegible] and Democrat[illegible] vice presi[illegible]al candidate in 1924, was [illegible]n gubernatorial nominee in [illegible]ska. Gov. Arthur J. Weaver was renominated by a comfortable margin by the Republicans over Harry O. Palmer.

DENY HORSES JAM TRAFFIC

Old Dobbin's trial for life in the downtown district brought out the declaration yesterday before a sub-committee meeting of the Better Traffic Committee that horses do not cause traffic congestion, but that promiscuous parking is responsible.

Commercial horse owners and draymen declared all were striving to keep horses from the Golden Triangle and the Liberty Tubes in rush hours as safety measures. They declared they would increase efforts to keep horses away between 8 and 9:30 a. m. and 5 and 6:30 p. m.

The gist of horsemen's remarks summed itself down to this question:

"We pay taxes. Haven't we as much right to use the streets as automobile owners?"

Chairman Frank L. Duggan, who is head of the Consolidated Ice Company, said that his company is removing its horses from the downtown, expecting to supplant wagons with trucks by the first of next year.

Operators of drayage service complained they were unable at times to use trucks in deliveries due to the narrow alleys back of the buildings. It is only with wagons that this can be accomplished, they said.

Arabs Halt Work On Riot Anniversary

JERUSALEM, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The Arab executive today announced that August 23, anniversary of the wailing wall disorders of last summer, would be marked by a cessation of work by the Arab population in memory of the victims. Disputes over ownership of the wailing wall, not yet settled, led last year to severe rioting in which many Jews and Arabs were killed.

MAN, 50, KILLS YOUNG WIFE

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—A "December" husband stabbed his "May" wife to death and then killed himself with the same knife here today because she had taunted him.

The double killing took place in the presence of the five-year-old daughter of the wife by the former husband.

LINA BASQUETTE TAKES POISON

As Miss Basquette was being treated for minor burns about the face and arms, her present husband, Peverell Marley, a cameraman, called at the hospital. He seemed much affected but the actress said she didn't care to see him. Attendants said she ordered him from the room. They have been separated since last June.

PROMISED DAUGHTER

The actress talked at length, hospital attaches said, concerning her daughter. She said she left her husband, Marley, upon assurance of "high studio officials" that her child would be returned and that she had led an exemplary life in her efforts to regain custody of the child.

After she left Marley, Miss Basquette declared "People prominent in motion pictures" tried to turn the child away from her. She said she was wrapped up in the welfare of her child and had nothing to live for after she recently had been refused its custody.

Miss Basquette took the poison after a party at her Wilshire boulevard apartment. E. H. Sears, Jr., and Miss Basquette's maid were with the actress at the time and notified police.

TAXICAB DRIVER SAYS UNION HIRES THUGS

Gang Victim's Charge Denied By Organization Leader; Labor Warfare Goes on

A taxicab driver who was beaten unconscious this morning by men whom he recognized as fellow drivers, charged that the union drivers are contributing to a fund to pay sluggers.

Arnold's charge was denied by John Stackhouse, secretary of the Taxicab Drivers' Union, who said the drivers' monthly dues are the only contributions accepted from the men. His statement was verified by Fritz Shaffer, union agent.

DRIVER IN HOSPITAL

The charges followed repeated attacks upon cab operatives who failed to join the union or those who went back to work before final settlement of the recent strike had been made.

The accusation was made by Henry J. Arnold, 35, of Curry, a driver, who was slugged at Seventh avenue and Smithfield street. He is in Allegheny General Hospital suffering severe bruises and lacerations.

He charged that each union driver contributes 25 cents for each attack to the general fund being raised for the sluggers.

BEATEN BY FIVE

Arnold received a call this morning to take a man from the Seventh Avenue Hotel to the Western Union office in the Chamber of Commerce Building, about a block away. As the fare stepped from the cab, five men leaped from a doorway and dragged Arnold to the street. They beat him unconscious and kicked him severely as he lay on the pavement. One of them robbed him of $8, he told police. Police answering an emergency call found him unconscious.

FIVE ARRESTED

Special precautions taken by police to prevent new outbreaks among drivers resulted in the arrest of five men on suspicious-person charges near the Yellow Cab garage, Ross street and First avenue, this morning. They were riding in an automobile in which was found a loaded revolver, police say.

A Yellow cab driver, whose name was not obtained, drove to the garage this morning and informed two policemen, assigned to the garage, that he was being followed by a gang. A moment later a machine bearing five men drove up to the garage and the taxi driver informed police its occupants were the men following him. Their arrest followed.

RIOT CALLS

The prisoners said they were August Runno, 24, owner and driver, of 1203 Sheffield street; Edward Eldridge, 26, of 529 East Ohio street; Walter Peterson, 22, of 109 Halket street; Harry Foster, 25, of 1207 Sheffield street, and Elmer Richardson, 25, of 1226 Sheffield street.

The hearing of the prisoners was continued today when the driver who caused their arrest failed to appear at the hearing. Police say he is Albert Skuponia.

During the last four days a dozen drivers have been attacked, and several arrests have been made.

Four outbreaks yesterday—two in the Hill district and two on the North Side—were quelled by police answering riot calls.

Today some of the regulars were plainly displaying their buttons, indicating their membership in the union.

CHARGES PLOT IN VOTING MACHINES

McGovern Sees Scheme to Delay County Supply Until After Elections in 1931

Purchase of voting machines is being "rigged" so that the whole question will get into court thus causing further delay and no machines in the 1931 election.

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern charged this in discussing the meeting of the commissioners to be held Friday at 11 a. m. to give the two voting machine manufacturers a hearing on their financial responsibility and ability to furnish machines.

McGovern said:

"If this voting machine question gets into court it will be exactly what the election cheaters want—further delay and no machines in the 1931 election. There has been plenty of time since the bids were opened to inquire into the merits of the two companies. The overwhelming advantage of the machine that prints the result of the election as soon as the polls close, is obvious to anybody. It would seem to me that the act of the Legislature governing the purchase of the machines takes away the discretionary power of the commissioners.

"Both these machines have been approved by the state. The commissioners cannot inject some imaginary objection to the low bidder, as long as the company is responsible financially and able to deliver a stated number of machines. If the $30 difference was the only difference I would be in favor of giving the business to the Jamestown company. It pioneered the voting machines. But it is not the only difference. In the other machine everything is in the box. When the polls close you turn a crank and out comes the result, printed. And nobody can change it. This is the only way I have yet seen that the cheaters can be stopped from holding elections on Wednesday and Thursday."

Informed that Commissioner McGovern had commented adversely on the purpose of the hearing Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong said:

"It is the same old cry. Nobody is honest but just a few people who are after something for themselves. I was elected a commissioner by the people. I have an open mind on this voting machine question. What Mr. Babcock and myself want to do is to pick out the machine that will give the most service, and the company that can deliver the machines. We don't want to contract for any machines that may not stand up, or that may get out of order in the middle of an election. I don't know any more about a voting machine than I do about a washing machine, as far as their mechanics are concerned, but before I vote I want to know just what they are made of and who is back of the machine to guarantee its reliability."

BROAD POWERS

Asked if he thinks the act of Legislature affects the discretionary powers of the commissioners, he said:

"Judge Macfarlane, in Common Pleas Court, rendered a decision in the Vang case, in which he said that the commissioners, if after a thorough investigation, find that a bidder is unable to fulfill his contract, can throw out the low bid, even if the contractor is financially responsible. From this decision I would take it that the commissioners' discretionary powers are broad, and not affected when it comes to using their judgment in deciding matters of great importance."

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong set the date for the hearing and notified officials of both companies yesterday by telegraph and confirming letters.

Net Queen Spikes Rumors in Wake Of Abdication

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Realizing a curious public might misinterpret her reasons for not participating in the women's national tennis tournament at Forest Hills this year, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody today spiked incipient rumors by saying:

"Yes, I know there are always suppositions, but you may say that I am playing tennis every day, and I expect to be playing my best and fastest game when I play in a tournament at Los Angeles in September."

The tennis champion explained that she and her husband are establishing a new home, that she was away a long time on her European campaign and that for these reasons she does not wish to play at Forest Hills—since the tournament would take her away from friends and family again.

WOMAN CHASES BANK ROBBERS

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Pursued two miles by a woman shopper, who saw them flee after robbing the Point Place State Bank of $4,000, two bandits were surrounded by a posse today in a swamp outside of the Toledo suburb.

The loot was recovered.

Ignoring revolvers which the bandits pointed at her, Mrs. F. L. Jewett followed the bandits' automobile at high speed and managed to attract a posse of residents, who joined the chase.

The bandits abandoned their machine two miles out of Point Place and, after dropping the loot, fled to a swamp. The posse surrounded the place and the capture of the men is expected momentarily.

DAVIS SILENT ON SEAT THREAT

Caraway Expresses Belief Labor Secretary, Mrs. McCormick Face Contests

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The assertion of Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, that, in his opinion, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominees for the Senate from Pennsylvania and Illinois respectively, would not be seated, if elected, failed to evoke a comment from Secretary Davis today.

Senator Caraway declared the amount of money they expended in obtaining their nominations would serve as a bar to membership in the Senate.

"OWES APOLOGY"

Secretary Davis testified before the Nye committee that he spent approximately $13,000, and the committee, on investigation, learned that Mrs. McCormick spent approximately $250,000.

Senator Caraway declared in a statement that Davis owed an apology to William S. Vare, who was denied a seat because he spent $790,000 in winning the senatorial nomination in 1926, and that Mrs. McCormick should apologize to Frank L. Smith, who was refused admittance to the Senate prior to Vare for excessive expenditures.

EARLY DECISION

At the second inquiry into the Pennsylvania primary campaign of last May, which was concluded August 5, Chairman Nye said the committee would dispose of Secretary Davis' case soon after the November election.

Primary consideration would be given the Pennsylvania investigation, he said, because Davis, if elected, could present himself for the oath the first Monday in December. Davis was nominated to fill the unexpired term of Vare, which Senator Grundy is now serving by appointment of Gov. Fisher until his successor is chosen.

Caraway contended that Vare had greater excuse to spend large sums of money because he was not supported by the Republican State Committee, whereas Davis was supported by the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh machines, organized labor and other groups of voters.

American Jailed in Paris For Wild Ride in Cab

PARIS, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Logan Railey, sculptor, said to be the son of a wealthy Louisville, Ky., stock breeder, was held in jail here today following a wild ride through the streets in an ancient horse cab, which ended when the vehicle cracked up in a ditch.

Railey, whose name first was given to the police as William Herr, was walking through Montparnasse with two companions after a late dinner. In front of the Gare Montparnasse, they espied the old cab. Its driver was nowhere in sight.

According to the story told police, Railey, resplendent in evening dress, mounted the high seat while his companions took places inside. The horse started off at a spanking pace and the cab rattled through Paris and into the suburb of Arcueil.

Here the carriage slid into a ditch, fell apart and distributed its occupants, then asleep, over the roadway. Railey jumped clear and, after finding his two guests uninjured, turned his attention to the horse.

The animal was cut and bruised so he led it back into Paris to be treated by a veterinary. Meanwhile the cab's owner had lodged a frantic complaint with the police and Railey was taken into custody.

His sister paid $120 for the damage to the cab, but because of a previous offense, which had netted him 15 days in jail for alleged intoxication and resisting an officer, the youth was lodged in prison. He will have a police court hearing.

Sudden Frost Nips Plans For Kline Banquet

There may be a Welcome Home banquet for Mayor Kline when he returns from Europe—and there may not.

Things happened today after The Sun-Telegraph had revealed the banquet plans and that Roy Schooley, city treasurer, who is the Mayor's right-hand man, was sponsoring the affair.

The dinner reservation at the William Penn Hotel was cancelled by Clarence Davies, secretary to Controller Woodside. Schooley, meanwhile, denied being the actual sponsor.

The cancellation, however, was attributed no doubt as to when the Mayor will return.

If—and when—the banquet is held, the ward chairmen, grateful to the Mayor for the kingdoms he has allowed them to set up, are expected to see that all the tickets are sold.

HYDE WARNS AGAINST PANIC, SEES AMPLE FOOD SUPPLY

HIGHER COST 'RESULT OF HOARDING'

Agriculture Chief Deplores Housewives' Rush to Buy, Regardless of Mark-Ups

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—With reports of soaring prices for canned goods and vegetables in the big industrial centers, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today again assured the nation there is no danger of a food shortage because of the prolonged drought.

After calling on President Hoover and presenting the latest reports of the department on the situation, Hyde said:

"I have done my best to point out that there is no danger of a shortage in human food. The drought problem is chiefly a livestock and feed problem.

"There is no need for housewives to get panicky over the situation."

The administration, it has been said by officials, stands ready to prevent profiteering in foodstuffs, but so far there has been no action.

BLAME HOUSEWIVES

While the drought paves the way for profiteering, officials are inclined to blame housewives for the recent sharp increases. All over the country women have rushed to the stores to lay in $20 to $25 worth of canned goods. The price increase, officials say, is simply the result of the greater demand.

Inquiry of the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission disclosed that no specific instructions have been given for agents to watch for violations of the anti-trust laws, to boost the prices of food. The usual reply that government will act when it has definite information is given to all such inquiries.

Reports of beneficial rains in Missouri and Northeastern Kansas were encouraging to President Hoover and his advisers on the eve of his relief conference here with the governors. Weather conditions are favorable for extension of showers in the arid area, though perhaps not heavy enough to break through the drought.

HAS AMPLE FUNDS

The President called in Chairman John Barton Payne, of the American Red Cross, to find out if the organization has ample funds in case it is called upon to extend relief on a national scope, or whether a public subscription must be sought.

Payne informed the President that the Red Cross can draw on a $5,000,000 fund for relief and is prepared to launch a campaign immediately.

He said, however later developments would determine whether public contributions should be sought. He fully expected the Red Cross would have to provide relief in the drought-stricken areas this fall and winter.

Representative Laguardia, (Rep.), of New York, called on the President to discuss the price boost on vegetables and canned goods.

ASKS DAILY BULLETIN

He said he would ask Secretary Hyde to issue a daily bulletin, showing prices paid to farmers for vegetables and produce and the retail in New York, so consumers would realize the spread, adding:

"There is a tendency upon the part of someone to take advantage of the situation. The price of fresh vegetables was raised 25 to 30 per cent in New York yesterday. The retail men say they are not to blame, that the increase is forced on them.

"I can understand the increase in the price of milk and eggs. But there should be a reduction in meat prices, because of the slump in the livestock market, yet it is not apparent."

HOOVER MAY GO WEST LATER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—President Hoover definitely has abandoned plans for a trip this summer to the national parks of the Rocky Mountains, but the idea of a western trip before Congress convenes in December has not vanished entirely from his mind.

In announcing cancellation of the trip because of his intention to direct drought relief, the chief executive left the door open for a visit to this section should conditions permit. He said:

"I do not propose to go west."

Then he added:

"At least not for the next month or two."

Mr. Hoover had promised Texas he would visit there, if possible this year. In addition, he and his advisers are anxious he shall have an extended vacation before undertaking the strain of another session of Congress.

The President has before him also the possibility of a Caribbean trip that would include Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

DROUGHT CHECK STARTED HERE

Lieut. Col. Charles B. Campbell, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, with headquarters here, today initiated a survey of agricultural conditions in his area. There are 40 corps in the area.

Leaders are in close touch with local conditions, Col. Campbell says, and he believes they will be able to furnish him comprehensive reports on the damage caused by the prolonged drought and the likelihood of requests for aid.

Col. Campbell said today:

"We want to be in a position to meet whatever demands for help may be made on us this fall and winter as a result of the drought, and the only intelligent way to be prepared is to study the situation now so that we may have an idea of what may be expected of us."

Man, Girl Injured In Crossing Crash

CHESTER, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—(AP.)—Frank Kirk Bicking, 25, and Miss Betty Gilpin Anderson, 24, both members of prominent West Chester families, were injured critically today when their automobile crashed into a locomotive at Ward, eight miles west of here.

MERCURY AT 53, NO RAIN SEEN

The mercury fell to 53 this morning, equaling the low temperature for August 13, established in 1902, but the Weather Bureau saw no indication of rain to break the disastrous drought.

Forecaster W. S. Brotzman, after checking over the weather map, said:

"There is no chance of rain east of the Mississippi today or tomorrow."

Rising temperatures, however, are predicted.

The abnormally cool weather which followed the heat wave of last week, broke seasonal records yesterday when the temperature touched 50 degrees, the lowest for August 12 since 1889. The coldest weather in the district was at Elkins, W. Va., where the mercury dropped to 38 degrees.

GLAMIS CASTLE STAYS SILENT

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Silence continued today from Glamis Castle, Scotland, where the Duchess of York is awaiting the birth of her second child.

London newspapers admitted a complete lack of information from that vicinity, although it was learned that before King George began his grouse shooting tour in Scotland, he conversed at length over the telephone with his son, the Duke of York.

The event in the Duke's household has been expected by anxious Britain since mid-July.

Pittsburgh Woman Sues for $50,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Elizabeth Irwin Townsend, of Pittsburgh, had on file in District Supreme Court a suit for $50,000 damages against the Mayflower Taxicab and Sightseeing Company. Additional defense forces were being rushed from Bombay. They include extra troops and several squadrons more of royal air force planes.

She is an active member of the Pittsburgh Women's Aviation Association and has been interested in flying for several years. Since getting her private pilot's license, she flies almost every day her 6-year-old son, Talmage, accompanying her most of the time.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Capt. Archibald H. Brooks, master of the Fairfax, which collided with the tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts Bay on the night of June 10, testified today at the hearing before federal inspectors that the Merchant and Miners liner was making a speed of three miles an hour when the collision occurred.

Capt. Brooks was the last witness to take the stand today in the hearing. Four charges, including reckless operation of the Fairfax, unskillfulness and negligence, were filed against the captain as a result of the tragedy in which 50 lives were lost.

The hearing of testimony was completed early this afternoon after 23 witnesses had been heard. Most of these were members of the crew of the Fairfax.

COUPLE FEARED KIDNAPED SAFE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13.—(INS.)—Charles Kern, wealthy St. Louis resident, and his wife returned home early today after being reported kidnaped by swindlers yesterday from a railroad train at Defiance, O.

The Kerns declined to discuss their strange departure from the train at Defiance and disappearance in an automobile with two men who boarded the train at Fort Wayne, Ind., which led to a widespread search for them. Their only comment was that they were "home and safe."

The couple left the train on their way from here to Toledo with a bank draft for $70,000, which Kern told his St. Louis banker, J. H. Powers, was to be used in a real estate transaction.

Impetus had been given to the search for the couple by the belief of Police Chief Gerk and of Powers, the banker, that a supposed group of wealthy Toledo men with whom Kern proposed to deal were in reality a gang of confidence operators. Both had sought to dissuade the couple from making the trip.

R-100 TO START HOME TONIGHT

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Officers of the R-100 were eagerly scanning weather reports today preparatory for the take-off tonight of the dirigible on the return voyage to England.

It was planned to start the flight at 10:00 p. m., Pittsburgh time.

Plans for a bi-weekly dirigible service between England and Canada were revealed today with announcement by Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100, that on arrival in England he would go before the government with a proposal that the two governments advance 75 per cent of the construction cost of a dirigible twice the size of the R-100. Each government would contract to transport six tons of mail a week at $5,000 a ton, under the plan.

Posing as Hero To Win Wife, Usher Jailed

DETROIT, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Benjamin Lee couldn't win his girl's love with his resplendent theater usher's uniform, so he bought some medals, won the girl, and today he is in jail as a bogus hero.

Dined and honored by Detroit veterans' organizations as one of Michigan's war heroes, the theater usher appeared wearing the Croix de Guerre, the Victoria cross, the Distinguished Service cross and the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Some of the veterans became suspicious. They figured out that Benjamin was about 12 years old when the war started.

Department of Justice Agents questioned Benjamin and he confessed that his tales of heroism were designed to win the love of the girl who now is his wife.

Court Ties Up Boop-a-Doop Girl's Alleged $40,000 Gift

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Helen Kane, the boop-a-doop girl, is restrained under a Supreme Court order from touching $40,000 in her account in the Plaza Trust Company.

The order was issued at the instance of counsel for the creditors of the Bond Dress Company, in bankruptcy proceedings, who charged that Murray J. Posner, a partner in the firm, gave the money to Miss Kane out of funds which rightfully belonged to the creditors.

A process server, armed with a subpena, left for Chicago, where she is appearing on the stage. The subpena directs her to appear in court here to testify to the circumstances under which she received the $40,000 from Posner.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Helen Kane, who is a boop-boop-a-dooping in a Loop theater, denied the charge made by creditors of the bankrupt Bond Dress Company, in New York, that Murray J. Posner, a partner in the dress firm, had given her $40,000. She said:

"Mr. Posner is a friend of mine, but I never heard of this money business. Maybe I've been more dooped against than booping."

GIRLS TESTIFY

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Investigators from two federal government departments and two states today continued to build up a case of circumstantial evidence against Paul Montgomery, Murphysboro aviator, under arrest here in connection with Monday's air raid on the mining district in the vicinity of Providence, Ky.

The investigators announced today they had signed statements from three persons which they regarded as important to their case. The statements were from Clara Paul, Evelyn Fleming and Raymond Phifer, and told of seeing Montgomery leaving the airport at approximately 4:30 a. m. (Pittsburgh time) Monday in his low-wing monoplane, accompanied by a strange man.

DATE WITH FLIER

The girls, both of Murphysboro, had "double dated" with Phifer and Montgomery Monday night and all accompanied him to the airport, they said. All three said two "rough looking" men were at the airport when they appeared, and one of them got into Montgomery's plane and flew away with him. The man who accompanied Montgomery, they said, carried a sack.

Montgomery, meanwhile, denied connection with the bombing, although admitting he made an early morning flight Monday, but said he flew alone in the vicinity of Pickneyville, which is in the opposite direction of Providence.

WARRANT ISSUED

A warrant charging Montgomery with a felony was issued at Dixon, Ky., but it had not been determined today when the aviator would be taken there.

Herman Goldman, a special agent of the Department of Justice; Sheriff William Flanigan, of Jackson County, Illinois, and Sheriff R. L. Overby, of Webster County, Kentucky, were among the officials who had questioned Montgomery, the two girls and Phifer.

CLASHES MARK BILLINGS CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—(Universal Service.)—With etiquet swept aside, attorney wrangling loudly and bitterly with witnesses yesterday, justices of the State Supreme Court today resumed their hearing of Warren K. Billings' application for a pardon.

The session ended yesterday when Associate Justice John E. Richards remarked that he considered the day had been a complete waste of time, and after Judge Preston, who tried twice to get an adjournment, indicated that he was ready to stage a one-man "walk out."

The only witnesses called were James F. Brennan and Edward A. Cunha, former assistant district attorneys, who prosecuted, respectively, Billings and Tom Mooney. They were cross-examined by Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings, and it was McKenzie's line of questioning which brought about the clashes.

Shouting at each other, both talking at once, heedless of warnings from the justices, McKenzie and Cunha battled for two hours.

One development was the introduction of evidence showing Mooney's trial and acquittal as an alleged dynamiter in Contra Costa County and of his arrest on a similar charge in Sacramento, where the case was dismissed.

Mrs. Yost has long been a follower and political admirer of Fess. As a student at Antioch College, in Ohio, she attended his classes.

MAN FREED, HIS $9,000 HELD

A C Phillips, of Webster Hall, arrested yesterday with $9,000 in his possession, was released from East End Police Station today, but police kept the $9,000 as forfeit to guarantee his appearance at a hearing tomorrow.

Motorcycle Patrolman Louis Keebler arrested Phillips after he is alleged to have zig-zagged his automobile in Baum boulevard, near Whitfield street. In the rear of his car, police reported finding an automatic shotgun containing four loaded shells, some slot machine slugs and a liquor price list.

In searching Phillips police found the large sum of money in $1,000 and $100 bills. A charge of suspicious person was lodged against him. He informed police, they said, that he came here from Cleveland five months ago.

TRUE STORIES of CONSTRUCTIVE BANKING—No. 6

The Savings Account—that bought three houses

SHE keeps a little vegetable stand near the market, and though there isn't much profit in the 45c worth of potatoes and beans you buy, the little stand has paid for three suburban houses.

She started her Farmers Savings Account in 1904 and soon after made a first payment on a home, the bank taking a mortgage for the balance. A dollar or two deposited two or three times a week enabled her to reduce the mortgage at each interest period. In five and one-half years a $1400 mortgage was paid off.

A second and a third house were purchased in this way. Today, in addition to her vegetable stand, she has the income from two houses and lives in the third. The still growing Savings Account has a balance of more than $1,000.00.

CENSUS SHOWS INEQUALITIES IN HOUSE

Losses to Reapportioned Areas Are Revealed by Analysis of Population

By COLE E. MORGAN,
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—How congressional reapportionment under the major fractions method prescribed in the reapportionment act passed by the last Congress will penalize states losing some of their present representation is disclosed in an analysis of the census bureau's preliminary population totals for the several states.

Reducing the state totals to average totals per congressional district, calculated on the basis of the number of representatives in the House to which each state will be entitled under the new allotment, it is revealed that of the 22 states to lose representation, 12 of these will rank in the 15 having the largest average populations per representative.

FIVE TO HAVE 300,000

Five of these 15 will have more than 300,000 persons per district, while the next seven will exceed 290,000, with the other three just slightly under that figure.

Only one of the 15—Florida—is due to gain representation. It gets but a 25 per cent increase in representation on the strength of a 50 per cent increase in population over the 1920 census, and a 95 per cent gain over the 1910 count, on which the last congressional apportionment was based. Florida takes eighth place among the largest district populations.

Another of the 15—Oregon—gets no increase at all, though its population has grown more than 40 per cent since 1910. It is in fifth position.

OTHERS LOSE

Vermont, which tops the list in first place, will have one representative for 359,092 persons, losing one of the two it now has.

Next in order comes South Dakota, Rhode Island and North Dakota, each of which is reduced from three to two representatives.

The fifteenth state in the list is California, with an average of 288,600 per district, and this in the face of its phenomenal gain of nine representatives, raising its congressional strength from 11 to 20 House members.

In the face of the penalizing that losing states will thus suffer, it is not surprising that rumblings of discontent are being heard in congressional circles, promising a reopening of the whole reapportionment question at the forthcoming winter session.

JOSEPH NAMED BY JEWISH CLUB

C. H. Joseph

At a meeting of the executive committee of the newly-organized Jewish Book-of-the-Month Club, held in Chicago yesterday, Charles H. Joseph, editor of the Jewish Criterion, of Pittsburgh, and conductor of a syndicated column "Random Thoughts," was unanimously chosen to head the important romance and fiction committee. Associated with Mr. Joseph will be Prof. Louis A. Strauss, chairman of the English department of the University of Michigan. The purpose of the Jewish Book-of-the-Month Club is to promote the unity of the Jewish people in America, and bring them to a higher educational and cultural plane. The method adopted is that used by the majority of book clubs, selecting a book a month from the outstanding manuscripts submitted by leading publishers and editors of books by Jewish authors, prior to publication. Dr. Ralph H. Goldman, of Chicago, was elected president.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Robin Dale [illegible] Miss Geraldine Knight [illegible] tells him [illegible] der of Jack Sharon a theatrical promoter. The crime took place at a mountain lodge. Dale drives there with Miss Knight. Upon arrival they are astounded when a shrieking woman runs toward them out in the moonlight. The woman, Mrs. Nash, a guest, [illegible] was about to be killed. Dale [illegible] of the strange [illegible] relations of a number of the week-end guests at the lodge. Next morning he inspects the murder scene. It is a sand beach bordering a lake but there are no footprints in the sand near the murdered man.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER III

There was something sinister and uneasy about it. Sharon face to face with an assassin who left no footprints upon the sand! Not a tree was nearer than a hundred feet to enable the murderer to hang from above and commit his foul deed. Again the spot where Sharon lay was 50 feet from the water's edge so the killer could not have fired from that point!

Dale studied the spot for a long time. He asked no questions of Milburn. Finally he turned and beckoned his friend. They went toward the small dock. Dale took his place in the canoe, untied it and held it at the dock until Milburn stepped in.

"I notice there's a little island in the center of the lake. I feel an impelling urge to visit it," Dale remarked.

They paddled along in silence. The rim of the sun peered over the neighboring hills. It was fiery red portending another summer day. As it rose higher the red became orange and finally brilliant burning flame-yellow. By this time the canoe having passed a good distance from the dragging crews nosed upon the little island. It was no more than 100 yards square composed of rock but with crevices deep enough so that the earth in them mothered huge shrubs and two large trees.

Dale walked thoughtfully about the edge of the isle. Suddenly he paused and gazed down at the unmistakable furrow made by the keel of a canoe in a flat earthy dip between two rocks. He mounted the rocks and gazed about intently over the ledge they formed. Once he bent down and picked up something which he placed carefully in his wallet. After that he lost all interest in the little island and seemed eager to get back to the lodge. The swiftness of his paddling which Milburn was forced to match had the playwright pretty well spent when they grounded the canoe below the lodge.

They had scarcely reached the rear porch when a loud shout went up from the boats still on the water.

"They've probably found the shotgun," Dale said with a smile. "While we're waitin' for the startlin' news, tell me, Jim, you walked to the cabin last night and then wandered about in the neighborhood of the cabin for 15 minutes or so. You met absolutely no one during that time?"

"No one except, of course, Jerry. She was at the cabin when I arrived."

"Did you hear the shot?"

"No, and I thought that strange. I asked Jerry and she did not hear it."

"Odd, deucedly odd," mused Dale. "Just when did you see Sharon last?"

"Everyone decided to turn in about ten-thirty. He was at the lodge then as was everybody else. In fact everyone went upstairs."

"And nobody heard the gun shot! The thing is perfectly unearthly. It might almost have been a vampire flying around with bat's wings and firing guns that make no report ... brrr!"

"Say, it's creepy enough around here, Dale. I'll bet you have a pretty fair idea about the whole thing already."

Robin Dale was spared a reply because the men from the boats came running up from the lake, one of them brandishing a shotgun. As Dale had suspected it was a replica of those resting in the gun-rack in the lodge.

Police Chief Westervelt of Havenhurst was puffing when he reached the lodge. The guests were straggling out on the rear porch ... Lloyd Warren, then Mr. and Mrs. Nash, Fay Turner and Dale saw Alan appear from the side of the house.

Westervelt was proudly exhibiting his find. They all gazed at it in awe. During the excitement an open car drove up in front of the lodge. Two men left it and joined the group. Dale soon learned that they were County Prosecutor Bennett and Garbelle in charge of the local detective force. They had driven over from Teneca, the county seat, about 12 miles distant.

Westervelt explained to the prosecutor the result of his all-night labor. It would have seemed to the lay observer that the vain but corpulent police chief considered the mystery already solved.

"I say, what are you going to do with that gun?" asked Dale blandly. "You know there are a dozen more like it in the house."

"Who're you?" demanded Westervelt, glowering at Dale.

"I'm just a reporter, you know ... came up from N'york to write all about this. Y'see I want to use your name; that's why I'm askin' the questions. How do you suppose the gun got in the water?"

"And that like an ignorant reporter! Someone threw it in! The murderer did!"

"And who was it?"

"We'll soon find that out!"

"But he couldn't have been any nearer the water than the dead man when he fired the shot. Why did he throw the gun in the water?"

Westervelt blustered and fumed but he could find no answer. He finally walked off with the county officials. Dale grinned. He knew why the gun was thrown into the water ... so that it would be found and throw suspicion on someone else. The murderer had planned it all very carefully. Dale knew there was only one way to trap a criminal as keen and deliberate as the killer undoubtedly was.

Dale set about it. His first step was to go into the village. It was about three miles distant and Dale used Geraldine's car.

Havenhurst was a typical country village ... four or five stores, general store, hardware store, laundry, candy shop and a millinery. They were scattered about irregularly. In addition there were perhaps two dozen dwellings. The streets were irregularly placed and shadowed by immense chestnut and maple trees with here and there a drooping willow.

Dale stopped before the hardware store. The owner was a wizened little fellow. He had heard of the murder. Dale got confidential, suggesting that he might solve the mystery and become famous. How? Did he remember who bought shotgun shells the day before? Well, it was one of those shells that had killed Mr. Sharon! Why didn't he go to the lodge and see the chief of police and explain what he knew? He'd be the most famous man in the whole country!

Considering his mission as good as accomplished Dale got into the car and drove swiftly back to the lodge. He sat down on the front porch apparently idling but really deep in thought and awaited developments. Less than 15 minutes had passed when a rickety car drove up and the wizened old fellow from the hardware store alighted. He came rapidly toward the house.

INTRUDERS SET WOMAN AFIRE

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Two men broke into the home of Mrs. E. W. Meyers 15 miles south of here late last night and after tying the woman with ropes set her clothing afire, touched lighted matches to carpets and curtains and fled.

She fought herself free of the ropes and was found writhing in the street by neighbors.

Today Mrs. Meyers was reported in a critical condition in St. Vincent's Hospital here while the authorities scoured Erie County for her assailants.

FUND FOR DRUG SURVEY ASKED OF CONGRESS

Conference Seeks to Limit Dope to Minimum Needs; World Co-Operation Aim

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN, Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Representatives convening here, of every American professional and business agency legally engaged in dispensing narcotics have unanimously petitioned Congress to vote funds to determine the absolute per capita requirement for this country.

In this way the legitimate medical requirements of the nation would be determined to an irreducible minimum. The resulting figures would be submitted to the League of Nations advisory council on opium, with a demand that the other nations do likewise.

PLAN WORLD CURB

Thus the ground work would be laid for forcing limitation of production to meet the legitimate needs of the world.

Under a law passed by the last Congress, the surgeon general of the United States Health Service is directed to submit an estimate of the nation's narcotic needs.

The meeting yesterday was called by Surgeon General Cummings to consider such an estimate. On motion of Dr. William C. White, of the National Institute of Health, it was decided to ask Congress for means to conduct a thorough statistical survey, so that the conclusions will be authentic. The cost would not exceed $250,000, it was believed.

SUBSTITUTES SOUGHT

The meeting was notable in that chemists, doctors, dentists and the agencies of government sat down to a frank discussion of their common task, eradication of the dope evil.

Non-habit forming substitute drugs for narcotics will be one of the most effective controls of the present day tendency toward narcotics, Dr. White told the conference.

PRINCE TO SEE DO-X TESTS

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Aug. 13—(Universal.)—The test flights of the 12-motored German flying boat, DO-X, which next month is scheduled to take off from Lisbon on a two-stop flight to New York with 14 persons aboard, will be resumed today in the presence of Alfonso, Crown Prince of Spain.

The tests were interrupted yesterday afternoon by the breaking of the drive of one of the 12 Curtis Conqueror engines, resulting in the cylinders of that motor being "frozen" by overheating. By today the motor will be replaced by a spare engine which is on hand at the Dernier works for such emergencies.

The performance of the DO-X in tests so far has exceeded expectations. With a total weight of 99,500 pounds, the DO-X took off from Lake Constance in 39 seconds and reached an altitude of 3,100 feet above the surface of the lake—which is 1,300 feet above sea level—in 10 minutes. At that point the plane was climbing at a rate of 320 feet a minute.

In the first wireless telephony tests, the operator of the DO-X talked with Zurich in one direction and Stuttgart in the other and plainly heard one of the broadcasting stations in London.

POWER
with Electricity!

HIGH towers above us . . . huge pillars of stone and steel . . . great, giant structures majestically crowning the Golden Triangle in the valley where two famous rivers meet to form the Ohio. It is Pittsburgh's new skyline spectacular in its silhouette of new buildings high above the street . . . new buildings that embody every possible factor for convenience and comfort.

From the very start, as the buildings begin to assume a skeleton shape of steel, electricity aides in the work. Then as they become ready for occupancy, electricity turns its talents toward contributing to comfort through the operation of high-speed elevators, complete lighting, and ventilation. Steam from central steam heating plants provides healthful and agreeable temperatures during the coldest weather. Electric light has logically become accepted in Pittsburgh offices and public buildings. With recent developments in indirect lighting equipment, electric lighting has become a formidable rival to the Sun . . . in many cases more successful than direct daylight.

The Duquesne Light Company and its affiliated company, the Allegheny County Steam Heating Company have been serving buildings in downtown Pittsburgh for the past fifty years. Each year as these buildings have been "getting up in the world," growing taller and taller, the demand for the services of these utilities has steadily increased. Today not a single building in the downtown area, constructed within the past 20 years is using other than central station service . . . heating that has eliminated all the ash and coal problems so prevalent in individual building power plants, and light and power which is offered at rates among the lowest in the country.

THE services of our engineers are available to building owners and managers for advice and information concerning any power problems and in planning for the most efficient utilization of electric energy. Call GRant 4500 . . . Line 233

AMOCO-GAS is different. There is nothing else like it. Amoco-Gas is the one complete motor fuel.

It is the original special motor fuel.

It revolutionized the whole gasoline industry.

It brought into being a large number of other special motor fuels.

The exclusive composition of Amoco-Gas—never successfully imitated—is such that it does more than eliminate "knocks".

This means more mileage.

This means more power.

And these components result in many other advantages, such as snappy, efficient operation, better starting, minimum deposit nuisance and lower repair costs.

Amoco-Gas is made differently because of these added essentials. Amoco-Gas, so made, costs more to make.

It does much more. It is worth much more.

Add all of these advantages together—and you will see there is real, incontestable truth behind the statement that there is as much difference between Amoco-Gas and other premium motor fuels as there is between other premium motor fuels and regular gasoline.

Remember, it is not a few pennies less per gallon that matters—it is low cost per mile that counts.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

Baseball's "King of Swat" is the all-star attraction in tonight's theater of the air.

Babe Ruth will tell how he socks them out of the lot when Grantland Rice quizzes him at 10:30 over WCAE. The Babe is well on his way to better his major league record of 60 home-runs in a season.

"Oh, Dry Those Tears" will be a trombone solo in the Mobiloil program over WCAE at 8:30.

We see "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room" listed on the 9:30 program of KDKA.

What appears to be a pie plate atop a 100-foot pole arouses the curiosity of many visitors at the new KDKA plant in Saxonburg.

It is a neon beacon light for the protection of aviators. It was particularly designed to steer flyers clear of the eight-acre antenna which would mean sure destruction to any plane flying in the vicinity.

QUESTION A DAY:

Alyce Noyes, Mt. Washington—I notice you use the word synchronization a good deal. What do you mean?

A.—Synchronization in radio is the broadcasting of the same program on the same frequency by two or more stations. It is believed by many experts that this will be the ultimate solution of electrical and static interference in the transmission of programs. We will have a better idea of it all this fall when KDKA puts on tests by coordinating the frequency of their new station with the present layout at East Pittsburgh.

Jo Tyler will increase his WJAS orchestra to 20 pieces this fall. Jo has one of the sweetest units on the air and really should be doing a network broadcast.

GREETINGS!

The Mayor of San Francisco, running for re-election, proclaimed in a loud tone over the radio:

"I want everyone hearing my voice to send me a telegram at my expense."

They did. The Mayor had no idea how many friends he had.

Thousands of telegrams poured in that night, the next day and the next night . . . requiring a force of three girls to classify them.

The telegraph company presented a bill for several thousand dollars, but the Mayor and the company finally compromised on $5,000. This is an acutal fact: the station, KPO, and the Mayor, Mr. Rolph.

FISHER STAYS TO SEE 107TH MANEUVERS

Remount Review Scheduled; Governor's Visit to Camp Takes All by Surprise

TOBYHANNA Pa, Aug. 13.—Gov. John S. Fisher, who arrived yesterday for a surprise visit to the Pennsylvania National Guard troops encamped here, remained today to witness the spectacular remount review of the 107th Field Artillery of Pittsburgh.

In honor of the presence of the governor and Maj. Gen. William G. Price, commander of the 28th Division, who accompanied him, the Pittsburgh regiment was to put on some unusual maneuvers. For the first time since the war Col. Eric Fisher Wood announced the regiment was to pass in review in three individual cadences, first at a walk, then at a trot and finally a gallop.

WOOD PRAISES REGIMENT

Col. Wood at officers mess last night expressed his approval of the results obtained at the bivouac of the 107th just completed, saying it was highly gratifying to note the improvement this year.

When Gov. Fisher arrived unannounced yesterday both the 107th and the 108th of Philadelphia were away from camp, the former at the bivouac and the latter at the target ranges. A battery of the 16th Field Artillery, Regular Army outfit, fired the governor's 17-gun salute.

Col. Wood and Col. William A. March, informed by telephone of the arrival of the guests, hurried to the base camp to meet the party. After luncheon the governor and his entourage left for the target ranges.

FISHER MOUNTS PLATFORM

The governor borrowed a heavy overcoat and a pair of field glasses and followed the party up the precipitous steel staircase leading to the observation platform, 30 feet above the ground.

Gov. Fisher listened intently to Col. Wood as he outlined the problem and to his explanation of the complicated procedure involved in computing firing data and observing projectile bursts. It was the governor's first visit not only to the Tobyhanna Camp but also to the observation post of an artillery range.

Other observers were Mrs. Eric Fisher Wood and Mrs. Henry Tatnall Brown Jr., daughter of the governor. The party remained at the observation post two hours before returning to the base camp for dinner at the quarters of Sergt. Bender, caretaker of the reservation.

103RD CAVALRY 'DEFENDS' CAMP

MOUNT GRETNA Pa. Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The 103rd Cavalry has taken the field to protect the National Guard encampment here against an imaginary enemy.

The cavalry last night bivouaced at Hammer Creek Pass, where they received word that their territory had been invaded by the advancing "Red" forces. Today the cavalrymen will move on to White Oak to screen the advance of imaginary infantry troops, moving forward to engage the enemy in battle. The theoretical "red" forces will give way to actual men Thursday, when the intelligence corps of the 109th and the 110th infantry assume the part of the enemy.

The 110th Infantry yesterday worked out combat problems on the ranges with moving targets designated as enemy forces. The 109th started preparations for its field maneuvers, which start Thursday. Both regiments were given the afternoon to prepare for their track and field meet today.

Three Here Named On Lutheran Board

Three Pittsburghers have been appointed to the committee on organization of the American Lutheran Conference by the Lutheran Merger convention, Toledo, at which the Lutheran synods of Iowa, Buffalo and Ohio were officially merged Monday and Tuesday. Walter Demmler, 1110 Termon avenue; Dr. George Leibold, 818 Cedar street, and the Rev. P. Mackensen, Christ Church, Knoxville, were named. The committee will negotiate with representatives of the Norwegian Lutheran Church, the Augustana Synod, the Danish Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Free Church toward affiliation with the American Lutheran Church in forming the American Lutheran Conference.

HURT BY TRUCK, $25,000 ASKED

Claiming to have been catapulted in the air against a brick wall and to have lain unconscious in the Pittsburgh Hospital for 20 hours, Bruce Webb has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $25,000 damages against George A. Minor, 122 St. Clair street and J. C. Jordan, 5925 Penn avenue, doing business as the Jordan Company, bakers.

He says that he was standing on the pavement at Larimer avenue and Carver street May 11 when a truck, driven by Jordan or his agent, ran onto the sidewalk and hit him. An instant before the accident, he says, a truck driven by Minor dashed out Carver street at such reckless speed that the Jordan truck was forced onto the walk. His spine and brain were injured, Webb says.

Many physicians are prescribing it as the best thing they know for acid indigestion and dyspepsia. Get Acidine from your druggist today. It is not expensive. T. Games of 4372 N. 43rd Street, Merchantville, N. J. "You can use this letter in any manner you see fit. Distinguished Committee of 17 Reveals New Discovery

Mrs. James J. Davis, Ethel Barrymore, Anne Morgan, Mary Roberts Rinehart, members of Committee to view tests of new product in action

MME. ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK, America's most widely known and best loved prima donna. One of the celebrated women whose interest was captured by this new form of soap.

NEW YORK, June 3—A committee of 17 of America's most distinguished women were honor guests yesterday at the dramatic demonstration of a new soap for washing fine fabrics.

At the close, the consensus of opinion was that for the first time in many years a totally new kind of soap had been invented which would revolutionize the laundering of delicate things.

A distinguished gathering

Never before has there been a meeting of prominent women to prejudge a product made for women. It was felt that such women as Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Miss Anne Morgan, Ethel Barrymore, Mary Roberts Rinehart, would be representative of other women in the class each represented.

Made of olive and palm oils

In telling of his creation the inventor said he considered the most important feature to be that it is made of olive and palm oils instead of tallow. "For years," he said, "the finest beauty soaps have been of olive and palm oil base. Obviously what cannot injure lovely complexions cannot harm fragile materials nor redden and roughen women's hands."

The other revolutionary feature, according to its discoverer, is the fact that the new soap is in the form of tiny hollow beads. The instant these beads touch water they dissolve. This not only saves time, but it protects fabrics from the harmful action of undissolved soap particles which usually remain after the most thorough rinsing where ordinary chips or flakes are used. As these bits of soap are ironed into stockings, lingerie, etc., "soap rot" results, with stains and faded spots.

Dissolve instantly—rinse completely

The new "Beads" dissolve so thoroughly, so completely, that rinsing in one water leaves materials entirely soap free. They dissolve in water 20 degrees cooler than ordinary soaps require. Reports received from the country's greatest silk manufacturers, who had previously tested the new soap, stressed the tremendous advantage of these two factors in washing delicate silks.

"It is surprising," remarked Mrs. James Davis, as she was leaving, "that after all these years there could be a soap so totally different from anything on the market. It is truly phenomenal."

"The name of the new soap, 'Palmolive Beads,' reveals the secret of why this new soap gives such vastly better results," said chemists who had helped create this discovery.

Silk manufacturers, leading stores, designers of smart women's wear, came to the makers of Palmolive Soap—told them that modern hasty washbowl laundering was working havoc with beautiful fabrics—and asked them to create a soap as gentle and protective for fine fabrics as Palmolive is for lovely complexions.

Large box 10c

And so Palmolive Beads were made. The first soap for fine silks ever made in the form of tiny, hollow, instantly dissolving "beads." The only fine fabric soap ever to be made of olive and palm oils . . . oils hitherto reserved exclusively for complexion soaps.

Palmolive Beads are for sale everywhere at 10 cents the box—no more than you pay for ordinary flakes and chips. Get a box today.

Dr. McGowan, Antoinette Donnelly, Suzanne Pollard, Lillian Edgerton and Nellie Tayloe Ross watch the new soap dissolve in interesting tests.

DAVIS PROPOSES MORE PAROLES

SCHWENKSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Extension of the systems of probation and paroles and an end of the practice of filling jails to overflowing were urged by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Republican candidate for United States Senator, in addressing the Montgomery County Justices of the Peace Association here. Davis said:

"I think this country needs to look upon its delinquents more as if they were just delinquents. They need to think of the people who are not essentially vicious, but people whose moral nature is sick for the time. Our tendency is to fill our jails and prisons to overflowing. The whole aim should be not to banish away from us the minor offender, but to render him well, so that he may be again a trusted fellow among us."

Russian Native, 104, Dies in Altoona Home

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—George Abelson, 104 years old, died at his home here yesterday. He was born October 7, 1825, at Kalem, Russia, and came to this country in 1913. He leaves eight children, 44 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Alleged Bandit Pair Taken in Gun Fight

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Two Negroes accused of robbing the Lamb National Bank of about $2,000, were captured at Coulee, near here, after a gun fight with officers last night.

'NO LIMIT' BETS OFF AT CASINO

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 13.—(Universal.)—A rumpus between tax authorities and the powerful Greek syndicate controlling the baccarat "no limit" table has today deprived Deauville Casino of its most spectacular attraction just on the eve of the resort's grand semaine.

The result is that international society has been compelled to seek amusement at a lesser risk.

The trouble arises from the tax authorities' insistence on collecting a percentage of the play. This works out satisfactorily at the limited tables, but the syndicate claims the system is ruinous when applied to the table where only the whim of the world's plutocracy determines the amount of the stakes.

U. S. WILL SCAN ORE IMPORTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(Universal.)—Charges that Russia is "dumping" manganese ore in the United States will be investigated by the customs bureau, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman has announced.

Prospects of a sharp battle between the big steel companies, which import manganese for use in their products, and representatives of American manganese producers loomed.

This will cause echoes of the long fight in Congress between congressmen from western states producing manganese and congressmen from the eastern steel mill districts, over the question of raising the import duty on this product.

No date has been fixed for the hearings. J. Carlson Adkerson, president of the American Manganese Producers' Association, presented a brief, charging the dumping.

The protest from this organization follows efforts of Pennsylvania anthracite producers to shut out Russian coal on the ground it is mined by forced labor.

Trotzky on Island, Rumor Unfounded

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky, exiled Bolshevik leader, spent the day quietly at his residence on Prinkipo Island, in the Sea of Marmora. Reports abroad of his appearance in Czecho-Slovakia and the Balkans are unfounded.

ADMITS KILLING FARM COUPLE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Warren L. Bishop, assistant district attorney, of Middlesex County, announced Joe Stefanosky had confessed he killed Mr. and Mrs. William Stefanovicz, who employed him as a farm hand.

Stefanosky at first denied any knowledge of the crime, saying his employers had gone to Chicago.

The confession as reported by Bishop was that on June 11 Stefanosky and Stefanovicz went into a pasture to attend a sick cow. Stefanosky struck his employer several times on the head with a club while his back was turned. Mrs. Stefanovicz was drawn to the scene by the cries of her husband and the assailant attacked her also with the club.

Stefanosky then buried the couple near the scene of the killing.

WEATHER SAVES 17 STOWAWAYS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Because fair weather favored the British freighter Mistley Hall on its voyage here from Trinidad and Rio de Janeiro, customs inspectators found 17 stowaways in a ballast tank rather than 17 corpses.

The stowaways were discovered by the customs men after they had escaped detection at quarantine.

None of the stowaways was suffering from lack of food, and several had been freshly shaven. With the manhole the only means of communication with the outside, aid aboard the ship was held by customs men to be obvious.

Officers of the Mistley Hall said that had the cargo of ore shifted during the trip to Baltimore water would have been pumped into the ballast tank without investigation.

Injured in Gasoline Tank Blast, Man Dies

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Benjamin Davis, 28, of Clendenin, died in a hospital here last night of burns received when a gasoline storage tank exploded at the gasoline plant of the Falling Rock Cannel Coal Company on the Elk River near here. Davis was working near the tank when it exploded.

If Baby has COLIC

A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

'ABOUT THIS AND THAT IN HOLLYWOOD AND IN GAY GOTHAM

Four Hollywood Players Chosen for English Film Dramas

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.

E. B. Derr, president of Pathe, is on his way to New York to arrange for the production of four pictures during the coming year.

The British quota law which has made strong film executives weep in Hollywood requires that English theaters show home-produced pictures for at least 7½ per cent of their running time. It also provides that only one American actor can be used in the cast of any film that our studios make over there. The director must be English too.

Here is how Pathe will solve the problem. They will send Ann Harding, Constance Bennett, Helen Twelvetrees and William Boyd, all established stars, to work in the four pictures. And since they must have an English director they will put an American director over him as producer.

Ann Harding

Paul Stein, who is well known abroad, will be the first of these specially created producers. Upon his return Pathe will send Ed Griffith, who directed "Holiday" (and what a swell job he did of it). Tay Garnett will be the third.

It is also planned to hire Spanish and German actors to make foreign versions over there.

Mr. Derr has other big plans for Pathe in this country. And with a grand comedy like "Holiday" to his credit people are going to listen to him.

"What do you think is a good publicity angle for your picture?" an executive asked a star.

"Well," replied the star, "you might say in the ad 'we also have a Tom Thumb golf course in the lobby.'"

PLAY'S OVER

The vacation which Constance Bennett has been enjoying is about over. Pathe is to star her in "Sin Takes a Holiday," a story by Robert Milton, the director, and Robert Cairns.

Constance Bennett

In this story, the smartly-groomed Miss Bennett plays a secretary who married her employer to get him out of a jam with another woman. This done, she goes to Paris, emerges from her business-girl cacoon and returns to a startled husband. He falls in love with her, and there you have it.

Horace Jackson, the writer who did such a slick job of preparing "Holiday" for the screen, will write the dialogue for this picture and Paul Stein will direct.

Are there any bets that "Sin Takes a Holiday" will have a new name when it reaches the screen? For one thing Pathe already has one "Holiday" and for another United Artists is starring Chester Morris in a talkie version of the play "Death Takes a Holiday."

NIGHT LIFE

A film star relates to me with much gusto a prank that was played on Greta Garbo at one of Ernest Lubitsch's dinner parties. It seems that the Swedish star didn't know Jeanette MacDonald, who played in Mr. Lubitsch's "The Love Parade." When the two girls were introduced Miss MacDonald, feeling playful, pretended to be deaf. All through the evening she kept getting Greta's remarks twisted. Whereupon Greta, not wishing to be impolite, responded by shouting to her. I'm assured it was just too killing.

And now you know about Hollywood night life. It is with such various pursuits as these that the film stars amuse themselves between the hours of dark and dawn.

BOTANNICAL NOTE

Out at First National they have an arboretum. If you are still guessing, an arboretum is a botannical file of artificial flowers and shrubs. This department was established by the studio to correct anachronisms such as showing cacti growing in Alaska.

The First National arboretum has all the major varieties of plants from lilies of the Nile valley to the aforesaid domestic cacti. Occasionally obscure varieties are required which are not at hand. In that case photographs are secured and professional flower-makers are engaged to duplicate them in waxed cloth or paper. There are now in Hollywood 24 of these expert workers. Most of them are steadily engaged as real flowers are seldom used in motion pictures. The intense heat from the lights wilts them in a few minutes.

LOOKING BACKWARD

As I was entering the Filmarte Theater, in Hollywood, Stuart Holmes came out. Mr. Holmes is the heavy who used to play with Theda Bara in her vampire days.

It seems that he had been in to see one of these old films, which was being revived as a short subject on the Filmarte program. The picture was "The Clemenceau Case," and Miss Bara was shown as an artist model heart-breaker.

She got paid for her sirening in the end when a painter stabbed her as she reclined, Cleopatra-like on a couch, holding a big stuffed snake. Just as she died, Mr. Holmes, wearing a choker collar, entered the room, put both hands up before his eyes and backed out the door.

And we once thrilled to this!

Walter Winchell on Broadway

Warning

A time will come when other lads will pall
And thoughts of me will stir in you again;
All Summers pass and in the cool of Fall
The withered leaves will rouse an ancient pain;
For I have been too much a part of you
To fade away to nothingness at last.
And if old ghosts again hold rendezvous
I know your mind will wing back to the past.

You will remember little things I said,
And tenderness will have its way with you;
You will regret our love is strangely dead,
And make your plans to lure me back anew;
Oh, but when that time comes—pray rest assured—
You will be wasting time—for I'll be cured!

—Don Wahn.

Handicap

Our only apprehension about Heywood Broun's candidacy for Congress is that his fellow Socialists will consider him a capitalist. Because he has been listed as the sixth highest paid columnist.

Pun My Soul!

"Dear Winchell," affectionately writes Izzy Elinson, "add tough breaks: The other night a midget golf course owner had to turn away loads of customers. Paul Whiteman dropped in to play.

"And Silly Sally thinks they call it miniature golf because in a miniature through!"

The Very Idea!

And Willie Howard, the comedian, says he was thrown out of his hotel because they caught him putting a demi-tasse golf course in his bathroom!

The Costly Free Ad

A musical comedy once caused a New York hotel to change its name. On the site of Rector's restaurant at Broadway and Forty-fourth was built the Rector Hotel. A show called "The Girl from Rector's" was produced sometime later and it was a spicy affair, the management of it flaunting billboard posters showing a nude gal in a big hat high-kicking.

Visitors imagined that a stay at the hotel would blemish their reputations, and eventually the place went broke.

Isn't It So?

It is the Pathfinder's observation that just at present the country is paying more attention to the relief of sunburn.

The Penalty of Favors

You might have read about Teddy Hayes' predicament, which caused him no end of humiliation. Teddy manages a fighter whose wife is in the show girl division. She parked her car in front of her home and later discovered that it was missing. She reported it as stolen to the police.

Then she learned that her garage owner had confiscated it for charges. She phoned Hayes, who settled the bill. In the meantime she had to leave town. Hayes was driving the machine across the Queensboro Bridge and was arrested by an alert cop. After a day in jail and other miserable places he was released when the woman informed the police that it was perfectly all right and that she had neglected to tell them the car had been found.

Add Foul Blows

A group of the boys were gabbing about the Dirtiest Trick of Them All. One lad recalled the time he owned "The Old Clock," a saloon in the Car Barn Gang sector 15 years ago.

A chap named O'Brien was shot by a coke-fiend in the place one Winter night, and the owner carried the dying kid into the street so that when the officers arrived they wouldn't find him in the joint and "give it a bad name." Of course the owner didn't squeal and name the assassin.

The next night the cokie robbed the place!

Unger Widow Opens Fight to Break Will

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—(INS)—A caveat has been filed in the Delaware County Court at Media by attorneys for Mrs. Bertha Unger in an attempt to break the will of her estranged husband, Aaron Unger, whereby she was cut off with $5, while the bulk of the $100,000 estate was left to Miss Amelia Phillips, a former actress and nurse. He died Sunday in Miss Phillips' Lansdowne apartment, where Mrs. Unger charged he had been held "captive."

Glider Competition Won by Austrian

WASSERKRUPPE, Germany, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The biggest purse in the international glider contest yesterday went for the second time to Robert Kronfeld, Austrian, who defeated 33 other gliders by making a difficult 39-mile circuit flight. The prize was 1,000 marks.

Kronfeld's flight carried him to a neighboring mountain and across difficult country.

Get the Car You Want
And be Dollars in Pocket, Besides

Let us show you how you can own a fine big Essex for less cost than a car of apparently lower price. In the column to the right are the figures of a deal which illustrates the point and proves it in dollars and cents.

One car APPARENTLY was $195 lower in price than Essex. But look into the whole deal, and you find Essex actually LOWER in price, besides being by far the larger, roomier, finer automobile in every way.

Examine the trade-in we can allow you. Remember, our business is not so laid out that we must take your used car from you at less than it is worth. We can give you its full value. Do not give up your used car at a loss because you are attracted by a list price of another car that SEEMS low.

Let us show you a REAL price comparison—an automobile-buying proposition that will appeal to your business and thrift sense. Get our finance terms—get all details. Have a car you are proud to own—and save money, too.

STUDY THESE FIGURES

This deal started when the buyer told us that Essex was the car he wanted, but apparently for reasons of thrift he must buy a car which was offered at a lower list price. Together with him we figured out the whole deal for Essex and the other car as follows:

Essex delivered price	$845	Competitor's price	$650
We offered for traded car	550	Price for trade-in	400
Cash difference he must pay	295	Difference	250

The net of it all, so far, is that for $36.12 total or around $3 a month, the buyer found he could have ESSEX, instead of a car priced by its maker at $195 less.

Then, finally—a year from now his Essex will be worth $115 more than the other car he was considering. Or, casting up all totals, his Essex in a year will cost him $78.88 LESS than the car apparently cheaper. So, we say—Get the Car you Want—and be dollars in pocket, besides!

WALTER WINCHELL

On Broadway

Mary Nolan scandal is just as we suspected and as we hinted. Miss Nolan is not a narcotic fiend, at all. She was the victim of a plot on the part of a rival flicker firm which hoped to ruin her because she refused to jump her contract and join them.

Suffering from a severe attack of sunburn, she was on the verge of hysteria; and hospital attaches were forced to give her a hypodermic injection to put her to sleep. Representatives of the snubbed movie company heard of the "needle stuff" and jumped to conclusions. They gave out the story via the whisper route, and the rest is history.

The Retort Proper

Sid Silvers, who used to heckle Phil Baker from a box seat, is now an ass't director at the Paramount Long Island studios. The other afternoon, Sid swiped Director Taurog's chair (an unpardonable sin) and to make matters worse Silvers wrote on it: "Sid Silvers—Genius!"

Mr. Taurog came along and scribbed under it: "But, aren't we all?"

By Way of Report

As chronicled here yesterday Miss Ethel Barrymore and this corner are no longer foofing each other. The feud began over an alleged interview the World had with her some time ago in which the actress was supposed to have belittled the New York critics, particularly this one.

Seated three pews from us at the Berg-Chocolate ringside, Miss Barrymore smiled and said: "How joodoo?" We had never been introduced to her, so we conducted ourself as a night-loafer should. We flirted back.

After the introduction, we said to The First Actress:

"I thought you said I ought to be shot at dawn?"

"Oh, I never was angry with you, she cooed. "It was all so silly, wasn't it?"

Miss Barrymore is a good actress off the stage, too.

"KONJOLA DID ME MORE GOOD THAN I HOPED FOR"

Though it may often appear strange, it is still true that Konjola, the most highly praised American medicine, has won many of its outstanding triumphs over the ailments of the aged. Ailments that had hung on year after year, defying and resisting all measures taken for relief. Yet this does not appear so remarkable after all, when one considers that Konjola is a scientifically blended compound of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value.

A real test of Konjola in stubborn cases should consist of a treatment over a period of from six to eight weeks. The first bottle should begin the work of cleansing the system. As the treatment is continued, the poisons responsible for rheumatism and neuritis are eliminated and Nature is free to begin her work of restoring abundant health. The case of Mr. Firmon J. Jones, Scenery Hill, Washington, near Pittsburgh, clearly illustrates this point. The Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, knows of many such cases. See him today and get the whole story. Here is the experience of Mr. Jones:

"I am 71 years of age, married, and have lived at Scenery Hill for the past seven years. I read the statements in the newspapers of the good results people were getting from Konjola. I suffered from stomach trouble, rheumatism, and neuritis, on and off, for twenty years. Konjola did me more good than anything that I have ever taken. My stomach bloated and filled with gas after each meal, and I had smothering spells at times. The rheumatism was mostly in my arms and shoulders, although it seemed to be all over my body at times. A ten-day treatment of Konjola last fall gave me wonderful results. It removed the gas and bloating and drove the pains of rheumatism from my system. I have told many people about Konjola and I cannot say enough good about it."

And so it goes—Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals—it is all pure medicine and every drop works.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is also sold by all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

METROPOLITAN

by WILLIAM PFARR

Fred Gunderman, the orchestra leader, speaking: "Musicians like long skirts, not for the skirts in themselves but because we can play slower music when the girls wear 'em longer. If girls ever start wearing knickers, or go back to short skirts, we'll have to play faster stuff."

* * *

Paul Werner, the South Sider, returns from Germany with a report that over there they still believe America is a country of wild, unsettled lands and tomahawks. In Berlin's famous cafes of all nations, the waiters in the American section are dressed as cowboys.

Within a month Pittsburgh stores will be offering a home-recording apparatus which bids fair to be as potential as home brew. With remarkable ease and simplicity this apparatus records the conversation in your reception room, your dining room or, for that matter, the booming baritone you send out from the bathtub. The phonograph people, who are introducing this invention, are optimistic about it and predict that it will immortalize the life of the American family.

Ah, but consider the other side. Suppose little Willie mischievously turns on the machine while his parents are indulging in an unparentlike argument and to posterity we hand down a flock of records which picture our time as one of incessant bickering? Then where will we be? With typical winning frankness, we have the answer: We don't know where we'll be.

PLAY THE LATEST ONE, WILLIE

Pittsburgh is becoming horseshoe-pitching conscious, and most conscious are the citizens of the Beatty street district in the East End. (For the moderns we should explain that horseshoe-pitching is quoits). Beatty street not only has a half-dozen outdoor courts for horseshoe-pitching but an indoor layout. A year from now probably horseshoe-pitching will have supplanted miniature golf as the fad, so this is as good a time as any to start saving horseshoes.

Speaking of miniature golf, a friend of ours unqualifiedly blames the water shortage on those layouts. He says the miniature courses are always being sprinkled, and if there are 100 courses in the city, then that makes 100 courses being sprinkled, and so much less water. He points out that horseshoe-pitching does not require sprinkling.

In his vivid memory John Lowers, the assistant U. S. deputy marshall remembers two incidents, among others. He recalls when, 40 years ago, as a photographer in Charleroi, he taught Bud Fisher, who was then not the creator of Mutt and Jeff but simply a house-to-house book salesman, how to take pictures. Secondly, he remembers the gauntlet of steel strikers through which 100 Pinkerton detectives were forced to run after they had landed at Homestead on a barge in the 1890's.

Scratch on Jaw Fatal to Bather

WINDBER, Pa., Aug. 13.—Victoria Koval, 12, died as the result of an infection resulting from a scratch on the jaw, which she suffered last week while bathing in a swimming pool here.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 13.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

All I know is just what I read in the papers. And that's an alibi for my ignorance. But today I read where there has been 125 million spent on these "premature golf courses." That's great. While it hasn't helped anybody's golf game, or given anybody any exercise, it's been a wonderful help to labor and the sellers of material. And its benefits have been distributed all over the whole country. So bring on some more nut ideas if they will do that much good.

Yours,
WILL.

MISS SARAH THOMPSON

DAUGHTER'S AID CURES MOTHER

Mrs. Mary Thompson, 58, of 3551 Elmhurst street, is able to walk again, and for a sucessful operation on her ankle must thank her daughter, Sarah, 25, whose skin was grafted eight times for her mother's benefit.

Her left leg rendered useless several years ago by varicose veins, Mrs. Thompson is recovering in a private hospital in Winebiddle avenue. Sarah, the daughter, returned to her work today behind a North Side soda fountain after spending her vacation in the hospital.

Court Grants Bail To Accused Husband

Bruno Stulpin, Walkers Heights, Elizabeth, charged by his wife with non-support, was admitted to $500 bail by Judge Harry Rowland, of Common Pleas court, this morning. The hearing on a habeas corpus petition will be continued next week.

Bruno claims that he did not know the whereabouts of his wife and children for the past two years. He states that his wife deserted him, taking the children from their home in Elizabeth.

Germans Say British Back Kurd Revolt

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—(INS.)—The German press, commenting on the revolt of the Kurds and the Turkish invasion of Persia, charged today that the hand of England was behind the unrest. The Deutsche Allgemeine claimed the Kurds were armed with the most modern British rifles and machine guns.

Yale President To Leave Hospital

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, who has been in New Haven Hospital since early in July, is to leave the hospital this week.

Dr. Angell was operated upon for what hospital attaches described as "a somewhat serious ailment."

RUSSELLTON MAN LOSES SAVINGS

Barber Lets Visitors Hold His Money as Sign of 'Good Faith;' They Vanish

Police in Pittsburgh and throughout the Allegheny Valley today were on the lookout for two bunco men to whom Martin Suvicki, a barber, of Russellton, lost his life savings of $1,200 yesterday.

Two Spaniards walked into Suvicki's shop and told of inheriting a castle and $65,000 in Spain. Fearing, they said, to take the trip alone, the two promised Suvicki a third interest in the inheritance if he would accompany them over the sea.

One of the men before going to a steamship agency for "information" handed Suvicki $4,000 "as evidence of good faith."

When he returned with unsatisfactory information it was suggested that the barber make the trip to the agency.

"Evidence of good faith" also was sought from Suvicki. He handed the pair his $1,200 before he departed for the information. When he returned a half hour later with steamship schedules and rates, the "heirs" and the cash were gone.

DRYS TAKE CAR, ARREST TWO

Two men were at liberty on $500 bond each today as a result of the seizure of an automobile and a raid on a club in McKees Rocks late yesterday.

The agents said they trailed the machine from Pittsburgh until it reached the rear door of the club at 372 Helen street. There, the raiders reported, Richard Connolly, 23, of 7 Jacksonia street, carried two cases of whisky from the car into the club. His arrest, seizure of the automobile and a raid on the club followed.

In the club three half-barrels of beer and several bottles of moonshine were found, according to the agents. Matt Vargoveck, 52, was arrested as the proprietor, it was reported.

SAVE 20 HORSES AS FIRE RAGES

Twenty riding horses were led to safety early this morning as volunteer firemen fought the stubborn blaze which threatened the Carr Riding Academy and adjoining buildings in Hampton Township.

For more than two hours Hampton firemen, assisted by Undercliffe volunteers, were kept extremely busy. The Carr residence, a frame structure, was destroyed. Firemen succeeded in removing the furniture.

When the flames threatened the stables firemen blindfolded the horses and led them out. The fire also endangered nearby residences.

MORE BABIES IN PRIZE CONTEST

Is there anything in the world more beautiful than a beautiful baby? Is there any city in the world where there are more beautiful babies than in our own Pittsburg?

These questions will be settled for all-time when the city-wide quest for pretty little boys and girls ends next Thursday. From the present outlook it would seem that the baby beauty contest just inauguarated by the Sun-Telegraph, in conjunction with the Kroger Stores, is going to bring out a wealth of pulchritude never before dreamed of.

Many are being entered for the contest which is to be the big feature at the Kroger Stores' picnic in Kennywood Park Thursday, August 21.

And don't you think that there will be any babies overlooked. Manager A. B. McSwigan, of Kennywood Park and H. D. Sparks, General Manager of the Kroger Stores, has offered special prizes to the local managers of these stores who turn in the largest number of entry blanks.

There will be no less than a dozen handsome silver cups for the prettiest babies selected by the judges and lots of other prizes.

You can get an entry blank at any of the Kroger Stores without any cost. Watch the Sun-Telegraph for additional details.

Fires on Sheriff, Taken for Robber

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—A woman motorist, who thought she was being held up, shot at Sheriff Frank Stoutamire, of Leon County, on a highway near here, but missed him.

WOMAN ROUTS 3 BANDITS

Ignoring the warnings of three young men who forced their way into her confectionary store early today, Mrs. Pauline Sargot, of 2234 Tustin street, struck a revolver from the hand of one of the intruders and struggled with him. Her screams frightened the would-be robbers and, after knocking her down, the three fled.

Mrs. Sargot was asleep in her apartment over the store when the three began pounding on the store door. She opened the door to inquire their business and the three forced their way in.

Mrs. Sargot described the men to Police Captain John Schnurr telling him they had fled in an automobile toward the South Side. Schnurr and several officers followed and at Carson and Nineteenth streets arrested William Gamble, 18, and his brother, Russell, 24, both of 1910 Forbes street. The two were seated in the machine, parked in Nineteenth street.

PROTEST BAD SIDEWALK

Complaints have been received at the Pittsburgh Motor Club protesting the hazardous condition that exists between Etna and Elfinwild, because of the lack of suitable sidewalk along the Mount Royal Boulevard.

Robert L. Wickline, chairman of the Highway Safety Committee of the Motor Club in an appeal to Director Norman Brown of the Allegheny County department of public works to have a sidewalk placed under construction, stated that because of the rapid growth of the district hundreds must run a daily risk of accident to reach the street cars, stores and schools. He pointed out that the number of accidents have increased so rapidly that the situation has become acute.

Stolen Washing Machines Traced by 'Want Ad'

On July 30 a truck containing two washing machines was stolen from in front of 570 Lincoln avenue. The truck was soon recovered, but for a long time it looked as though the machines had vanished forever.

The detectives watched the classified columns of the papers, and in a few days two washing machines were offered for sale cheap.

The detectives bided their time, and then swooped down upon David Weiberg, of 836 Annaheim street, and confiscated the two machines, which were identified by L. L. Gibbs of the washing machine company, they said.

Weiberg now awaits trial on the charge of larceny and the detectives chortle with glee whenever "want" ads are mentioned.

RAIL DETECTOR FINDS FLAWS

Minute fissures which might develop into defects in rails are being discovered through the use of recently perfected electrical detectors, according to E. W. Smith, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

A car fitted with the detector device is traveling west over the main line of the Pennsylvania toward Pittsburgh. A stationary detector has been installed at Verona, Pa., where rails taken from Central Region main line tracks are "cropped," that is, the ends are cut off and new holes drilled, before being put back into service, generally on secondary tracks.

The testing device, invented by the late Elmer Sperry, and known as the Sperry Fissure Detector, will disclose the smallest flaw, worn condition, crystallization, fissure or other imperfection in a rail.

Three Mills Make Demands At Concluding Hearings Before State Commission

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13.—Steel companies in Eastern Pennsylvania today asked the Public Service Commission to extend to them any reduction in freight rates if granted to mills in the Pittsburgh district. The eastern plants should receive the same benefits through any lowering of freight rates, the commission was told.

The companies asking for lower freight rates in the East were the Phoenix Bridge Company, Phoenixville; Bethlehem Steel Company and the Lukens Steel Company, Coatesville.

Demands of the eastern mills were made here today at the concluding hearings before Commissioners Shelby and Young on complaint of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company and other plants against freight rates on carload lot shipments charged by a number of rail carriers.

The complainants' chief argument is that the switching connections in the Pittsburgh area are limited as compared with the switching connections in St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland.

"Long rate" hauls, which are under protest, according to the complainants, are greater in the Pittsburgh territory than in the other areas because the long haul begins at a much closer point to the steel mills in the Pittsburgh area.

These she says she indorsed over to Wollett with a verbal agreement that he was to use the money to build her a house on a lot owned by her deceased husband in Crosby avenue. She avers Wollett kept the money and declined to build the house or return the cash, but in January, 1928, he built a house on a lot owned by him at 2730 Louisana avenue which he agreed to deed to her. She says that in November, 1928, she paid Wollet an additional $25 and moved in, but when she asked Wollett to give her the deed he declined.

MOTHER, SON AND YOUNGER CHILDREN IN FAMILY IN WHICH FATHER, SKILLED CARPENTER, CAN'T FIND WORK

If the young man, 17, at the left of this picture had shoes instead of the galoshes he's wearing and had a shirt so that he could leave the house, perhaps someone would give him work so that he could help get food for his hungry family. There are 13 in all.

Family of 13, Destitute, Sleep in Old Barn, Live on Milk

A windowless, doorless log cabin for the family fireside and the second floor of a ramshackle barn as the bedroom for a destitute family of mother, father, nine children and two grandchildren today is a problem for the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society.

The father, Walter Shields, 51, a carpenter, handicapped by partial deafness and an artificial leg, cannot find employment. The mother, Pearl, 34, tries to appease her children's hunger with three gallons of milk received each day from their cow and the apples and berries that grow on their productionless farm about two miles off to the south of the Trafford City-Greensburg road, near Trafford City.

Cornelius, 17, finds his youth a drawback to getting employment and without shoes or even a shirt cannot journey to town to look for work. The brothers and sisters are Gale, 15; Dorothy, 14; Walter, 12; Ethel, 10; Frank, 6; Irene, 5, and Robert, 2 months. There is also a married daughter and two babies.

Their humble abode is rent free for two years with the understanding the father make repairs to the buildings, according to Humane Officer Amos C. Books.

Agent Books stated the father was an excellent carpenter, that the family was industrious until a turn of luck forced them from a little farm just to the north of the road. Unable to pay the rent, they were forced to leave their garden and its needed foodstuff.

Food and clothing is the quest of Agent Books for the family's immediate needs.

To reach the family, take Route 993 out of Trafford for about 2 miles, turning right on a dirt road about 100 feet beyond the first garage and store together on the right. Follow about 2 miles, going right at the fork and straight head at crossroads, then taking the first lane to the left.

When the three learned the lodge was not recognized by Masonic authorities in Grafton, they made complaints.

WRIT AGAINST WARDEN DENIED

Judge Harry Rowland of the Common Pleas court refused the plea of Arthur Jackson, 22 Broadway street, Carnegie, directed against Warden John McNeil to be released from jail on a habeas corpus writ. Jackson was admitted to bail in the sum of $500.

Jackson says Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillan, of Carnegie, committed him to the prison unlawfully. He says that February he leased, from McMillan, as agent, a house owned by Paul Braunstein, paying $35 a month. On August 6 he proffered the August rent to McMillan, who he says refused to accept it unless he paid $12.50 additional water rent, despite the fact the lease stipulated the owner was to pay the water rent. He says the warrant on which he is now in jail charges him with larceny for removing his household goods from the house after they had been levied upon.

Taylor, James Taylor and Katherine Taylor, all of Brownsville, and Edward Taylor, of Fredericktown; also two sisters and two brothers, one of whom is Charles Taylor, of Pittsburgh.

Maloney Funeral.

Funeral services were to be held today for Timothy Daniel Maloney, 85, retired coke manufacturer, who died Sunday in his home, 909 North Negley avenue. Services were to be held in St. Raphael's Catholic Church and burial was to be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Mr. Maloney, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, was in business here more than 40 years, retiring six years ago. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having been a drummer boy in the Eighth Pennsylvania Reserves.

Harry F. Batchelor.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The body of Harry Foster Batchelor, 70, retired broker of Canton, O., and Pittsburgh, who died today in his home at Coral Gable, a suburb, will be sent to Steubenville, O., today for burial. Funeral services will be conducted in the home of Batchelor's sister, Mrs Robert McGowan. Besides the widow, Mrs. Ione W. Batchelor, he leaves one daughter, Agnes E. Batchelor, Boston, and one son, James W. Batchelor, Cleveland.

The Camera Question Box

Today's question—A Pittsburgh dance pavilion proprietor has urged pajamas as proper costume at the dance hall. Do you approve?

J. L. Mazur

J. L. MAZUR, salesman, Neville Island—Certainly I approve. There isn't anything wrong with it and a girl should feel just as sufficiently dressed in pajamas as in short skirts.

MRS. A. CROMIE, clerk, Homewood—There's no more harm in wearing pajamas at a dance than there is in wearing them through the streets. They're better than a lot of the evening gowns these days anyway.

Mrs. Cromie

W. M. Smith

W. M. SMITH, assistant shop manager, Bellevue—If girls are more comfortable in pajamas than in other clothes I don't see why they shouldn't wear them if they want to.

W. B. GRAY, salesman, Greentree—No, I don't approve of that at all. It's carrying modern ideas a little too far and it isn't the right thing. The line should be drawn some place.

W. B. Gray

Miss Campbell.

MISS F. M. CAMPBELL, stenographer, Oakland—No, I don't approve of that idea. There shall be a certain amount of decency, and an evening gown or some other kind of a dress should be worn at a dance.

HYMEN KADES, shop manager, Squirrel Hill—Yes I think that's not a bad idea. If pajamas are cooler why shouldn't they be worn so people can stay indoors and keep cool instead of having to go outside.

Prisoner's Holidays Bring Sheriff Fine

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Charged with contempt of court for permitting a federal prisoner his liberty at various times from the Kennebec County Jail, Sheriff Chester W. Getchell, of Augusta, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 in the United States District Court.

Evidence uncovered by a Department of Justice operative showed the officer had permitted Wallace Cormier, serving a sentence for a liquor violation, to leave the jail several times under guard.

B. P. W. Club Outing on Aug. 23-24

Representatives of business and professional clubs from all over the state will gather at Hotel Conneaut, Conneaut Lake Park, for the second annual summer outing Saturday and Sunday, August 23 and 24, with the Meadville organization as hostess club. Miss Harriet P. Sterling is general chairman and has Miss Minnie Werle, Miss Elizabeth Remler, Miss Freida Reimund, Miss Gertrude Dee Thomas and Mrs. Margaret Sherwood Dankey as her assistants.

The program for Saturday night and a boat ride on the steamer "Pennsylvania" are in charge of the Meadville club, the clubs in neighboring cities having been asked to provide the program for Sunday breakfast and luncheon.

The outing will start with dinner, followed by a short entertainment and a program during the boat ride.

Last year, at the first outing, invitations were extended only to the clubs in Sharon, New Castle, Erie, North East, Greenville, Warren, Corry, and other neighboring points, but the affair was so successful that this year invitations were sent to all clubs in the state. Reservations have already been received from clubs as far away as Lancaster, Wellsboro, Williamsport and Harrisburg.

The Meadville club has dispensed with its regular meeting for August 18 and it is probable many other clubs will do likewise in anticipation of the outing.

In addition to cards at the bundle party which the service shop committee of Pittsburgh Council of Jewish Women will give next Wednesday at Webster Hall, there will be swimming. Mrs. Charles Sachs is acting chairman for the shop, the stock of which is to be replenished from the bundles for admission. Two displays, one showing the work of the Industrial League and the other that of the Handicraft Guild, will be shown, the latter under Mrs. Irving Lerman's chairmanship and the former under Mrs. Oscar Oppenheimer. Mrs. Charles Reizenstein is chairman for the day and Mrs. Louis Schwar will direct fortune telling. Schwarz will direct fortune telling.

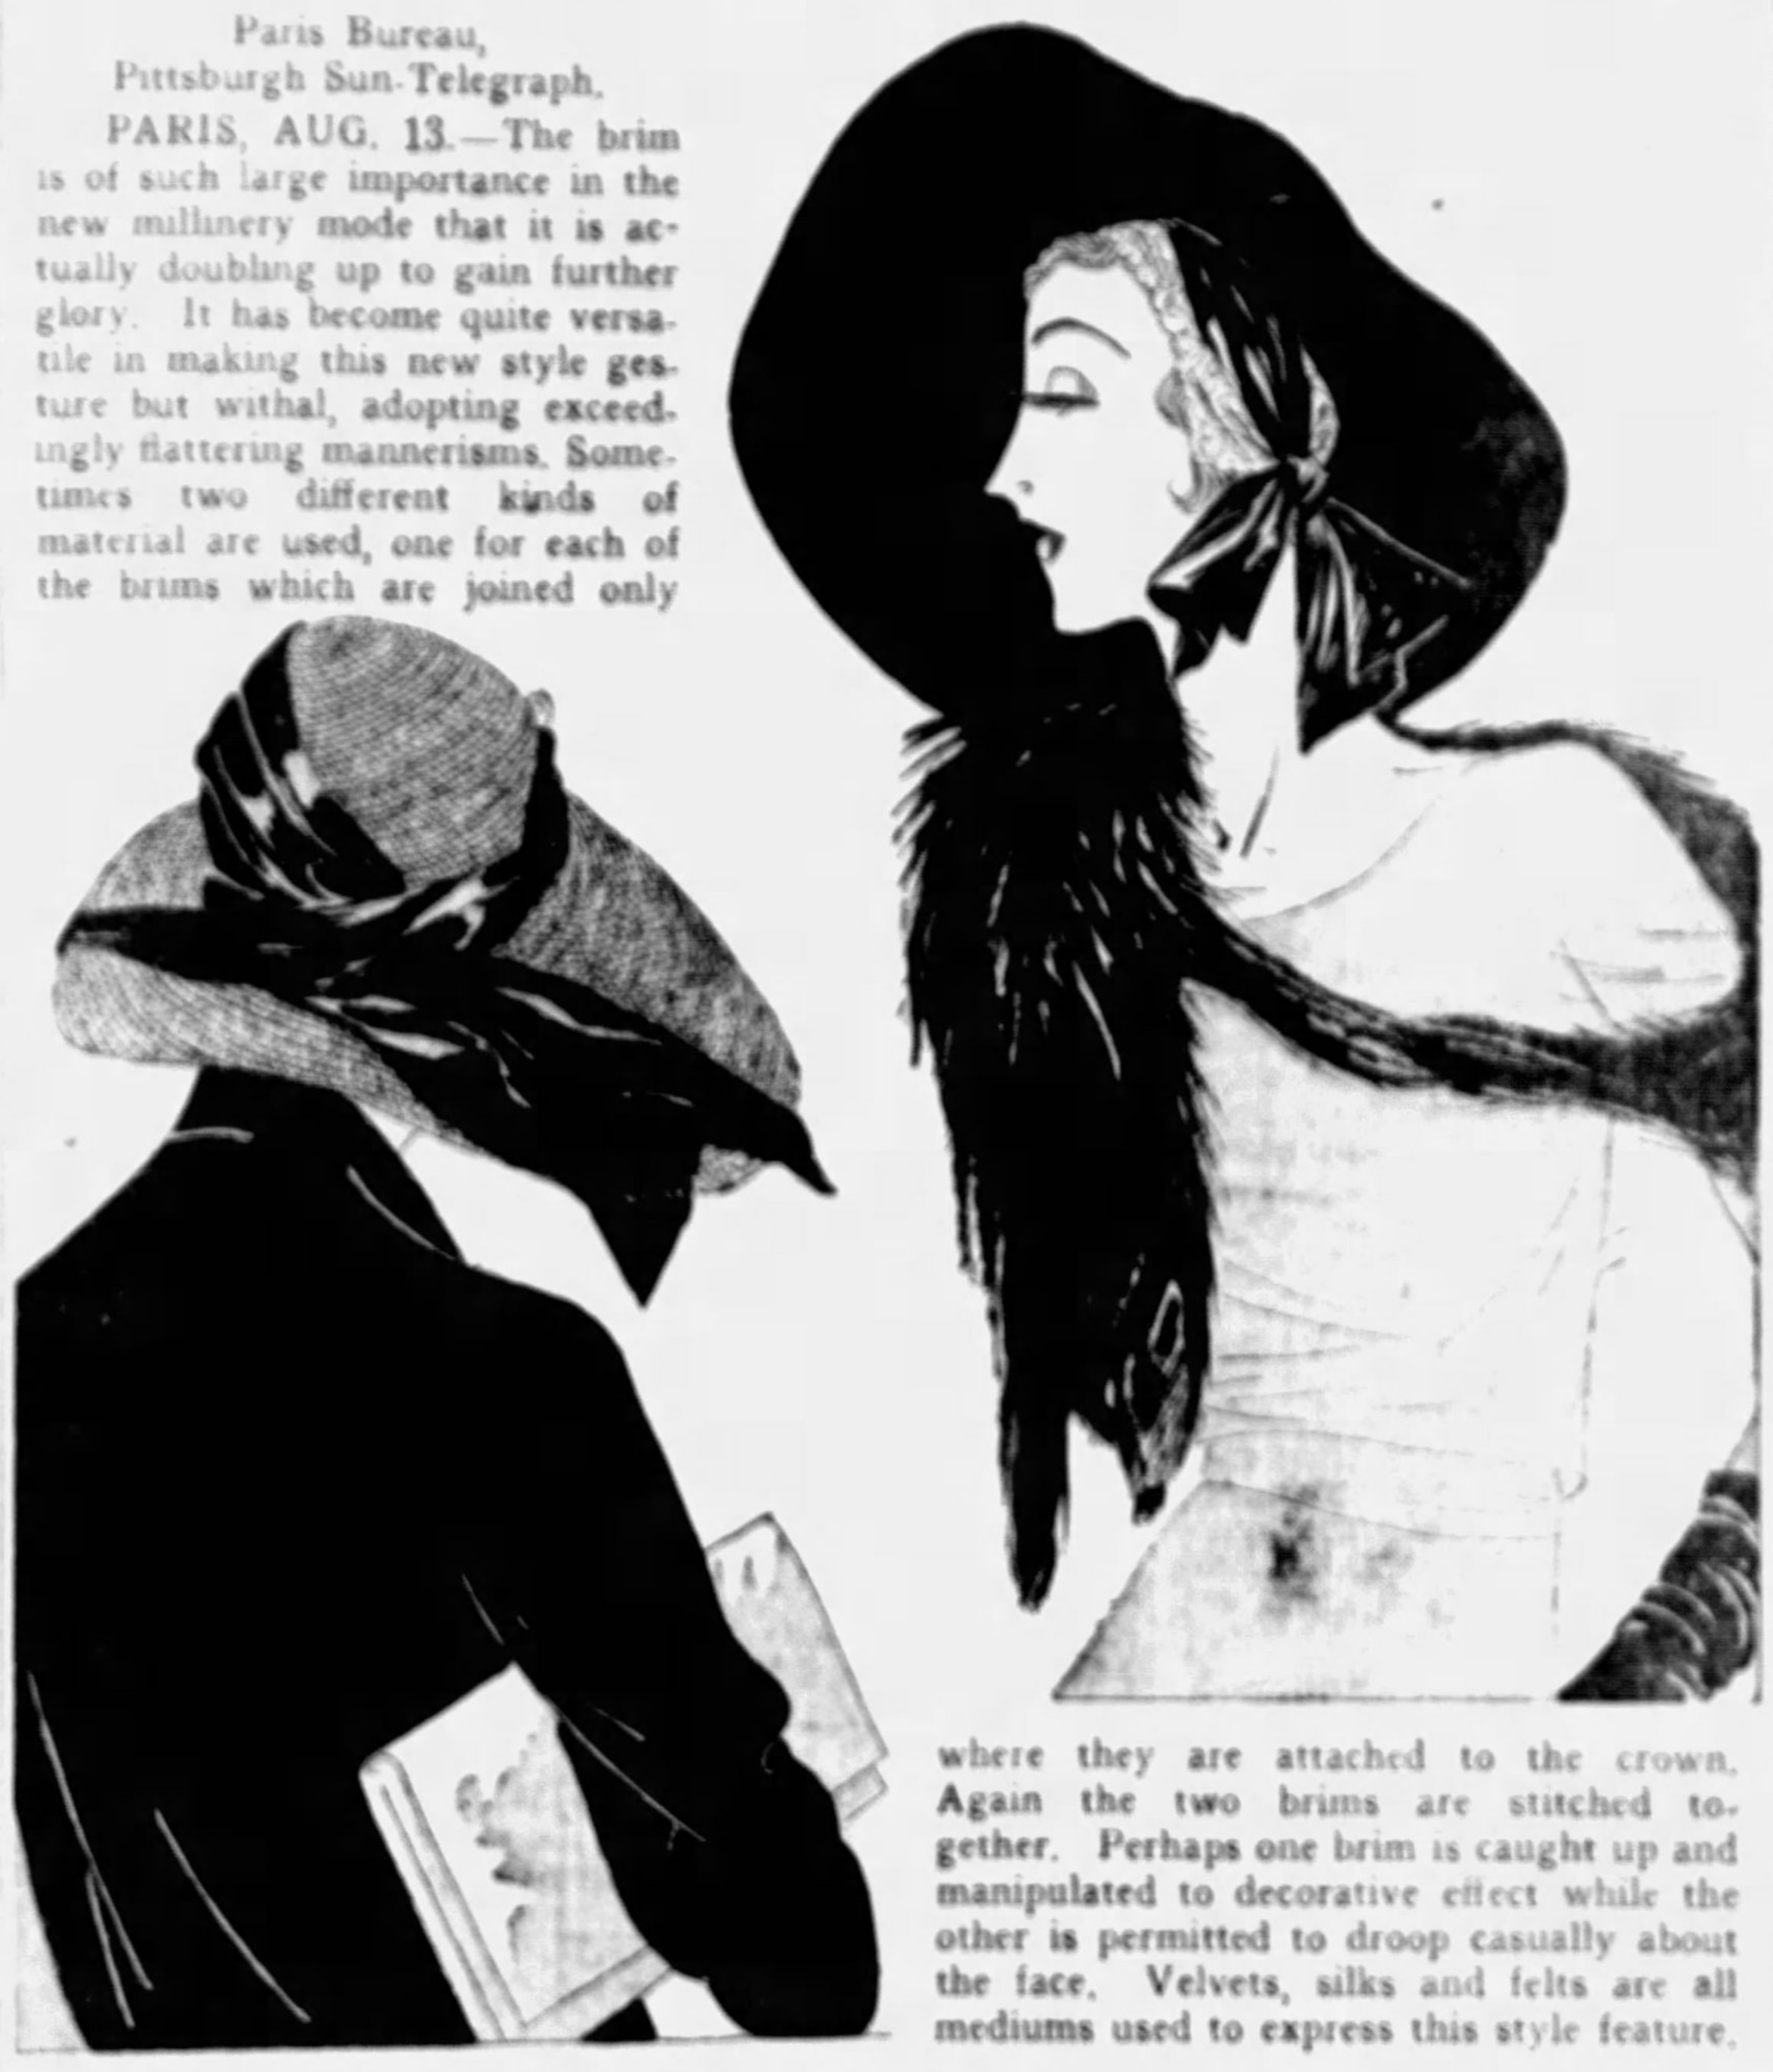
DOUBLE BRIMMED HATS LATEST CREATION IN MILLINERY MODE

—Sketched in Paris—



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, AUG. 13.—The brim is of such large importance in the new millinery mode that it is actually doubling up to gain further glory. It has become quite versatile in making this new style gesture but withal, adopting exceedingly flattering mannerisms. Sometimes two different kinds of material are used, one for each of the brims which are joined only where they are attached to the crown. Again the two brims are stitched together. Perhaps one brim is caught up and manipulated to decorative effect while the other is permitted to droop casually about the face. Velvets, silks and felts are all mediums used to express this style feature.

IT IS INTERESTING to note the attention accorded the wide brimmed hats in collections here just now when the beret is reaching the pinnacle of favor. A scant little affair, the beret is literally no more than a cap in many instances. It is developed of a flat fur or a fabric such as velvet, is perched far back on the head and maintains a firm position of approved chic.

ALL THIS WOULD seem to indicate that during the past season when brimmed and unbrimmed models each found an important place in the mode, women learned the advantage of radical change in headwear. Instead of being known by the type of hat that is worn, how much more interesting to revitalize one's personality by donning a hat of entirely different character! Couturiers are revealing this secret by emphasizing the importance of both large and small hats for fall and winter.

ANOTHER INTERESTING brimmed version of the mode seen at the same event was a large natural leghorn with black satin ribbon draped about the crown. It was worn with a tailored black velvet coat.

Neatness, a pleasant disposition and a quiet manner I would place foremost, as within the reach of all, and well worth cultivating.

We all have not good looks, but the prettiest girl can diminish her good looks if she is sullen, and spiteful, careless in dress, and too loud in her manner.

The actress we admire most and imagine was born with an extra amount of natural grace and good looks really owes her charm to self-improvement.

Raquel's Identity Sought By Passengers

CHAPTER XXV

Raquel and Greta circled the ship twice. The air was bracing. As if one had dipped into the corrugated gray-green of the ocean through which the liner was cutting a foamy furrow.

"I think I've walked enough," Raquel suggested.

Greta watched her with professional eyes.

"What's the matter, old dear?" she asked. "Don't tell me you're going to be seasick."

"I don't know. I feel kind of dizzy."

"My fault, dearie. You can't let it get you."

"Perhaps if I went to my room and lay down a while."

"Nothing doing. If you once go down you'll be there for the rest of the trip."

"Maybe the dizziness will pass."

"Yes, maybe. No use telling you to make up your mind you won't be sick. It's a lot of blooey setting yourself against it. The last man who gave me that story got a lemon between the eyes."

"What do you think I'd better do?" It was getting more difficult for Raquel to keep her feet.

Raquel Obeys

"Go right on up forward and park yourself in your deck-chair. Alphonse has our chairs out where we can get the sun. I saw them when we passed."

Greta hurried her along the deck.

"Here we are. Now you lie back and don't look at the water. That's fatal. Just sort of close your eyes and keep quiet. I'll get you some champagne."

"Oh, no. I don't want champagne."

"Of course you don't want it. But you've got to drink it just the same. It's the neatest thing to a cure there is. I'll get some from the bar."

Obediently Raquel sank into the chair. It was a reclining chair fixed with blankets that Greta tucked around her. Above her head, in a small metal square, was the name "Rojos."

Raquel Rojos was stretched in a reclining chair on the deck of the Gloire de France going to Paris!

The champagne revived her.

"Oh, boy," Greta rejoiced. "You respond to the treatment like a baby to a teething-ring. Didn't I tell you?"

Raquel nodded gratefully.

Alphonse found them there soaking in the sunshine. He had arranged a table for three in the dining-salon.

People passed, some walking briskly, others strolling.

Raquel noticed several men—the same men walking back and forth. Ostensibly intent on their morning constitutionals. In reality appraising her and Greta with stealthy eyes.

"Look out for the Big Parade," Greta whispered to her. "It's commenced already. It doesn't take these bimbos long to spot a couple of live numbers."

"Big Parade?"

"Uh-huh. Before long you'll see a line of ship cut-ups trying to get acquainted with us. Get this one. The sugar daddy with the baggy pants. And Mister Nifty with the golf make-up. Ain't he the cute country-club kid?"

Admired

Alphonse chuckled. He had heard what Greta was saying.

"You tell 'em, lady. I'm dumb," Greta tipped.

"Mademoiselle Raquel is right," said Alphonse. "These fellows have all the finesse of a fox that thinks to steal a bunch of grapes by barking at it. They look at you hungrily, mon petite Raquel. One cannot blame them."

"How about me? I'm here too," said Greta, bridling.

"You are a picture, cher Greta," he said. "But a picture one has seen before. Mademoiselle Raquel is different. She is something new in beauties."

"Well, I like that," pouted Greta. But Raquel knew she was not offended. Greta's wise eyes. Of what were they accusing her? Alphonse announced he would continue his walk.

A young man with thick glasses and a spare frame had settled himself in the chair next to Raquel.

"Meet my friend the professor," whispered Greta across Alphonse's empty chair. "Look what I drew. No one but sugar daddy with the baggy pants. Wouldn't you know it?"

Raquel drowsed in the sunshine. The dizziness was gone. A few winks and she'd be fresh as ...

She awakened to the touch of Alphonse's hand.

"If you are steady now it is well you make ready for luncheon," he said kindly.

"Say," Greta said, "you slept straight through the eats. I've sniffed two cups of bouillon and I've met three promising bimbos."

"Remember, Greta, you are to behave. I have your word," Alphonse warned.

"Yes, my good man. And I'll keep it. I won't dig, at least not so it's visible to the naked eye. Honest! Come on, Raquel. Let's put on the war-paint."

"You take this gray one," Greta advised, lifting a soft crepe with fluted skirt from Raquel's closet. "I'll stick to the tans. I might [illegible] a bum steer so I could outshine you if it wasn't that I like you—and Alphonse would catch me at it. Gosh, you're some little looker."

There were fresh flowers on their table in the dining salon, spicy red carnations and frail white ones like flakes of snow.

"You'll live," said Greta, watching Raquel. "You can still eat. That settles old man mal-de-mer."

Passengers Curious

Before dinner they must go for a swim in the pool. Complete bathing outfits were among their models.

"Oh," Raquel said regretfully. "I can't swim."

"Don't be sil," Greta giggled. "These are not that kind of bathing suits. What I mean, they are not sea-going. They are to look at, not to dip in. For a real swim I go to the pool about midnight when there's whoopee to make."

Raquel in a dinner gown of white velvet with opal tints in its lustrous depths.

"Who is that girl?" "Foreign, I'll bet." "Wonder what she uses to get that odd pallor." "She gets a man going just to look at her." Such were the comments of other passengers.

Ship's bells. Eleven o'clock.

"You might like to retire now," suggested Alphonse. "It's Mademoiselle Raquel's first day on the sea."

"But not mine," Greta said. "You hit the downy, old thing. I've got dirt to do."

"Remember, you are to behave. Your promise—"

"Like a lamb. Honest. Be down in a jiffy."

Alphonse left Raquel at the door of the suite. Kissed her hand with his graceful gallantry. There was something about the kiss—

Why, yes. It reminded her of that night on the edge of town, of Hermosa. Jack Farrell and she, Raquel, riding into the dark!

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Social Calls

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle this argument for me. My sister visited me some time ago from out of town. Was it proper for my sister to call on my niece, who lives in the same borough, or should my niece have called on my sister at my home? This has caused some hard feelings and I would like to know what your opinion is.

MRS. I.

According to the laws of hospitality it would have been correct and hospitable and gracious for your niece to have come to call on your sister at your home.

Accepting Jewelry Gifts

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been going about with a young man for more than a year. We are not engaged. Is it correct for me to accept jewelry from him as a birthday gift?

I. E. W.

No—Mrs. Grundy does not allow this. And, whether we wish to grant it or not, she is a wise lady. For she knows that too often this will cause regret, deep regret, and perhaps chagrin.

The Proper Tie

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The writer is desirous of knowing whether it is proper for a bridegroom to wear a wing collar with a white bow tie and a dark blue street suit, or would a black bow tie be more correct?

P. T. M.

I am not a bit in favor of your wearing either of these suggestions. A white tie, either a bow or a four-in-hand, with a business suit always gives the impression that the groom is trying to combine formal wedding accessories with informal clothes. Now the best rule for dressing is the selection of appropriate accessories. When the groom wears a business suit he should wear the best-looking tie that he can find of the fashion most becoming to him. And usually this is the four-in-hand tie of a dark blue or black background, with narrow white stripes, singly or in groups. Or often a gray and black combination is good. But not a white bow tie and not a funeral black bow tie.

Harry's Sporting Attitude Relieves Lillian's Anxiety

At Dicky's inquiry as to the "program" we had mapped out, Harry Underwood clapped me lightly on the shoulder.

"Run along up to Lil," he said affectionately. "I'll interview this husband of yours, or rather, kindly permit him to interview me. Come, Dicky-bird, flap your wings. I have reason for haste."

A glance from the door to which I had hurried at Mr. Underwood's injunction showed me the two men tramping toward the orchard in comradely fashion. There was a fallen tree at the further end which made a delightful seat in summer, and which I guessed was their objective upon this mild winter day. There was something in the set of the elder man's massive squared shoulders which assured me that whatever Dicky's objections might be to Lillian's visit to dying Robert Savarin and to my accompanying her, they would be vanquished by Harry's eloquence.

As I neared Lillian's door, however, I realized that after all I had taken much for granted when I was talking to my friend's husband. Robert Savarin had not put his wish to see Lillian once more into words. Neither had she said directly that she felt she must go to see the man who had loved her so deeply and so hopelessly. Suppose I had been mistaken in the look she had given me!

But when I had tapped upon her door, had heard her faint "Come in," and had seen the strained anxiety in her eyes when I entered, my fears fell away from me and when I had locked the door behind me, I answered the question which I guessed she was afraid to voice.

"Harry was wonderful, dearest," I said quickly, "so sympathetic and comprehending."

"Oh!" Just the monosyllable, but explosive in its relief. "I was so afraid he—"

"I know," I told her, "and I do not mean that he wasn't a bit upset at first. He wouldn't be the man he is and tremendously in love with you—as he is—if he took news like this lightly. But it didn't take him long to have it out with himself and he surely emerged with banners."

"Did he read Robert's letter?" she said in low abashed tones. "I called after you, but you had gone beyond my voice. I should not have sent that letter to Harry."

"He refused to read it," I said, "but after I had told him everything I made him read one paragraph—this." I held out the letter to her, folded as I had given it to her husband. "Perhaps I am wrong, but I have the feeling that Robert would not object to his reading that part—that perhaps he secretly hoped Harry might read it."

Her eyes leaped to mine, startled.

"So you thought that, too," she said, and I nodded.

"It doesn't matter what Robert thought when he penned those words," I went on. "The only important thing now is his joy when he hears what has come of that reading. Can you guess the message your husband has sent to you, dearest?"

There was no vestige of color in her face and her lips were stiff as she said: "Tell me, quickly!"

"He is coming shortly to you to say it all himself," I told her, "but he wanted me to tell you that he wished you to go to Robert Savarin, not once but as many times as you saw fit, and to stay as long as he needed you. And I am going with you."

She swayed slightly and put out her hand gropingly, as if she could not see me. I caught it between mine and drew her to me.

"Steady, old dear!" I said, making my voice prosaic. "We must start today, you know—there is no use in delaying things, and I must see to everything before I go, for we cannot tell just how long we may be gone."

"Perhaps we may go on tonight," I said. "I'll see what Harry says. Or suppose you ask him."

"No, no," she shrank away from my clasp. "You—talk to him."

"All right," I returned laconically. "Come now, lie down."

I led her to the bed as if she were a child ready for a nap, and tucked her in. Then I opened a window.

"Don't you dare get up, not even for Harry, until I come back. I'll let you know when it's time to start on our journey."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, August 14

A lively and eventful day may be prepared for albeit it will unfold some obstructions of new undertakings and the financial prospects will need much fortification and wise management. Much brilliant initiative is shown, with advancement and probable preferment or favors from those in authority or superiors. There may be a sudden and far reaching change, but this will call for utmost discretion and consideration, lest it prove decidedly to the disadvantage. Peculiar situations are liable to tax the ingenuity.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden and quite unforseen circumstances, with change or travel and new enviroment. But employment carries fine prospects of promotion or preferment from those in authority. The finances are critically aspect and new ventures are not encouraged.

A child born on this day will be brilliant, enterprising and versatile, but disposed to take long chances. Employment should be its forte.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

My Son, fear not, lest woman may become dizzy with power, and seek to snatch man's sceptre and to tyrannise over him.

For lo, Woman may have ceased to rock the cradle and learned to run the flivver, but never will she seek to rule the world.

Nay, never shall Woman tyrannize over Man even as he hath tyrannized over HER! For, verily, she may have cut off her hair and cast aside her corsets and her shackles, but still is she, at heart, a RIB!

Go to. Never will a woman leave her husband ALONE, evenings, while she goeth out to her club and her lodge meetings. For, she knoweth better than to leave a man to his own devices. And, she is aware that when she returneth, he will not be watching the clock or putting the water-waves in his hair!

Never will a woman keep her mouth closed and refuse to tell a man her secret thoughts. For, man hath thus tortured woman all his days; but TELLING is woman's delight and that which is in her mind is soon out of her mouth.

Verily, no woman will deny her husband a new hat, nor seek to curb his extravagance in headgear! For persuading a husband to purchase a new hat, before the old one hath fallen from his head, is the feat of a woman's life!

She will not expect him to pick up her things; neither to find her shoes, nor to hunt for her lost umbrella!

For, she knoweth that in all days of his life, NO man hath ever found anything for which he searched!

She will not urge him to stay at home and "putter around the house" even as he hath counseled her to do. For, a man around the house all day is a trial to the spirit and a torment to the nerves. And, no woman can BEAR it!

She will not rave and cover him with wrath and contumely, when he bobbeth his hair. Nay, verily. For, hath she not spent three-quarters of her life in inducing him to get a hair-cut, when he needed it?

How then, do men fear the tyranny of woman?

* * *

For if, in all these ways, wherein man hath tormented her, she declineth to bully him, how then shall she "tyrannize" over him?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Hurried Eating Brings Miseries of Indigestion

Too many of us disobey the rules of right living through ignorance. If more persons understood why they feel miserable, why poor health pursues them, they would change their methods of living.

DR. COPELAND

A common cause for ill health begins in the mouth. I should like to explain the process of chewing the food so that you can see its important bearing on digestion.

The average capacity of the stomach is about five pints. Food is not properly prepared for the stomach until it is chewed and thoroughly mixed with the saliva.

In the process, a great deal or saliva or "spittle" is required. Perhaps you will be astonished when I tell you that the glands of the mouth supply an amount of saliva equal to the capacity of the stomach, five pints. During the entire 24 hours this liquid pours into the mouth and ultimately reaches the stomach.

The salivary fluid is more than 99 per cent water, while one-half of 1 per cent consists of solids. Among these solids are substances known as "enzymes." Their full function is not fully known, but the enzymes of the saliva have the power to produce chemical changes in food taken into the mouth.

The body cannot handle starch. It is too complicated a compound to be absorbed. Before the food or starch can be digested it must be changed into sugar. To make this change the enzymes are given us by nature.

Our foods, such as fruits, vegetables and cereals, all consist largely of starch, as do potatoes, bread, beans, peas and many of the common foods. Some of the grains of starch are packed away in firm envelopes of fibrous materials. Probably one-half the things we eat are made up of starch.

Our strong teeth grind and cut the food up fine. At the same time the saliva pours into the mouth, and with the chewing motion of the jaws it is thoroughly mixed with the food. You can see why it is necessary not to bolt the food.

You will notice that as you chew the food begins to taste sweet. That is because the starches have been transformed into sugar. On swallowing the mass it passes into the stomach, where the salivary enzymes of the stomach go to work. Then, whatever starch is left is taken up by the fluids of the organ known as the pancreas, or "sweetbread." But the more carefully you chew your food the less will be the demand made on the stomach and the better you will feel.

Thousands of persons suffer from indigstion because they bolt their food without proper chewing. We all need the coarser foods of generations ago in order that we may use our jaws more vigorously.

If you have this bad habit of eating hurriedly and not chewing your food thoroughly change your habit. Eat slowly and be free from the miseries of indigestion and poor health.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Greater than the benefits of cosmetics is the constant effort to make oneself pleasing. The woman with a philosophy, she who lets her mental motor click, knows that physical perfections are as nothing without charm of manner, a nice consideration of one's fellow creatures, the soft word in place of the sharp one. An unpleasant nature stamps itself upon the countenance. It creates poisons in one's inner-sides which destroy the temple of pulchritude and make a gal of 30 look like 60.

Upon the cut and fabric of her attire depends the good appearance of the woman who carries with her more adipose tissue than the female form requires. Curves should be curtained, not revealed. The low cut back of the evening frock displays rolls of fat when the wearer has them, while the high line hides them. When the upper arms are too plump, flimsy draperies of chiffon or tulle are a help. Women who are afflicted with fatted calves regard the lowered hemline as the greatest blessing of 1930.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

If Your Husband's Heart Cooled Toward You—Could You Keep Your Own Heart From Filling With Hate?

Could you let him go his way without thinking him a criminal? Without seeking revenge?

Or would you use your hate as a club over his head—hurting him in every possible way—teaching his children to shun him as a leper?

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," goes the old saying—and many a divorce case proves it. Yesterday daddy was a beloved hero to the little tads at home. Today he's that bad, bad man who made poor mamma cry—and poor mamma misses no opportunity to rub it in. With the result that the youngsters grow up thinking dad's a monster of cruelty and deceit.

But now and then there's a woman, so fine and fair and brave that she can rise above her own hurt and be just to both men and babies. A rare sight and a gallant one—for there's no more cruel challenge to a woman's spirit than such a blow. But here today is Ellen who came through that challenge victorious. Could you—would you have done what she dared to do?

SORRY FOR FOSTER

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I've just been reading Allan Foster's letter, and my heart aches for him, despite the fact that he thinks he can't expect sympathy from any woman. I know just how he feels, and I am very sorry for him. I am sure there are many more than I, too, who feel the way I do.

"You see my husband and I are divorced too. And we have two fine boys—twins, now fourteen.

"I am perfectly ready to say that my husband always was and still is, a wonderful man even if we couldn't get along. We were both too temperamental, and therein lies the fault. I know that our trouble was just as much my fault as his, even though I loved him deeply. Our clashing temperaments made it impossible for us to get along together. But I don't feel angry and vengeful toward him on that account.

"And I realize that even though I couldn't get along with him, he, as well as I, have a perfect right to the love and respect of our children . . . a perfect right to see them and be with them. Although the court awarded them to me.

"After the divorce, I asked him, for the children's sake as well as his own, to come to see them as often as he wished. And he has done so. He comes and takes them to the movies . . . or on week-end trips. And he always takes them with him on his vacations, usually spent in the woods, fishing, swimming, boating, camping in the open; in fact all the joys that a small boy delights in, which in spite of her vaunted mother love, a woman can't always give him.

MOTHER'S GUIDANCE

"I do believe that the mother should be given the raising of the children . . . that is if she is capable and hasn't let bitterness sour her, because the care of babies and young children has been instilled in woman for ages past, by the simple fact of her part in bringing them here and being with them more than men. Am I right?

"But I realize, too, that a father has rights . . . and that his children have a right to believe in him, because it enriches their lives and gives them a balanced outlook on life.

"I repeat I am sorry for Allan Foster . . . and I am especially sorry for his children. You see, I understand what their mother is doing to them. I am a child of divorce myself. And I have known many such. Bitterness, reflected from their mother's anger at the failure of herself and their father to make a go of marriage, often embitters their lives and makes it hard for them to grow up rightly and happily. It's a heavy load for a child to carry. Much, much too heavy, sometimes. I wonder if these women who feed their hearts on hate ever think of that side of it?

"ELLEN LANE."

A great letter, Ellen—as brave a letter as ever came to this column. And I'm hoping thousands will read it. But, still, I'm going to challenge one statement in it.

WOMEN'S WORK

"This woman should be allowed to raise the children"—

Should she? Has the training of centuries really instilled mothercraft in women? I wonder. I've seen oodles of the most complacent mothers who knew just about as much about their jobs as a china door knob. They weren't "bad" or "sour"—but omigosh they were dumb! Yet they would have indignantly demanded the care of their darling children in any divorce court, and the judge who wouldn't give it to them would have been mobbed.

Revolutionary as it may seem, I believe that the average man makes quite as good a job of bringing up a child as the average mother.

And if that doesn't start a riot in this column, I'm going to go out of the dynamite business.

When the glass oven door becomes blackened, or loses its pristine beauty, scour it with baking soda and it will once more gleam.

Before sewing hooks and eyes on clothing, it is a good idea to boil them in a solution to which soda has been added. Then they will not rust when the clothing is laundered.

EVEN BREAK WOULD HAVE WON FLAG

IF THE CUBS are out in front when the National League season closes, their pennant success will have been due mainly to the fact that they were able personally to take care of the job of throwing back the one club which they had to beat in order to land on top. And the failure of the Robins to realize their mid-summer championship hopes will have been due to a dismal fall-down in hand-to-hand competition with that one particular rival. The Brooklynites have won the majority of their games this year from every other club in the league except Chicago, but that single failure threatens to wipe out all that they have accomplished against the remainder of the field. The spot that they picked out to make their poorest showing was the one where reverses meant the greatest damage to their flag chances.

Dazzy Vance.

To show how costly the loss of 12 of their first 16 games with the Bruins has been to the Brooklyn athletes, it need only be pointed out that if the Robins had merely broken even in those 16 contests they would have gained such a practically safe lead that in the event of their playing only .500 ball in their remaining 42 bouts it would have been necessary for the Bruins to win 30 of their remaining 44 tilts, a gait of .682, or for the Giants to win 31 out of 46, to beat them out.

THE INABILITY OF Dazzy Vance to maintain a mastery that he held over the Cubs in previous years has been the chief factor in Brooklyn's slump against Chicago this year. It used to be that Vance could beat the Chicago gang with his eyes closed. It was against that club as a rule that he made his biggest strike-out records.

In 1925, Dazzy trounced the Bears four times in the same number of starts. In 1928 he took five out of six from them. Even in his poorest season last year he downed them twice in three games. But this year, the Cubs have shaken off the old jinx so successfully that they have beaten Vance four times in five grapples with them. Dazzy gave them a great fight yesterday, but they finally slipped over the kayo in the eleventh round. Vance's lone success against the Bruins this season was a 7-to-1 decision over Charley Root at Chicago on June 26, the only game won by the Robins in the Windy City in the first eight played there.

IN THE FIRST game of the Pirate-Phil series, Ace Elliott, Quaker pitcher put over a trick that isn't seen very often when he struck out Pit Traynor twice in three straight times at bat.

Elliott first fanned the Pirate captain in the eighth round with the tying run on third base. In the twelfth he walked Comorosky intentionally with the winning run on second and fanned him again. This success eventually led to Elliott's undoing, however, for when he passed Comorosky purposely again in the fourteenth to bring up Traynor, Pie turned the tables by cracking out a single that won the game for the Bucs.

Pie Traynor.

LOCAL FANS CANNOT recall another occasion since 1926 when Traynor struck out twice in one game. The star third-sacker is rated one of the toughest batsmen in the major leagues to retire on strikes, and he ranks annually among the hitters who are charged with the fewest strikeouts. In 1927, Pie fanned only 11 times in 149 games, in 1928 only 10 times in 144 games, and last year only seven times in 130 games, a total of only 28 whiffs in three full seasons. This year, due chiefly to an eye ailment, he has struck out 12 times in 83 games, more strikeouts than have been charged against him in any complete recent campaign.*

SHERIFF FRED BLAKE, once a Pirate, has helped Chicago's pennant cause not a little this season by doing some stylish pitching against the Brooklyn club. The opening game of the present important series marked the third time he has been sent in to oppose the Robins, and he has come through on every occasion in impressive fashion.

In his three victories over the Flatbush tribe, Blake has held Wilbert Robinson's heavy hitters to a total of only five runs. He beat Vance, 3 to 1; Jumbo Elliott, 6 to 2, and then Vance again in 12 innings, 3 to 2. In the three engagements, the Robins got a total of 26 hits.

THE TRANSFER OF Leon Chagnon to Wichita in the Western League in the arrangement that brings Southpaw Charley Wood to the Pirates does not mean that the young right-hander will not be seen again in Buccaneer garb.

On the contrary, Chagnon is certain to be recalled by the Pittsburgh management in due time. Though he did not win a game for the locals, he showed plenty of promise, and with a little more seasoning is likely to win a regular berth on the Pirate staff.

Leon Chagnon.

MEANWHILE, THE COMING of Wood probably will serve to give the home slab corps some needed bolstering. This young left-hander has been one of the outstanding pitchers of the year in the smaller minors, and in addition to his remarkable record of 21 victories out of 24 games hurled for Wichita he has piled up an unusual number of strike-outs. Admittedly, there is a considerable difference between pitching in the Western League and pitching in the National, but records like that of Wood are not made in any kind of league unless the pitcher has something more than a glove.*

A SECOND DUEL of speed and general racing qualities between Gallant Fox and Whichone is more than a possibility now. It's a certainty. The success of Whichone in winning the Whitney last Saturday by fourth lengths, following his victory in the Saranac Handicap on Wednesday, convinced his owner that he had fully recovered from the effects of his summer hoof injury.

Accordingly Harry Payne Whitney's horse will be started against Gallant Fox and the other entrants in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga next Saturday afternoon. So we're to have all over again the test which promised so much in the Belmont Stakes a couple of months ago, but which produced so little when it came to a show-down. The horses will be ridden by the same two jockeys—Earl Sande on Gallant Fox and Sonny Workman on Whichone.

THE REPORTED IMPROVEMENT in Whichone has not altered the popular opinion that Gallant Fox is the better horse. He appears to be able to do anything that Whichone can do, and then some. Possibly it will be a better race than was the Belmont, but that the result will be different seems unlikely.

Smith Beats Par In Warm-up Play

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 13—(AP.)—Par-cracking golf rattled from the clubs of Horton Smith, Cragston Yacht and C. C. professional, as he tramped around the Keller course in practice rounds for the pro tournament which starts Friday.

Smith's 70, two under par, stood as the best card turned in during the practice play this week, although perfect figures were equaled twice yesterday and three times today. The Joplin pro's round stamped him as a serious contender for the $2,500 first prize of the tournament.

Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del.; Charles Lacey, Clementsen, N. J., and Len Mattson, St. Paul, shot par 72's yesterday. Jock Hendry, St. Paul, and Mattson also had perfect scores Monday.

Nick Cullop Nears Bunny Brief's Record

CHICAGO, Aug. 13—(AP.)—Bunny Brief's 9-year-old American Association home run record was sinking fast today under the heavy bombardment of Nick Cullop's big bludgeon.

A week more of life at the most, was the generally accepted guess by baseball physicians.

With 44 more games to play, Cullop already had the menacing total of 39, three shy of the record that Brief posted at Kansas City in 1921, and which has stood the test since that time. The slugging Minneapolis outfielder whacked out his thirty-ninth circuit smash yesterday.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE SIZES OF YOUR SHOES ARE BASED ON GRAINS OF BARLEY—Shoe sizes are based on standards established by the Long Parliament in the Seventeenth Century. The theoretical lowest unit is the length of a grain of barley (or wheat) computed in higher units of 13. A HARE CAN RUN FASTER UPHILL THAN DOWN—A hare's front legs are much shorter than his hind ones. This conformation is an advantage when the animal is running uphill, while a downhill run is apt to upset its balance.

Game starts at 3:30.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

A bit weary from their 23 rounds of battle yesterday, the Pirates and Phillies today were ready for the conventional nine-inning fight. The third scrap of the five-game set is on for this afternoon. Remy Kremer or Heinie Meine will twirl for the Buccos, with Earl Collard all set for the Quaker assignment.

Manager Ens today was tickled over the slab performances given yesterday by Steve Swetonic and Glenn Spencer, his two clever young righthanders. North Side Steve with Ace Elliott of the Quakers, were mound heroes as the two teams reeled off a 14-inning masterpiece in the first clash of a double-header. Neither Swetonic nor Elliott was the starting pitcher, but each covered himself with glory as they twirled almost a complete ball game.

BUCS WIN PAIR

The Buccos won both ends of the double bill, Swetonic and Spencer being credited with the fights. The latter worked the whole of the nightcap, holding Burt Shotton's famed sluggers to seven hits. The scores were 8 to 7 and 8 to 3.

Swetonic was just as clever as Spencer, he yielding only four hits in seven rounds with the Quakers.

The Waner act went over like an explosion to win the inaugural, but it had to have some support from Capt. Pie Traynor to put on the finishing touch.

The extra innings were packed with thrills, the Buccos failing to score in several crises. Meantime, Swetonic was going great guns, but the enemy finally broke through for a run. Frank O'Doul opened the fourteenth with a walk and Chuck Klein doubled to put runners on third and second. Hurst's sacrifice fly was so long that Klein moved to third as O'Doul scored.

In this clinch, Swetonic fanned Whitney and there was no more scoring for the Phils.

LLOYD STARTS RALLY

Jim Mosolf batted for Swetonic in the home half. Jim fanned, but Brother Lloyd caused a wild uproar with a triple over Fred Brickell's dome. Brother Paul doubled to right-center and the stands were in confusion. Adam Comorosky, a big star of the afternoon, was purposely passed, but Pie crossed up the foe with a sharp single to center, scoring P. Waner with the winning run.

Ervin Brame was struck on the left hand with a batted ball early in the game. He pitched clever ball until the seventh, when the Phillies scored five runs and took the lead. The Pirates tied it up on Elliott, who relieved Swede Hansen in the seventh.

The Pirates gave the impression they might make a runaway out of the first game when they picked up four tallies in the first two rounds.

Klein scored in the fourth. He

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Back in 1908, old Sam Crawford, the Detroit slugger, led the American League in home runs with seven. Today they would hiss him if he didn't get that many in a week. A few years later Frank Baker got a reputation as the home run king for busting out a dozen. When you socked a four-base clout in those days, you got free clothes, free hats and boxes of cigars. Now you're lucky to get your name spelled right on the box score. When those old timers hear there have been almost 1,200 homers in the big league so far this season they must think the teams are playing on those midget golf courses.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 13.—Men's single contesting in the eleventh annual Western Maryland tennis championships passed well into the quarter final bracket on the courts of the women's service club here yesterday. Favored by another siege of bright, but not too torrid sun, the competition was continual from early morning till the dinner hour with result that the man to man field has been narrowed down to 11 aspirants, four of whom represent Pittsburgh.

Dr. John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. star and former West Penn champion, led the Steel City quartet to the round of eight with straight set victories over F. J. Dilmore, of Clarksburg, 6-1, 6-2 and Carl McDonald, slashing Elkins performer, 6-4, 6-4.

CLARDY ADVANCES

W. J. Clardy, Westinghouse luminary, attained frame three after a tough struggle with Ran Shields, Wash-Lee youngster from Tsenin, China, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Paul Sullivan, of the P. A. A. defeated Maurice Saperstein, Bridgeville junior, 7-5 and 6-1; Edgar Alcorn, of the Steel Citians, was a round ahead of the pack Monday and consequently rested yesterday.

Bob Considine, accomplished Washingtonian and District of Columbia titleholder, caught a hot one in the veteran Harvey Lake, Ocean City (N. J.) driver, but won out.

ARKLE VICTOR

B. F. Arkle, Wheeling satellite and defending champion, ran afoul of not a little difficulty in overcoming Bill Servick, Duquesne Library mainstay, 6-3, 6-3.

The summary:

DUKES EXPECT RECORD CROWD

By JESS CARVER.

Portly John Holohan, about to tear briskly into his second football season as graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne University, is spending many of the present hours sitting in his office and staring, with a happy stare, out of the window, where fancy paints roseate pictures of the Dukes' first big time football crowd on the horizon.

Portly John is looking forward to the Dukes' inaugural, the night game with West Virginia, which, if it gets any sort of a weather break, will put in the neighborhood of 30,000 of the citizenry into Forbes Field the night of September 19.

MAYBE 20,000!

The Dukes and Geneva packed about 15,000 away here last year when the night game made its debut. This 15,000 was as big a crowd as any Duquesne eleven had ever played before, and still is, for that matter. If they get the 30,000 that both John and Handsome Harry Stansbury, the Mountaineer master of ceremonies, are looking for, it will set a new record. If they get 20,000 it will be a record also. That is about what they will get. But don't tell John or Harry, they are counting on the extra 10 hundred, 10 hundred.

At any rate, or, in any event, the Dukes are giving Pittsburgh a ding dong inaugural, and should be supported to the limit. It will be one opening ball game the result of which won't be certain two weeks before the kickoff.

PENNSY MEET SATURDAY

The annual track and field championships of the P. R. R. Pittsburgh division, will be staged Saturday afternoon at Pitcairn. Bill Croassmun, the stogie chewing expert on times and distances, records, results, predictions and one or two other things, will be on hand to take care of the boys and see to it that the very best from this section qualify for the divisional championship, which prob-

YANKS CHECK TIGERS; NATS, A'S WIN

Associated Press

The opening of the crucial National League series between the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Robins fulfilled all advance notices in thrills. A pitching duel between Fred Blake and Dazzy Vance, highly productive of hits but not of runs, lasted 11 innings before Chicago gained a 3-to-2 victory and increased its lead to a full game. Two first inning errors by Jake Flowers gave the Cubs two runs and forced Brooklyn into an unsuccessful uphill battle in its effort to regain the lead. It was not until the eleventh that the Cubs were able to bunch enough hits off Vance to score the odd run.

With New York and Cincinnati idle, the Pittsburgh Pirates registered the big gain in the lower part of the National League standing and the St. Louis Cardinals made a lesser one. The Pirates downed the Phillies in both halves of a doubleheader. They had to go 14 innings to win the first game, 8 to 7, but the second contest produced an easy 8 to 3 victory.

CARDS BEAT BRAVES

St. Louis, although outhit 10-8, made good use of its blows to defeat the Boston Braves, 4 to 2. It was the fifth straight victory for the Cards and the fifth defeat for the Braves.

Another Boston-St. Louis clash went the other way as the Red Sox gained a 5 to 4 decision over the Browns.

Almost obscured in the struggles of the mighty around the top positions in the major league standings, the Detroit Tigers have been putting on a spurt that has carried them almost into the first division of the American League. The Tigers are only one and one-half games behind the fourth place Cleveland Indians today, despite their inability to cope with the heroic gestures of Babe Ruth in their opening clash with the New York Yankees yesterday.

While the Tigers were losing one game due to Ruth's demonstration of the reasons for his great reputation, Cleveland was dropping two to the Philadelphia Athletics to make the fourth-place struggle more interesting.

YANKS CHECK TIGERS

The Yankees stopped the Detroit climb for a while yesterday, but only after Ruth had put on a great performance to win a 6-to-5 decision in a close battle. The Babe clouted his forty-third homer in the third inning with his mascot, Jimmy Reese, on a base to climax a big Yankee rally, then drove in the winning run in the ninth at the highly crucial moment when there were two out and two strikes on him.

With Mose Grove and Bill Shores pitching a pair of good games, the Athletics twice trounced the Cleveland Indians by scores of 9 to 1 and 7 to 0. Washington held second place a game ahead of the Yanks by scoring four runs off Ted Lyons in the third inning to take a speedy game from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4. The contest lasted only an hour and 22 minutes.

ALL-IRISH TEAM

With the hot wave on, a group of coaches were sitting at a coaching school recently discussing this, that and the other thing. After wiping the perspiration off his brow one of the men brought up the question as to which team would be stronger, an all-Irish football team or that of some other nationality. So nothing would do but each man in the group should pick an all-Irish team. The following group was the result of the balloting:

Hinkey, Yale	End
Hogan, Yale	Tackle
Cannon, Notre Dame	Guard
Walsh, Notre Dame	Center
Cooney, Princeton	Guard
Halligan, Nebraska	Tackle
Carney, Illinois	End
Daley, Harvard-W. Point	Quarter
McMillan, Center	Halfback
Mahan, Harvard	Halfback
O'Dea, Wisconsin	Fullback

I was rather surprised that such oldtimers as Hogan and Hinkey of Yale, Cooney of Princeton, Daly of Harvard, and Pat O'Dea of Wisconsin, still should be known. Halligan of Nebraska will be remembered as the man who was erroneously picked by Walter Camp for the all-America team one year after he was graduated.

This team is by no means perfect, but it will do for a little warm weather fanning by those who take their football the year round.

GUVS WALLOP SCOTTIES IN SLUGFEST

The Charleroi Guvs scored a 14-11 victory over Scottdale in a Mid-Atlantic League slugfest yesterday at Charleroi. Charleroi hammered out 15 safe blows while Scottdale scored its 11 runs on eight hits.

Stricklin, Guvs first baseman, equalled the league record for home runs when he hit his twenty-eighth of the year.

At Clarksburg the Generals walloped Cumberland, 9 to 1, Wallace limiting the Colts to seven hits.

Jeannette was defeated by Fairmont, 4 to 2, in a well played game at Jeannette. At Wheeling, in a night game, Johnstown downed the Stogies, 12 to 4.

Mid-Atlantic Legion Nines Play Today

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The American Legion junior baseball championship of the Middle Atlantic division, the winner of which will enter further competition at Charlottsville, Va., that will eventually lead to a national championship, will be played for here beginning today.

The competing teams, champions of their respective states and district, each sponsored by an American Legion post, are Uniontown, Pa.; Morgantown, W. Va.; Baltimore and Ohio Post of Baltimore, Spengle Post of Washington and Clayton, Del.

The teams reached Hagerstown last night and were quartered in hotels at Legion expense.

JACK WILSON CHALLENGES M'TIERNAN

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

Jack Wilson of the North Side is after Jack (Buck) McTiernan, of Swissvale, for a bout to settle the question of local middleweight boxing supremacy.

Wilson, managed by Jimmy Conrad, has just returned from a two weeks vacation in the country near Meadville with Johnny Dunn, the New Kensington featherweight, his stablemate, and is browned and hearty and looking for trouble. When he heard that McTiernan had been robbed of the decision in his bout with Joe Dundee, former world welterweight champion, which was called a draw, on Monday night, Jack said he'd like to get a crack at Buck himself.

Jack Wilson

"I think my work against Mickey Salemen and other boxers around here since I came to Pittsburgh some months ago entitles me to a fight with McTiernan," Jack said. "I may not get it, but I am going to yell from the housetops for it, anyway, so the folks will know I'm not afraid of McTiernan."

DUNN AFTER DATTO

Dunn also had a challenge to issue. He said he would be glad to take the place of Jackie Rodgers against Johnny Datto at the Meyers Bowl if Rodgers persisted in refusing to meet the Filipino since a bout arranged between them twice has been called off.

The card has been rounded out with the exception of a six-round second bout for the all-star bill at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night. Palsy Pirrone, of Canton, and Emmett Rocco, of Ellwood City, heavyweights, will box the 10-round windup and there will be two-eight-round bouts and two six-rounders. Chet Smallwood, of Akron, and Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, will be in the semi-final, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Billy Holt, formerly of Canton, O., now of Homewood, in the other eight-round battle. Hans Roberts, of Brookline, and Fast Black, of Braddock, are down for the first six-rounder, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, will meet an opponent to be selected in the second event.

Charley Luck, matchmaker, of Hickey Park, Millvale, has completed his 40-round boxing show for tomorrow night, by signing Jack Barry, of McKeesport, to box Al Becker, of Sheraden, in the eight-round semi-final.

Tiger West and Lynn Jordan box the 10-round windup and Harry Williams and Johnny Urban are in the other 10-rounder, with Anastasio Vaquerio against Ross Fields and Jackie Wilson and Mose Butch in the two six-rounders.

ROSENBLOOM IN ACTION

Fan Drops Dead As Cubs Win Over Robins

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Harry Pumpian, a salesman for a Chicago department store, dropped dead of heart disease in the upper right field stand at Wrigley Field yesterday as the thrilling 11 inning game between the Cubs and Robins came to a close.

Spectators seated near Pumpian said he was on his feet during most of the game and toppled over when English came home with the winning tally. Dr. James Davis, Cub physician, said death was brought on by the excitement of the game's climax.

Great Scott Wins Greenwood Stakes

KEMPTON PARK, Eng., Aug. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Chester Beatty's Great Scott won the Greenwood Stakes at mile and a quarter today. H. Martin's Virgo was second and Maj. Courtauld's Antiquary third.

Great Scott, by Grand Parade from Dalkeith, ran at odds of 11 to 4. The race was for £500 (about $2,500) with extras. Seven horses ran.

OHIO NETTERS ADVANCE AT SHARON

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 13.—Three Youngstown stars are among the favorites to take the Northwestern Pennsylvania singles tennis title, held for the past five years by Byron Baur of Erie, former Pitt luminary, but who is not defending his championship here, as the second round of play of the 1930 tourney got under way today.

Three Races Carded For Schenley Oval

Three races are on the card today for the weekly program of harness racing under the auspices of the Schenley Matinee Club at Schenley Oval.

A number of the horses from the Schenley barns have been shipped to various county fairs, hence the reduction in the card from four to three events.

RAMON NOVARRO

His Spanish forebears conquered Mexico . . . won the country in ten brief years. But Ramon alone conquered America, conquered Europe, and all points east . . . in scarcely more than a camera's flicker.

For Ramon gave the world a thrill!

And that's the tale of another young conqueror, OLD GOLD cigarettes. New England surrendered in just two months. "You win, OLD GOLD!" said the Middle West. From coast-to-coast the victory spread. And OLD GOLD in just one year became the country's fastest growing cigarette.

Because OLD GOLD, like Novarro, offered the world a brand new thrill. Finer tobaccos gave a mellower taste. Better tobaccos ended throat-scratch.

A MEXICAN REVOLUTION LEFT HIM BROKE. JUST A FEW YEARS LATER HE HAD A SIX-FIGURE SALARY AS ONE OF THE LEADING MOVIE STARS.

NATURE IS KIND TO NOVARROS AND OLD GOLDS. THATS WHY THEY WIN... AND WIN SO EASILY

IN QUAINT SAN ANTONIO OLD GOLD APPEARED DECEMBER 1927. JUST TWO MONTHS LATER OLD GOLD WAS ONE OF THE FOUR BEST SELLERS THROUGHOUT THE LONE STAR STATE.

Two games will be staged in the Steel City League this evening. In the Eastern section, the Hale club, of Turtle Creek, goes to Lawrenceville to meet St. Elizabeth. The Valley outfit expects to have improved its standing when the game is over.

W. O. W., THOMAS CLASH

The City League offers one game for the fans to become enthused over. J. L. Thomas, of Bloomfield, will do its stuff opposed to Mike Jedinak's W. O. W. outfit at Woodman Field. Both teams can be classed as out of the title race, but plenty of action will be on tap. The Woodmen and the Thomas team usually provide plenty of fireworks.

In the Minor League the L. F. Burkes and the North Side Aces will meet on the Aces' enclosure.

The Rieck-McJunkin nine will make the trip to Neville Island to meet Dravo in the Commercial and Industrial loop. Little depends upon the outcome of this game, as trying to stop Reliance Life appears to be an impossible task.

CORRY MEETS VERONA

Two games will be staged tomorrow evening in the Class A elimination. Coraopolis will make the trip to Verona. Although the Ohio Valley club is considered strong, winning on the Community grounds is a tough proposition.

At Homestead the Swissvale Firemen and the Stephens nine will clash in third-round games. This contest should be worth while. Swissvale organized for the purpose of playing in the tourney and is making a wonderful showing.

Homewood and W. O. W. turned in triumphs in the City League last evening, while Dormont and Book Shoe battled to a deadlock. Homewood defeated the Stowe Civics, 7 to 2, and W. O. W. slugged out a 12-to-3 victory over the North Side Civics. Dormont and Book Shoe tied at 5-all.

ACES VICTORS

The Homestead Aces carried too many guns for Whitaker in the Greater Pittsburgh loop, scoring a 7-to-4 victory. The same was true of Byllesby in the Philadelphia Company League, which defeated the Railways nine, 10 to 1.

In the Major circuit, Lineys whitewashed St. Adalberts, 12 to 0. Immaculate Heart tallied eight runs in the third inning to sew up the game with Ingomar in the North Side Twilight League, eventually winning by a score of 15 to 1. Luntz limited Ingomar to five scattered hits.

The Dan Heeps and Port Vue tied 1-1 in an independent classic. Swissvale Firemen nosed out Mansfield, 7 to 6, and Rieck-McJunkins won over the Pleasant Valley Smilers, 6 to 4.

Jack Menefee pitched sterling ball as Monessen blanked California Eagles, 3 to 0, in the Monon Valley League and Charleroi emerged from a slump by winning over Spears, 11 to 5.

CATCHER M'CURDY

P. Waner scores the winning run on Traynor's single to right in the fourteenth inning of yesterday's 8-7 thriller with the Phillies at Forbes Field. The Bucs also won the second game, 8-3.

CATCHER DAVIS KNOCKED OUT

Phillies' receiver knocked out by being struck in the head with the ball on Bartell's relay from P. Waner on Davis' hit to right center in the sixth inning of the first game. The catcher went sprawling over the bag to complete a triple and then had to leave the game.

HACKNEY VICTOR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Clarence Hackney, professional of the country club of Atlantic City, yesterday won the golf championship of the Philadelphia district with a score of 291 for the 72 holes. George Griffin, Green Valley, [illegible] was second with 298 and [illegible] of Tavistock, third with 299.

tripled to left center with one out and then came in as Hurst was thrown out. Comorosky made up for this tally in the sixth. The Polish Flier made three bases on his fly to short left-center. Traynor scored him with a sacrifice fly.

PHILS RALLY

Hurst started the big drive of the Quakers in the seventh when he waited for a pass. Whitney popped a light one to right for a double as Hurst scored. Paul Waner's throw struck Hurst and Whitney raced to third on the error. Thevenow's fly was too short for a score, but Davis tripled to score Whitney. Davis was felled at third by Bartell's throw, but he was revived. Chester Nichols ran for him and McCurdy batted for Hansen. Brame made a wild pitch and Nichols scored.

McCurdy walked and was forced by Brickell, who swiped the middle bag. Southern muffed Thompson's long fly after a hard attempt to get the ball. Brickell scored the tieing run and Thompson went all the way to third. O'Doul put the Phils ahead with a single to right.

Elliott moved along like a star, but Comorosky nicked him for a triple to right center with one out in the eighth. Elliott fanned Traynor in the clinch, but Bartell made a lucky hit in the infield and the game was tied up again.

The Buccos reached Lester Sweetland for enough tallies to win in the second inning of the twilight affair. Five runs went over, Sweetland giving way to Charlie Phillips in the next inning.

pressed hard and are hopeful that Whichone will do it Saturday, for the Woodward horse has never been extended and might make something close to record time if forced to do his best. Sande generally runs him just well enough to win, and he'll probably get that same result on Saturday no matter how good Whichone turns out to be.

Helen Wills Moody.

HELEN WILLS MOODY has lost the women's United States lawn tennis championship for 1930 in the only way that could possibly happen. She has given it up voluntarily and is not going to play for it, having decided not to enter the annual tournament for the title, to be held next month at Forest Hills, N. Y. In view of the fact that she spent several months in Europe this year in winning the Wimbledon and French championships, her announced unwillingness to leave home long enough to play in the biggest tournament of her own country would have caused no little surprise, coming from the average player. But Helen is not of the temperamental kind, nor a gallery star who seeks publicity or wants to be coaxed to play, so it is not to be questioned that she has her own good and sufficient reasons for remaining out of this year's competition for the championship that she has won six times. It will be rather an empty title that falls to the winner with Mrs. Moody out, for whether playing or not, Helen is recognized as being as supreme in her division of tennis as Bobby Jones is in golf.*

FAT PICKINGS AHEAD for some of the big promoting interests in the fight game. It was easy guessing when Primo Carnera had his American stay extended to December that there was something big on tap, and it looms up now in the proposed bout between the Italian giant and Jack Sharkey in Chicago.

Perhaps it won't be much of a fight, but it will come close to drawing a million-dollar gate, and that's all that concerns the promoters. Nor is that all that is ahead for them, for in addition to Young Stribling's reappearance in the heavyweight picture as a strong drawing card, the Carnera fight in Chicago probably will serve to bring Sharkey back as a title contender. Plenty of heavyweight money-getters in sight.

Polo Lineup Set For Eighth Test

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The current American "Big Four" of polo, composed of Eric Pedley, Earle A. S. Hopping, Capt. Tommy Hitchcock and Winston Guest, remains intact for the eighth international test match next Sunday at the Sands Point Club, Port Washington. It is the first time since the trials began that the same combination has been decided upon for successive games, designed to select the team to play England in September.

Gerald Balding, No. 2 on the British team and first of the invaders to arrive here, is listed to play his regular position against the American varsity.

TILDEN SLATED TO RESUME PLAY TODAY

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Two Eastern players and one Texas youth caught the field in the third round of the Eastern grass courts championship for men at the Westchester Country Club yesterday and as a result 16 of the country's leading players are left in ruffling for the title held by William Tilden, the national champion. The same number of players remain in the women's singles with eight slated for elimination today.

Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., and Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., Davis Cup alternates and winners of the doubles title at Southampton, came through as did Melvin Partridge, New Rochelle, N. Y., in the only men's singles played yesterday.

BELL DOWNS TIBBALL

Bell had to play his best in a three-set match before defeating Jack Tibball, Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, while Mangin had a short session with Harry Plymire, San Francisco southpaw, the Jersey player turning back his Western opponent 6-0, 6-1. Partridge stopped the progress of a Ft. Worth athlete, Jake Hess, Jr., conqueror yesterday of J. Gilbert Hall. The scores were 6-3, 6-4.

Tilden, after a two-day rest, returns here from Philadelphia today and will oppose Julius Seligson, New York, in an upper-half singles tussle. He will also play with Francis T. Hunter in the doubles.

The men and women's doubles ran true to form yesterday, with the four seeded pairs triumphing in the latter division and three that played in the men's coming through with victories. The latter included the newly formed New Jersey team of Johnny Van Ryn and Mangin, Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., and J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, and the Des Moines-Kansas City team of Harris Coggleshall and Wilbur Coen, Jr.

CUP STARS WIN

Van Ryn and Mangin raced through their match with Abraham Bassford and Dr. Irving Epstein, of New York, without losing a game in the two sets. Mercur and Hall took the measure of H. H. Bassford, Sr., and H. H. Bassford, Jr., 6-3, 8-6, while Coggleshall and Coen eliminated Victor Polstein and N. Alexander, New York, 6-2, 6-3.

The English combination of H. G. N. Lee, Davis Cup player, and S. J. Perry survived the first round by defeating Armand L. Brunea, New York, and Jack De Lar, San Francisco, 6-3, 7-5.

SEEDED DUOS WIN

Interest in the women's singles centered around the second surprise victory of Baroness Giacomo Levi, No. 2 ranking player in Italy. Keeping up her excellent tennis, the former Miss Maude Rosenbaum of Chicago, eliminated another American ranking player, when she defeated Miss Ethel Burkardt, San Francisco, 7-5, 6-4. The day's play also included the defeat of a seeded player, Miss Virginia Rice, Boston, by Miss Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

In the women's singles Miss Cross and Miss Mianne Palfrey defeated Misses Helen and Mercedes Marlowe, 6-2, 6-2.

Brother Kills Relative as Suarez Wins

Hal Surface, Kansas City, scored a minor reversal in the junior event when he triumphed in a long duel with Joe Bralley, Austin, Tex., 6-8, 6-3, 6-4.

EDDIE TOLAN. GEORGE SIMPSON.

Take a good look at these two speedsters, if you care anything for track and field athletics . . . The young Negro on the left, Eddie Tolan, of the University of Michigan, is nosing out George Simpson, Ohio State's "fastest human," in the 220-yard dash of the Detroit Police carnival last Saturday. He also defeated Simpson in the 100-yard dash . . . They will meet again in the National A. A. U. games at the Stadium here beginning Friday of next week, and many close followers of the sprinting sport believe Simpson will turn the tables on his vanquisher . . . Has anyone seen Johnny Freund lately? . . . The Missing Persons Bureau will be on the lookout for him soon . . . It was thought the story of the reorganization of the American Professional Basketball League would bring him back to his old haunts, but it failed . . . When last seen, John was looking like a picture of What the Well Dressed Man Will Wear and appeared to be happy . . . The tip is out that Arthur Hyatt, Chipper Cholly's kid brother, is going to prep at Bellefonte Academy for Carnegie Tech, and not Pitt, of all things! . . . Looks as if the Robins are going South early this year, after all, if you get what we mean . . . Fritzie Zivic, brother of Jack and Pete, is in New York visiting with Jack . . . Hockey positively will be played in Duquesne Garden next winter, and some elaborate changes will be made in the layout of the arena to make the game more attractive for the patrons. It is planned to shorten the playing space and slant the seats so that every spectator will get a good view of the proceedings . . . Ben Bright, the well-known golf and swimming enthusiast, is vacationing at Wildwood, N. J., where he says the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraphs are sold out almost the minute they hit the newsstands and it's a fight to get one . . . Our last two main bouts around here, the Jackie Rodgers-Mike Dundee and Joe Dundee-Buck McTiernan battles, have been ruled draws when each was won by a plainly perceptible margin . . . Meaning what? A new deal in officials? Well, that wouldn't be a bad idea . . . The Miller Stakes, won by Whichone at Saratoga yesterday, was not named after our Jim Miller, in case you thought it was . . . Dr. J. A. Coyle, of Braddock, erstwhile boxing commission examining physician, is vacationing in Canada.—HARRY KECK.

BIG MATCHES IN MAKING TODAY

By DAVID J. WALSH.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The olden, golden days when Tex Rickard was king came back to boxing in a flash of vivid color and lived again today, inspired by the promise and the hope of ultra-important developments in the heavyweight division before nightfall. In one hotel sat Jeff Dickson, the Tex Rickard of Europe, like a subtle spider awaiting the unwary. In another were the Striblings, Pa and William. In a third, the agents of Jack Sharkey were to have words with Miguel Malloy, the Padrone of the stockyards, concerning the proposed Sharkey-Carnera fight in Chicago on September 29. Over on Broadway, the Herr Jacobs, step-manager of the Herr Schmeling, was to have words with anybody who would listen to him.

CHICAGO FIGHT ON

A probable development of what promised to be a most garrulous day was a tentative closing of the Chicago fight. Both Sharkey and Carnera are said to be for it, which would seem to leave nothing to do except fight the prizefight. An improbable development of the day is Dickson's proposal to close a heavyweight championship fight in Berlin between Schmeling and Stribling.

At Dickson's solicitation, the Herr Jake canceled passage on the Europa and apparently is scheduled to remain here indefinitely. It will take Dickson that long to talk the Herr Jake into a Stribling fight in Berlin or elsewhere, the Herr Jake being committed to accepting two opponents for Schmeling in Paris and Berlin, provided both of them are Paulino Uzcudun.

McLARNIN BOUT OUT

The New York commission yesterday turned thumbs down on a proposed Al Singer-Jimmy McLarnin fight and notified Jack (Kid) Berg's manager to be on deck at next Tuesday's meeting to show cause why Berg shouldn't go ahead with plans for a lightweight title fight with Singer under commission rules now that he has won over Kid Chocolate.

ENGLISH GIRL TITLE CHOICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A last minute attempt failed yesterday to add Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking feminine tennis star, to the list of contestants in next week's national women's singles championship at Forest Hills. A transcontinental telephone call brought the information that continued ill health makes the trip impossible.

Miss Nuthall's first opponent will be Louise McFarland, of Pasadena, Cal.

This will be the English star's third bid for the title. In 1927 it took Queen Helen to stop her in the final and last year Mrs. Molla Mallory upset her in the quarter-finals, likewise in straight sets. But neither of these nemeses will be in the field this year.

Painter to Drive In Altoona Race

ALTOONA, Aug. 13.—Roy Painter, owner of the Pittsburgh entry in the 200-mile Labor Day classic at the Altoona Speedway, will drive his own mount this year, he announced here today.

The Waverly Special is being conditioned at Pittsburgh. It will be brought here shortly for time trials.

Expected Appearance of Copper Figures Brings Fresh Selling.

Fresh selling has come into the copper shares prior to appearance of the July statistics which are expected this week. Through July and early August, copper shares gave better account of themselves as a drop in the price of the metal to 11 cents attracted heavy demand for tonnage by domestic and foreign consumers. The renewed selling in the group, however, indicates that the statistics will not be so good despite the copper taken off the hands of producers last month. Unsold supplies of the metal have been increasing month by month, but after the July sales the street was inclined to look for a decrease in stocks.

Traders who follow the old maxim which says it is dangerous to sell a dull market have had to revise their ideas on what constitutes dullness. By recent standards, a 3,000,000-share day is a fairly active session, yet a year or so ago that would have been regarded as a dull one. Since last spring, in fact, dull markets have lost their terrors for traders who lean to the short side of the market has twice come out of a period of dullness on the downside. Hence, it was not surprising to see the bears picking away at farm implements and other soft spots early in the afternoon yesterday despite the fact that the market had lapsed into lethargy.

A badly crowded short position was apparent in Warner Brothers Pictures shares yesterday when the stock rebounded about 4 points in the forenoon in face of a wobbly market. No doubt much of the recent selling in the stock was real liquidation, but at the same time there was heavy selling for the decline. The upturn was accompanied by reports in Wall street that the company was planning new financing and that new banking connections probably would be disclosed if such financing is undertaken.

The recent reactionary tone of the amusement group, influenced by the passing of the Warner Bros. dividend, has placed other members of this list at levels at which investment buying has been taking place. Loew's in particular is looked upon with favor, since its expansion policy has been extremely conservative over the past year, and there has been no tendency to revise previous estimates placing per share earnings at the $10 mark. A dividend return of 5 per cent is afforded around current levels, with its present quotation of between six and seven times probable earnings, promising opportunity for appreciation, with a general market improvement.

While operating profits of the Vanadium Corporation of America are said to have declined 39.5 per cent during the first half of this year, other income, that is non-recurring profits, increased almost $500,000, leading to the hint that the corporation may have disposed of large amounts of securities on the rising market last spring. Vanadium carried on its balance sheet $2,656,752 of marketable securities on December 31, 1929. It is understood that the semi-annual statement of the corporation, which will be published around the latter part of this month, will show that in six months to June 30 net income, including income from sources other than operations, amounted to about $1,250,000 after all charges, or equivalent of about $3.30 a share on 378,367 no-par common shares outstanding.

This will compare with a 1929 first-half showing of $1,177,689 including income from other sources than operations, or $3.11 a share on the basis of present outstanding common shares. Of the $1,250,000 expected to be reported for the six months this year, somewhat more than $600,000 or about $1.60 a share will represent other income while the balance, or about $1.70 a share, will represent profits from operations. In the first half of 1929, Vanadium's income from sources other than operations totaled $126,288 or 33 cents a common share, while profits from operations amounted to $1,051,301, or $2.74 a share.

Oakland, Pontiac Prices Reduced

A reduced schedule of prices was announced today by the Oakland Motor Car Company on Oakland and Pontiac automobiles. The new price on Oaklands is $895, against the former minimum of $1,045 on closed models. The Pontiac price has been reduced from $745 to $665. It is announced that next winter the factory will present two new models practically unchanged in appearance, size and design.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Little Inclination to Fight Shown—Trading Turns Dull on Rise

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(AP.)—The bear camp, usually populated by a select group of professional operators, began to resemble a public picknicking ground in today's stock market, and several of the original bears started to withdraw in annoyance influencing a temporary midday rally in share prices after a further decline during the morning.

In the meantime the confirmed bulls hurled little more tangibles in the direction of the bears than invective. There was little inclination to fight back with action and cash. The bears were chiefly concerned over the unwieldy character of their following recalling the numerous explosive upturns caused by stampedes of overcrowded shorts in the past.

The morning decline carried prices off 1 to 5 points reducing the general level to close to the bottom of June. The losses were fairly well regained by early afternoon, and several shares showed advances of 1 to more than 3. American Tobacco B, Warner Bros., Johns Manville, North American and Houston sold up 2 to 3 points, and shares gaining a point or more included such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Radio, General Electric and General Motors. During the morning, Bethlehem Steel, American Power and Light and J. I. Case sagged about 2 points to new 1930 lows, and Kennecott, Childs and Columbia Gas also recorded new bottom prices.

TRADING TURNS DULL

A tendency of trading volume to increase with a declining market, and to turn dull on advances, was a reversal of recent form, and was discouraging to the cause of higher prices as the day's business news again failed to indicate much but the unusual continuance of the July slack into early August.

The weekly steel trade reviews again sounded a flat note. Iron Age placed operations for the entire industry at 52 per cent of capacity, a drop of 2 per cent and another new low for the year. Its composite prices showed further declines. The steel price was the lowest since February 1922 and the pig iron price since 1915. Steel said that some effort might be made to stiffen steel prices within a few weeks, but saw no developments to indicate improvement in the colorless market.

The weekly freight car loadings figures, covering the week ended August 2, showed a negligible decline from the previous week, amounting to little more than 1,000 cars, but the trend was contrary to the normal seasonal tendency, and the movement of freight theoretically held at the lowest level since 1922, although the growth in motor truck transport since then probably warps the comparison. The monthly statistics for stocks of refined copper were again a disappointment showing another slight increase despite the low price and curtailed operations.

OIL SUPPLY CUT

The weekly petroleum statistics alone provided a modicum of cheer. Gasoline stocks were cut down 1,371,000 barrels to the lowest level since the beginning of the year. Average daily crude output was reduced 34,950 barrels to the lowest level in recent years. The curtailment program has made sufficient headway to give the industry hope of more satisfactory prices.

Commodity prices still showed considerable unsettlement. The cotton market again turned downward, the October position breaking below 12 cents a pound for the first time in four years. The failure of the grain markets to make notable recovery on the government crop figures has also been discouraging.

Credit conditions remained about stationary, with call money again renewing at 2½ per cent, but available outside at 2 per cent.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Heavy selling ascribed to houses with eastern connections led to sharp setbacks both in wheat and corn prices during the late dealings today. A statement credited to Secretary Hyde, of the United States Department of Agriculture, that there was no shortage of foodstuffs and that the main shortage was in corn, hay and pasturage, was treated in some quarters as a bearish influence. Late downturns of prices were in the face of estimates that North American export buying of wheat today totaled 2,000,000 bushels, most of it hard winter wheat from the United States.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

Alternate flurries of selling and buying of the market leaders kept the movement confused. There was moderate activity for the decline during the first hour but it was not sustained and the tone improved somewhat.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list).

LONE STAR GAS SELLS OFF HERE

Stock Slips as Selling Volume Expands; Steady Tone in Western Public

Fuel stocks dominated the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with Lone Star Gas showing the greatest activity. This issue reflected further selling of the character noted for the past few days during which the price has receded slowly from a level near 40 to the present figure in the neighborhood of 35.

Western Public Service, the Wyoming-Utah gas producer and marketer, resisted the downtrend at the start and scored a fractional advance over last night's close, although the turnover in the early market was much smaller than that in Lone Star.

The industrial list showed small fractional declines as moderate sized lots of the various issues were offered at the market. Some few in this division held steady in the face of the uncertainty and nervousness in the New York market and it was evident that traders were not inclined to take on stocks despite the lower levels now prevailing.

EXPECT NORMAL BUSINESS IN JULY 1931

Research Activities Kept Up During Lull Indicate Better Times Next Year

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Big business on account of its colossal capital investments has a correspondingly large stake in the ebb and flow of prosperity.

In the present economic readjustment, big business has been showing its faith in the longer term future by continuing at full blast its scientific research and laboratory investigations even though sales and production expenses may have been curbed. Moreover the ablest managed corporations employ elaborate statistical departments which show what lies ahead for business.

Mr. Rukeyser

What do these economic studies show? The tentative forecast of the statistical department of one of the large corporations is that business is scraping bottom and that the general trend will be gradually upward for the remainder of the year and all of next year.

NORMAL NEXT JULY

And yet the forecast hardly justifies dancing in the streets because it indicates that though business will get steadily better it will not reach the computed normal which includes a growth factor, until July 1931 about two years after the recession started. By December 1931 the expectation is that business will be 2 per cent above normal.

According to the same survey business is at present at a lower ebb than at any time since 1921 being slightly below the 1924 dip. However general business is only slightly more than half as much below normal as in 1921.

Field surveys have led these industrial statisticians to assume that wage reductions would not be large or general. One statistician recalled that during the Napoleonic wars prices increased 88 per cent and wages 63 per cent whereas in the subsequent decline the setback in wages was only 16 per cent and that of prices 51 per cent.

CIVIL WAR PRECEDENT

In 1831 prices were lower than in 1790, and wages were 43 per cent higher. During the Civil War prices rose 116 per cent and wages 45 per cent. During the next eight years prices declined 36 per cent, and wages rose another 6 per cent. In 1873 prices were 38 per cent higher than in 1860 while wages were 53 per cent higher. In the following six years commodity prices receded 30 per cent more and wages declined only 18 per cent. After the World War wages fell less than prices.

Emphasizing that a new factor now supports wages—the doctrine held by business executives and public officials that high wages promotes prosperity—one statistical observer concludes that actual reductions in hourly wage rates will be limited primarily to exceptional cases such as the construction trades. Other well-managed concerns will reduce labor costs by improving the average ability of their working forces without changing piece rates or hourly rates.

PUBLIC WORKS BOOM

In judging whether President Hoover's business stabilization program has any effect on the general situation it is well to bear in mind that the value of construction contracts awarded in the public works and utilities field was 30 per cent greater than in any preceding month.

Great activity in building natural gas pipe lines in the Southwest helped to swell this figure. The figure also includes a program of highway bridge and other public works which was stimulated by the administration at the Washington industrial conferences. These increases have to offset the adverse effects on general business of the collapse of residential building.

FARM POSITION IN DOUBT

The farmers' position is rendered a matter of conjecture by the prevailing drought. It is too early to tell accurately the effect on aggregate farm incomes. In past years damage to crops usually resulted in higher prices which more often than not raised the total cash receipts of the farmers.

This year farmers' purchasing power will be helped by a sharp decline in non-agricultural prices. The real distress will be in the areas where crops were almost entirely destroyed by lack of rain. Such farmers will not be helped by the new equilibrium between supply and demand because unfortunately their own private supply will have been ruined.

Subnormal productive activity in June and July points to a compensating quickening of activity in July and August. Some capable banking observers believe the improvement will be more than seasonal, though not expecting any real pyrotechnics in the near future.

Higher Income Seen for Penna. Industries

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

EARNINGS OF PENNSYLVANIA Industries, Inc., will be increased more than $300,000 annually as a result of the exchange of its holdings of Spang, Chalfant common stock for preferred and common stocks of the National Supply Company. This was announced in a letter to stockholders signed by J. H. Hillman, Jr., chairman, and A. H. Beale, president of the company.

During the first six months of 1930 Pennsylvania Industries acquired an additional block of Spang, Chalfant common stock. While this was not on a dividend basis, dividends are being paid on the National Supply stocks at the rate of 5 per cent regular and 2 per cent extra on the common and at the rate of 7 per cent on the preferred stock.

Bankshares Acquired

THE LETTER ALSO announced that on May 1 Pennsylvania Industries acquired all the common stock of Pennsylvania Bankshares and Securities Corporation. This was accomplished by a share for share exchange of common stocks. A total of 206,000 shares were acquired.

The net market value of the assets of Pennsylvania Bankshares and Securities Corporation at the date of acquisition was about $16.90 a share which was slightly higher than the corresponding value of the common stock of Pennsylvania Industries.

The acquisition gave the company valuable investments in the stocks of a number of strong financial institutions among which are Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company, First National Bank at Pittsburgh, Colonial Trust Company, Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., Chase National Bank, Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, Chemical Bank and Trust Company and Irving Trust Company of New York City.

Earnings Reported

THE NET INCOME of Pennsylvania Industries for the six months ended June 30 was $289,105 excluding stock dividends and rights. In addition to this, the net income of Pennsylvania Bankshares for May and June, since the acquisition, was $36,013. This makes total net income $325,119.

Dividend requirements for the six months on the 6 per cent preferred stock of Pennsylvania Industries and for May and June on the 5 per cent preferred stock of Pennsylvania Bankshares amounted to $232,750. Full dividends were paid on both preferred stocks. Net income exceeded preferred dividend requirements by $92,369 for the six months and was equivalent to 15 cents a share on the 593,432 shares of common stock.

The increase of over $300,000 in earnings from the exchange of Spang, Chalfant stock for National Supply stock will be equivalent to 50 cents a share annually on the common stock of Pennsylvania Industries.

Holdings Exceed Cost

THE VALUE OF THE NET assets of Pennsylvania Industries at closing market prices on June 30 was $17,993,169 against a net cost of $17,050,246. The value of assets was equivalent to $212.17 a share on the Pennsylvania Industries 6 per cent preferred stock of $100 par value and to $100.61 a share on the Pennsylvania Bankshares 5 per cent preferred stock of $50 par value.

After deducting the par value of the preferred stock of both companies the balance amounted to $13.60 a share on the common stock.

DROUGHT SLOWS STEEL RALLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Recovery in steel business from the stagnation of midsummer undoubtedly has been retarded by the uncertainty of crop damage caused by the prolonged and widespread drought. Pending the gaging of the effect of the losses on steel-consuming industries dependent wholly or in part on farm purchasing power, a renewed spirit of caution has developed generally. This has brought a further decline in the volume of new business, consequent curtailment in steel mill operating schedules and broader price weakness.

Steel production for the country at large is not above 52 per cent this week, compared with 54 per cent a week ago. Operations have declined several points at Pittsburgh, Chicago and in the valleys, while at Cleveland there has been a rise of three points, owing to a moderate gain in orders from a few automobile companies.

Can manufacturers already face the possibility of small packs of vegetable crops and moderate holdups of tin plate shipments have brought a slight decline to 60 per cent in the output of this product. Wire fencing and galvanized sheets are adversely affected.

Meanwhile there are a few developments of an encouraging character, resumption of automobile production on a scale slightly above that of July has aided mills at Chicago and Cleveland in a small way, but there has been no important gain in takings of steel by the motor car industry. The farm machinery builders, helped out by export orders, are ordering steel a little more freely at Chicago and will step up production above the low mid-summer rate, notwithstanding the uncertainty in the domestic market.

Structural steel and pipe backlogs account for a good measure of the current rate of steel making. Bookings of structural steel were 45,500 tons, the largest total in four weeks, while 60,000 tons in new projects, the highest figure since late June, promises further accessions to structural mill order books.

Fresh price weakness has developed on a number of products. Plates and shapes have been sold in competitive markets at 1.60c, Pittsburgh, a $1 a ton decline, while sheet mills, whose operations are seriously depressed, have given concessions of $1 to $2 a ton on galvanized and blue annealed sheets, and to a less extent $1 a ton cuts have appeared in black sheet sales. The latter product is definitely down $1 a ton at Chicago. Large rivets have declined $3 a ton to $2.75 a 100-pound, Pittsburgh. Billets are off $1 a ton at Chicago to $32.

Although pig iron is weak in nearly all markets, some strength has appeared in other raw materials. Blast furnace coke is 10c a ton higher at $2.60, Connelsville, Pa., while heavy melting steel scrap has advanced 25c a ton at Pittsburgh.

A further reduction in the composite prices of The Iron Age brings that for finished steel to 2.156c a pound, and that for pig iron to $16.88 a gross ton. The pig iron composite is the lowest since 1915.

Refined Copper Stocks Gain In July

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Refined Copper Stocks in the hands of North and South American producers and refiners August 1 totaled 322,039 short tons, an increase of 5,277 short tons over stocks of 316,762 tons July 1, the American bureau of metal statistics reports. Total stocks of copper above ground August 1 amounted to 564,251 tons, compared with 570,556 July 1, and 573,752 tons June 1.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points. Some overnight selling orders, which were supposed to include a little southern hedging, were in the market, but they were absorbed by trade buying and covering on the relatively steady showing on Liverpool, while there may have been some local buying on expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau.

Trading was moderately active and prices were firmer after the early offerings had been absorbed, with new October advancing to 12.20c and March to 12.64c by the end of the first half hour, or about 18 points net higher. Reports of showers in East Texas and Mississippi probably account for some of the early selling. Liverpool cables reported hedging and Bombay liquidation taken by local covering and continental buying in that market.

The early rally extended to 12.22c for the new October and 12.69c for March, but prices broke sharply after the publication of the weekly weather report, the new October contract dropping to 11.98c, the lowest since 1926, and March to 12.45c. There appeared to be little stop selling on this further decline, however, and the market was a point or two up from the lowest at midday.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Good Luck Pin

Limpy Horrigan wasn't a gangster.

He wasn't much of anything, except now and then the butt of jokes the boys in the Kale gang played on him.

Nor was Limpy congenitally lame. He was addicted to tight shoes because of his pride in his small feet, so that mostly he complained, "Me feets hurt."

While he was no gangster, he mingled with the gangsters in the Kale crowd and was thoroughly trusted. He just wasn't bright enough, in Nate Kale's opinion, to be an active gangster.

Limpy, whose parents had named him Reginald, managed to exist by means of various odd jobs about the district, but when the local racing season was on, then he really lived.

He worked in the Thorne stables, he knew exactly how to rub down a horse, how much to warm him up before a race and how slowly to cool him off after one. Jim Thorne had a hunch that Limpy was lucky, which added to his ability to help care for the Thorne string, brought Limpy $50 every week of the racing season.

Limpy could live on ten of it as he always slept on the bedding straw, but instead of doing that and saving the other for the lean days when there was no racing season, Limpy played the ponies himself on the side.

Some day Limpy was going to make a killing. Then he and Pinkie Schwartz, who hustled java and sinkers in Hixon's Busy Bee Eatery, would get hitched up regular.

To Limpy's way of thinking there might be a few men on earth who were greater and more important than Jim Thorne, but he had his doubts. In his way Limpy adored Mr. Thorne as some heathen might adore the chief idol.

Admires Stickpin

Mr. Thorne appeared one day at the paddock with a diamond pin in his tie. The pin was in the form of a stirrup and spur and it was set with diamonds.

"Gee, Mr. Thorne, that pin's a hot baby," Limp said, "and next pay day I'm gonna get me one like it."

Jim Thorne grinned at him.

"Yeah, Limpy?"

"Sure."

"Not this year on what I'm paying you, Limpy. That set me back six grand."

Limpy stared at him.

Six thousand for a stickpin! Of course, what Mr. Thorne said had to be true.

"Well," Limpy said, "I'll get me one that will look like it, but the ice won't be so big and good."

By rare good luck Limpy tipped Nate Kale to play Black Cloud against the field, and Black Cloud came prancing in by a length. Nate Kale was a regular in such things—he slipped Limpy a century. Limpy promptly put the hundred on Pilbert, the erratic four-year-old that belonged to the Thorne string, when it chanced to be Pilbert's day to be just nutty enough to have nothing on his mind but speed.

"Now," said Limpy, "I'll get me a lucky pin just like Mr. Thorne's."

Minz, the pawnbroker, didn't have a stirrup and spur stick pin, but he knew about them and he knew where he could have one made, he said, "real diamonds," for $75, $10 down to make sure Limpy didn't back out.

"Here's your 10 sinkers," said Limpy, peeling the bill from his roll, which made Minz groan inwardly because he might have set the figure at $175 just as well, as he realized then, when it was too late.

However, Minz got out his Attleboro catalog of not-at-all-expensive jewelry and ordered a stirrup and spur diamond pin which set him back $30, "cash money."

And they were real diamonds, at least—chip diamonds, if one were to inquire deeply into the matter.

Limpy paid the balance and fastened the brilliant pin in his new tie, one he had bought for the occasion.

Lucky Pin

Limpy was made!

He had a lucky stirrup and spur diamond stickpin, just like the one Mr. Thorne wore—or almost like it. Mr. Thorne's diamonds were steel blue and deep cut, but what the heck? Limpy's pin sparkled plenty good enough and Jim Thorpe said to Limpy: "I've got a hunch one of us was a sap about these stickpins and it wasn't you—yours is all to the mustard, Limpy!"

Perhaps there is much more in the art of thinking luck and getting it than most of us suspect. Limpy Horrigan was dead sure that the pin was lucky.

For two months he won three times to one loss.

In town over Sunday he took Pinkie Schwartz down to Coney. The Busy Bee Eatery was closed on Sunday.

"I can't lose, Pinkie," he said. "I'm cleaning up. After th' races is over I'll have a wad bigger'n th' aquarium. We'll fit up three swell rooms an' start housekeeping, hey Kid?"

"If we get married reg'lar first, Limpy."

"Sure—I ain't fussy. I just as soon get married first, lots of smart guys do it. Nate Kale says that with so many swell Janes lookin' for a meal ticket a guy's a sap to marry one of 'em—but if you want to be married first—Oke with me, Kid."

Limpy's day was practically perfect, except that he had new yellow shoes on and now and then he paused to remark, "Me feets hurt."

"That's out," Nate told the boys, "leave it lay. Limpy's a good skate and onna level."

Limpy had to cross town to the North River side, where his only relative, an aunt, lived. He paid her back the "finnif" she had loaned him months ago when he needed coin for eats and he gave her a buck extra for luck.

She admired the pin greatly and told him that she had a swell diamond once, but it sort of dissolved because she had her hands in dishwater so much.

On the way back Limpy dropped into a corner place for some kidney stew, as he was hungry.

Beaten by Gang

"Bulge" Farley dropped in. Bulge was the acknowledged head of the Hudson Hustlers gang and because of a very prominent stomach, girded with a diamond buckle belt, he got the apt name of "Bulge."

"Eatin' kidney stew."

"Is that 'hot ice' you're wearin', Limpy?"

Limpy felt of his stirrup and spur pin and shook his head.

"Nope—it's reg'lar. I bought it offen Minz, he had it made for me."

"Lemme see."

Bulge Farley reached over, twisted Limp's tie until he gasped for breath, and deftly removed the pin.

Limpy protested, he grabbed for it, he yelled nine kinds of murder and nine-and-twenty kinds of profanity.

Bulge gave the high sign to a couple of the boys and they picked Limpy up and tossed him out in the street. When he tried to get back to recover his beloved lucky pin he got a sock in the eye.

Bulge appeared in the door, wearing Limpy's lucky stirrup and spur pin. He laughed when Limpy got the sock in the eye, but when game little Limpy tried to come back again, Bulge leaned over and pointed at him.

"Get back with lousy Nate Kale and his yeller gang or I'll bump you now, like I'm gonna bump Kale," Bulge informed him.

Limpy departed. He knew that Bulge meant it, but he was broken-hearted—he had lost his lucky pin.

Nate laughed when Limpy told him about it, and sneered when Limpy informed him that Bulge was going to bump him.

"Yeah? He was just shooting off his dirty lip, Kid."

It was no joke to Limpy. And his luck turned. He couldn't pick a winner. Some so-and-so light-fingered gent lifted his last week's pay and there was the season ended with Limpy minus his lucky pin and flat broke.

Limpy went back to his odd jobs and sleeping in the store room at Jake's place.

Nate Kale and his gang prospered mightily. There was beer running and laundry graft and a dozen other profitable rackets; but Limpy was never taken in on these things, he didn't expect to be. Even the cops knew that Limpy never pulled a crooked trick, just as they knew they might given him a dozen third degrees and he'd never spill a thing he knew. That made him stand a hundred times higher in their estimation than any stool pigeon. Cops are regular, like that.

Sees Gangster

Limpy did odd jobs around the Jackson garage. Nate Kale really owned it and there was a secret sliding side where two beer trucks could be backed in and hidden.

One night Limpy went over to the garage to get a pint of hooch he had seen in a pocket of a car. He was pretty low in spirits and felt the need of it. When he got there and took a big drink from the flask he saw Bulge Farley sneak in.

Farley look about and went back of Nate Kale's bullet-proof sedan. As he passed across to the car Limpy saw a flash—it was from his lucky stirrup and spur diamond pin!

Limpy took another drink and began to see red. He picked up a tire iron and crept on his hands and knees around back of Nate's car.

Just then Nate came in hurriedly and went to his car.

"Reach—you're gonna take a ride, you're gonna drive out and I'm gonna drive back alone," Bulge Farley growled.

"Get in and I'll drill you here if you try any ——"

That was as far as he got because Limpy brought the tire iron down on Bulge Farley's head so far that he was quite through with gang life and everything else forever.

"Kid," said Nate, "I had you wrong—don't never tell nobody I was sap enough to answer a phony telephone call and get stuck up like I did. Here's five grand for you—and say, is that your lucky pin on him?"

Limpy pocketed the money, removed the pin and went away from there. Nate's boys attended to removing Farley's remains to a lonely marsh on Long Island.

Limpy married Pinkie next day and he proudly wore the lucky stirrup and spur diamond pin.

Engineers' Reassuring Report on Mt. Lebanon

The engineers' report to Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioners that there is little danger of the township's suffering from subsidence of land, through removal of coal pillars from the underlying mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, will go far to relieve the residents of anxiety.

The refusal of the commissioners to purchase the coal under the streets and other municipal property is the strongest evidence that could be given that they have no fear. This will be gratifying not only to Mt. Lebanon folk, but also to sympathetic fellow-citizens in other parts of the county; for everyone has taken a lively interest in the problem of the attractive South Hills suburb whose rapid growth has been cause for so much pride.

The report, reassuring in its finding that the danger of subsidence is almost negligible, since the mine lies 300 feet beneath the surface, by inference presents the Pittsburgh Coal Company in an even more unfavorable light than before; for the company certainly implied there was danger when it proposed to property owners that they buy the coal pillars underneath their land at the excessive price of 75 cents a ton.

Municipal Landing Field Is Not an Airport Yet

The majority County Commissioners seem to have attempted in the maneuvers staged on the municipal airport site Monday to give the impression that we already have an airport. It is obvious that they were prodded to the effort by Col. C. C. McGovern's criticism that with nearly all of the money voted for the purpose by the taxpayers already expended the project is still far from being a reality.

The majority Commissioners showed reporters and others who accompanied them a large level tract of land on which grading operations have been conducted. Several airplanes landed on the tract and ascended from it.

The city and county undoubtedly already possess a landing field. But there is considerable difference between a landing field and an A1A airport, the rating which we have been told the field would receive. There are runways to be paved, hangars to be built, beacons and control lights and towers to be established. One estimate is that another million dollars will be required.

The taxpayers will be glad to have the Commissioners inform them when these necessary appurtenances will be supplied and how it is proposed to raise the money to pay for them.

History Is Repeated in Lottery Players' Woes

The Clearing House lottery evil, which, with the city administration's connivance, has fastened itself upon Pittsburgh like a blight, is exposed in its most malignant aspect by the arrest of a one-time Sunday school official accused of robbing 11 stores. He says, according to the police, that he stole to obtain money to play the lottery. Victims of the robberies report the bandit told them he was an honest man and fully intended to return the stolen money as soon as luck favored him in the Clearing House numbers.

So here, if the police account of the matter is accurate, we have the natural and logical result of the policy they so long followed of not interfering with the gambling in numbers.

A few weeks ago we had the suicide of a ruined lottery player. And now the evil takes an uglier turn, and we are told it has seduced from the path of rectitude a formerly upright man and made a dangerous criminal of him, made him a bandit who holds up storekeepers at the point of a pistol.

History is but repeating itself in these incidents. They are the inevitable outcome when extensive commercial gambling operations are permitted. The passion for gaming is to many like a mania; they cannot resist it, cannot shake it off. Lured on by the will-o'-the-wisp hope of a big winning, they continue until despair forces them into crime or suicide or both. It has been the history of lotteries, of race track gambling and of other forms of large-scale commercial gaming.

And it would have been so easy for the administration, had it been faithful to its trust, to nip in the bud this huge and ugly weed with its poisonous fruit.

Pennsylvania Forests Promise Great Benefits

As Pennsylvania was a pioneer in the establishment of state forests and has long been the recognized leader in forestry, it is appropriate that the tract of woodland with which we made our initial venture in this great enterprise should be marked. The thought is prompted by the announcement that Charles E. Dorworth, secretary of forests and waters, will unveil next month a tablet in the Sproul State Forest, Clinton County, commemorating the first purchase of land by the Commonwealth for forestry purposes.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of barren mountain land, acquired by the Commonwealth at an average price of $2.28 an acre, are now being scientifically managed and promise to yield a return that in the course of a generation or two may materially reduce taxes. It takes from 50 to 100 years for trees to reach saw-log size; hence it will be a long time before the timber that the state is now raising is ready for the sawmill. But already a revenue is being realized that offers some hint of the great income that the Commonwealth is likely to realize from this course eventually.

In the meantime the state forest lands, now well in excess of a million acres, are steadily enhancing in value, and are providing game preserves and protecting watersheds. They have been a splendid investment.

It is to be hoped that the memorial tablet gives due recognition to the late Joseph T. Rothrock, who has been called the "father of American forestry." Dr. Rothrock was Pennsylvania's first forest commissioner. Among other eminent foresters who have managed "Penn's Woods" are Gifford Pinchot and Maj. Robert Y. Stuart, now chief of the United States Forest Service.

Pennsylvania has been singularly fortunate in the ability of its forest commissioners, to which may be attributed the enviable position the state occupies in respect to conservation of its natural resources.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Styles

We see no reason why a man shouldn't try on women's gowns. But we would hate to send a boy through college with that kind of diploma in view.

"Bugs" Baer

Paris has the monopoly on manly dressmakers and sets the fashions for the rest of the works. Fashions have been upset terribly for the last 10 years and we begin to think that Paris is making its dress patterns out of stale, old war maps.

Now, this season informs us that styles for ladies will be long and slinky.

They should have warned some of our dowagers of this about 1890.

It is very difficult to get long and slinky on short notice. There are different kinds of beauty and a lady can rush into a beauty parlor around 5 p. m. and say:

"I only got an hour. I must be beautiful by twilight. Lift my face up about three chins and jack it up with toothpicks. Eradicate those wrinkles. And if you can't eradicate them, fill 'em with cement."

Six steeplejacks and two well-diggers start pounding away at her face and by the time they are finished with it her face looks like the death mask of a plate of clam chowder.

But you cannot do that with the human form divine. Or otherwise, a figure is a figure. And if it's an eight it ain't a one.

So, in order to be long and slinky you must be long and slinky. You ain't going to change a bass drum into a fife just by reading off the wrong sheet of music.

Some women are not constructed architecturally to slink. Others are natural slinksters and can slink through turnstiles where an angel might tread but not without a nickel carfare.

Long and slinky dresses mean plenty of dieting. But we will guarantee that if it is fashionable to slink the girls will slink and that even Sophie and Marie Dressler will come whisping down the street with hip motions like asparagus on toast.

The slinking woman will not start until fall. Therefore, if in August, you see the sweet woman trying to wedge herself through the palings of the picket fence instead of walking in comfortably through the automobile gate, you will know that she is trying to adjust herself to circumstances.

MATTER AND RADIATION

By Archibald Henderson

Among the pressing problems agitating scientists today are: The formation of the elements, the origin of cosmic radiation and the enormously high densities of certain material structures. Scientists are beginning to doubt the ancient and tenaciously entertained belief that the universe is running down, like a clock. Perhaps there are mighty, yet infinitesimal processes going on inside of matter which enable the universe to regenerate itself. Perhaps the clock is continually rewinding itself!

Recent studies have been made of the combination of the proton and the electron, for which has been coined the word "neutron." The proton and the electron are very dissimilar. The entire atom is no more than a billionth of an inch in size. The diameter of an electron is not more than one ten-trillionth of an inch. The solitary proton, in a hydrogen atom, is not more than one ten-quadrillionth of an inch in diameter. The weight of an electron is negligible, it is comparatively large, and has a negative electric charge. On the other hand, the proton is much smaller in size than the electron, but it is 1,800 times as heavy and has a positive electric charge.

The electric charges, strangely enough, are equal, in proton and electron. It has been estimated in statistical considerations, that the total number of electrons and of protons in the universe is the same. It would appear that they are created in a paired relationship. The falling of electrons into protons is constantly giving rise to radiation which goes out through the universe. The vast energy thus released into empty space is perhaps caught somewhere else in the universe and reconverted into protons and electrons, paired as before. Thus nature may, after all, be busy all the while in the highly useful task of self-regeneration.

Around the proton is an atom of radium, for example, buzz eighty-eight electrons like flies in a cathedral. Luyten suggests that the flies should be considered as tiny particles of platinum, and the cathedral constructed of the thinnest tissue-paper. Consider what would happen if the tissue-paper cathedral should collapse? Suppose the atom was "stripped" of all its electrons? Consider what the consequences would be!

Take the combination of electron and proton, known as the neutron. It could easily be projected through a sheet of platinum, the densest of metals on our earth.

The sheet of platinum is, actually a sieve of tremendously wide mesh, and the holes are hundreds of thousands of times larger than the neutron. Space is presumably filled with neutrons, mostly in particular large aggregations of matter. It is more than possible, for example, that at the center of the earth there is an immense collection of neutrans tightly packed together.

Such a tightly packed collection of neutrons we shall call "neutronium." Its minimum density is four trillion times that of water. One cubic inch of neutronium (believe it or not!) would weigh 60,000,000 tons. A sphere composed entirely of neutrons of only a mile diameter would weigh as much as the entire earth. A small globe of closely packed neutrans 15 miles in diameter, surrounded by a layer of gas 10,000 miles thick would constitute a star with an average density of 50,000 times that of water. Perhaps that is the constitution of a normal star!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Have ladies lost their romantic attractions?

Is romance becoming impossible between modern men and women?

Count Keyserling, famous German philosopher, says they have and it is.

"Love is lying on its death bed ....in Europe today, love has become openly unmodern ....from now on loves is to exist [illegible] more ....The boyish bob, the changed figure, the wearing of glasses, the destruction of all that is provocative of love by exposure to wind and weather, the sport-fury—all these are the external signs in the change of feminine structure ....independent young women have caught the spirit of the age ....and this brings with it the progressive atrophy of all the characteristics which define the woman as a love being...."

Don't agree with him? Well, you might as well, for he's right. There isn't a doubt that old-fashioned romance is doomed. For no modern girl with an ounce of gumption is going to cultivate the qualities which made ladies lovely to the boys of yesterday.

What were those qualities? Weak eyes, for one thing, according to Count Keyserling. And likewise weak spines. Why was the clinging vine so popular? Because she made any wayside weed look like a sturdy oak by comparison. Men didn't really respect the Clinging Vine. They were grateful to her for making things so simple for them. And it's but natural that gentlemen should prefer boobies and resent the Regular Intelligence which makes them hustle.

"But the woman of yesterday wasn't always a booby!" No, but she was always a bankrupt, which, when it comes to getting your rights, amounts to the same thing. Why did Grandma stick to Grandpa regardless? Largely because if she didn't stick, she had no place to go. Such loyalty is economic, not romantic. But, of course, no complacent husband is going to acknowledge that!

Which, I repeat, was a marvelous arrangement for males. But you can't expect women to go on being bankrupts forever, just to gratify the Big Boys. Sooner or later, they were bound to find their way back to that free and fair estate which was once theirs—before someone persuaded females to get inferior and act romantic.

And now they're back. Regular citizen's again! Human Beings once more as well as "Love Beings." Will they, can they, regard their men as their grandmothers did? No.

It is not possible for men and women to become equals and remain lovers in the old, romantic sense. But it is possible for them to love in a new and incomparably more honest and understanding sense. And I suspect that this is actually the first real love that men and women have ever experienced.

It isn't as decorative as the old romantic masquerade. It won't stand for as much nonsense—for it doesn't have to. It will be much more demanding of real action—and if love does not show results it's apt to bolt. But it will be the most honest and civilized relationship that the human race has ever attempted. And one hour of such free, self-respecting companionship will do more for human development than an aeon of la-de-la.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There was a young preacher out in Arizona that was awful careful about his manners and kinda watchful so as not to scandalize his flock. The flock wasn't very big, and he wanted to keep 'em all coming to church, so he was mighty careful to keep from smoking or swearing or dancing or doing anything tough that way. But he did play a little golf, and he wasn't so very good at it. One day when he was playing with the biggest pillar in his congregation, he broke his club, swatting away at the ground. He yelled out, "Roosevelt! Oh, Roosevelt, look what I done!" "Yeah," say the pillar, "I'll get you a new club. But what has Roosevelt got to do with it?"

"Oh, that's just a little word I use when I'm vexed."

"But what for? Ain't there any more expressive word than Roosevelt?"

"Well,, maybe there is. But you see, I'm kinda restricted in my choice of words by my profession. And Roosevelt is the name of the biggest dam I ever seen."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Reasons

She was a shy and silent thing
When other girls were gay;
Her grace was that of bird on wing
Or dappled fawn at play.

Her dress was of such sober stuff,
Almost she seemed as quaint
As pictured dames in hoops and ruff
Whom artists loved to paint.

And of the many passers-by
There were but few could guess
Her steadfast heart, her courage high,
Her wistful loveliness.

But one man loved her, though she took
No pride in wordly goods;

He loved her faith, that like a star
Shines through life's twilight skies,
And most of all he loved her for
The dreams within her eyes.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

Still others believe that a needle or a ring held suspended by a thread over the egg or chick will tell its sex by the movements it makes, movement to and fro in a straight line denoting a male, in a broad eclipse or circle, a female. There is not an atom of support for any of these beliefs.

Eggs selected by breeders as male or female have been hatched out and tested in scientific laboratories; there has never been any noteworthy deviation from the normal sex-ratio.

H. G. Wells

A French research worker noted the sex recorded by the suspended ring for several hundred eggs and then examined the chicks on hatching. The prophecies were right in 50 per cent of the chicks—that is to say, in the proportion expected for blind guessing.

"Sex-testers" of various types are still advertised in various poultry papers; since the true facts have been known for years, the sale of such implements is a mere vulgar fraud, and the advertisement should not be accepted.

There are many human characteristics which are inherited in this sex-linked way. Two striking abnormalities may be mentioned. One is night-blindness, the inability to see in the twilight; the other is haemophilia, a very unpleasant condition, when the blood is incapable of clotting and the smallest cut may cause dangerous bleeding.

As their genes are carried on the X-chromosome, these defects zigzag to and fro between the sexes in a peculiar way. Almost without exception they are seen only in males.

An affected man never transmits the complaints directly to his children; but on the average half of his daughters (and half of his sisters), though themselves healthy and normal, will hand the defect to half of their sons.

Haemophilia occurs in this fashfashion in some of the European royal families. It was the peculiar affliction of the last czarevitch and the distress of his parents and their resort to the quasi-magical influence of Rasputin made this gene a determining force in the history of Russia.

There is a well-known belief that sons tend to resemble their mothers, and daughters their fathers.

This finds its justification in the behavior of the X-chromosomes. For our sons receive all their X-borne genes from their mothers, while our daughters get a set from their fathers as well.

As there are 23 other pairs of chromosomes, however, the difference between sons and daughters thus brought about will not extend to more than a fraction of their qualities.

SECTION 5. GYNANDERS

Collectors of insects have for many years prized the curious rarities known as Gynanders.

These are mosaic individuals; they are part female, part male. The commonest and most striking types have their male and female areas delimited with considerable exactitude along the middle line of the body.

There are also specimens in which a quarter or some smaller fraction of the body is of different sex from the rest, and in yet others little patches or islands of male and female tissues interlock promiscuously, as in a jigsaw puzzle.

When, as in some social insects, the male is winged, but the neuter female wingless, the most bizarre effects may be produced.

Modern genetics enables us to understand their origin. The story of the commonest method might be called "the chromosome that took the wrong turning."

Gynanders usually arise from a fertilized egg which, having two Xs, should develop into a female, but, after one of the early embryonic cell divisions in one of the daughter cells, one X-chromosome lags behind and fails to become incorporated in the nucleus.

This daughter nucleus will, therefore, have but one X-chromosome, while the other will preserve the normal two. In other words, the one nucleus will now be male in constitution, the other female, and they will transmit their sexual constitutions to all its descendants.

If the chromosome should stray at the first division of the fertilized egg the male section will comprise half the individual; if at the second, one-quarter, and so on.

Continued Tomorrow.

Abroad With A New Yorker

By O. O. McIntyre

MUNICH.—Statistics show beer is losing popularity over the Fatherland save in this gloriously colorful capital of Bavaria. Aristocratic Germans sip beer in private, but in public they drink only native wines. The slump is wrinkling brewers' brows. But there is no worry about Munich.

Twenty breweries, running full blast night and day, uphold the tradition. The waiter brings a foaming beaker along with breakfast coffee as a touch of hospitality. If you order a pitcher of ice water they accompany it with a pitcher of beer. I'm afraid to turn on bath faucets.

Munich, being the easiest entrance to the Alps, is constantly besieged by visitors. Its transients exceed its 700,000 population. So, while animating, life is confusing. It seems, in the manner of a tourist hunting his grip, to dash around in hysterical circles.

Art is as highly developed, however, as beer. No other city can boast so many art students or bare-legged men in "shorts." The air has a nip for the city is high above the sea. After nightfall in hottest months an overcoat is indispensable.

While my wife attended a "Wagner-Festspiele," I toured the beer cellars. They have names such as "Hofbrauhaus," "Lowenbraukeller" and other jaw-breakers. All are dark drinking places in a heavy oaken dignity, suggesting Luchow's in halcyon days.

Everywhere I was told I should have been here on March 19. That is annual tap day for the celebrated Salvator beer from the "Paulanerbrauerie" and I gather everybody gets pie-eyed. In mentioning it, the native pats his paunch, rolls his eyes and makes gurgling noises.

While most places are called cellars, many are outdoor gardens or large halls with vaulted roofs. The largest is the Munchener Kindlkeller, occupying 26,000 square feet and seating 6,000 or most the population of Gallipolis, O., including our fashionable suburb Millcreek.

In the Munchener Kindlkeller, a man a half-dozen tables removed was a startling image of Will Rogers, even to chewing gum and unruly forelock. I sneaked over to cover his eyes—you know, "Guess who this is?" surprise! surprise! but whoever it was was rattling away in German so I tiptoed back again.

Munich is jammed with pilgrims to the passion play at Oberammergau. The spectacle has been a life-saver for hotels this summer, bringing 250,000 tourists who might not otherwise have come over.

Every day a military band gives a noon concert in the Rathausof—the town hall courtyard. The town turns out rain or shine. No city has such tremendous civic zeal as Munich. My guess is the band stimulates enthusiasm.

I have briefly peeped at the Residenz Museum, The English Garden, Old and New Pinakothek and dog trotted through one or two other art shrines but when other memories of Munich fade I shall recall a large, splashing fountain made entirely of sea shells. It was a huckleberry. O. Yes I missed that statue of the little boy in Brussels.

Munich has shady squares and wide promenades and is easy to explore. No matter where one strays, he or she can be guided back to the center of the city by two high towers of the celebrated Frauenkirche.

One should, I presume, remain in Munich several weeks to become saturated with its universities, its art—and perhaps its beer. But we must cat-hop away before the traveler's checks completely vanish. It has developed into a race with a disappearing purse and if my knee jerks hold out I expect to win with a left over five spot for the boat steward going home.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Many of you residents of large cities will make the usual mistake when you go to the small village this summer.

You will think of the residents as simple-minded, inexperienced, gullible and unsophisticated.

You may even go as far as to make sport of them.

In certain ways your city contacts may cause you to know more of certain phases of life than the villager.

But consider from the standpoint of general important and valuable knowledge, sound thinking and logic, they are your superiors.

They have fewer unimportant things to claim their attention.

This has permitted them to give more thought and study to things of real value.

Per capita the people of smaller places are far better informed than those of the large city, for they dare take the time to study things out.

More of their sons and daughters are well educated and trained along a line of thought that expands the brain and increases knowledge.

There is no greater mistake than that of thinking that the people of a small village are devoid of culture, education and a general comprehension of world facts.
